

I am writing to express my opposition to any tightening of gun control laws here in Connecticut. Law-abiding citizens are being unfairly singled out for the wretched actions of evil and mentally defective individuals- who will perpetrate their harmful actions regardless of the guns laws in this state. Politicians typically take the easy way out and this time it's no different. Mental health is the 'heavy lifting' that no grandstanding politicians want to do because no one wants to admit that our society is loaded with seriously impaired individuals who are capable of inflicting harm on innocents. Why did Adam Lanza choose children after murdering his sleeping mother? God and the devil only know--

You will recommend restrictions and more stringent background checks and put economic hardships on law abiding gun owners. But you still let DWI repeat offenders drive and kill. You release violent convicts to commit harm again. And not one future Adam Lanza will be affected one bit by this anti-gun frenzy.

Do the heavy lifting and tackle mental health. Or if you must do something to "save just one child's life" ban cars, buckets, ladders, lollipops, hammers, kitchen knives, plastic bags...

Yes, evil uses anything when it rears its ugly head.

Sincerely

Tom Mowry

CT Carry Permit Holder

NRA Member

ACLU Member

Freedom Loving American

"Don't Tread On Me"

Sent from my iPhone