

It appears to me the slightest hint of any sort of gun control sends the NRA into a wild tizzy getting all the gun owners worked up about the 2nd amendment. Truth is the NRA is nothing more than a multi-million dollar lobbying firm for the gun industry. If the state wants to control the sale of any semi-automatic weapon then there should be a 100% sales tax put on the sale of the firearm, ammo, and anything related to it. I would include hand guns, any military type of semi-automatic, and any firearm with a removable,(clip/drum) type of magazine that holds more than 5 rounds. Only active duty law enforcement personnel would be excluded from the tax.
