

Hi - I am a parent from Sandy Hook School. My child was in the school on 12/14. Everytime I see new items of people rushing to buy assault weapons, in case they are banned by the new legislation, it sends a chill down my body, and I want to yell "STOP".

I do not know what the final ruling will be, but is it possible to put a temporary ban on the sale of these weapons, given the fact that the availability of these is being so heavily debated and seriously considered?

If the final ruling is that we cannot ban these assault weapons and they must remain in the market and everyone's lives should be at the mercy of those who handle these weapons, then by all means remove thi temporary ban, and sell them all to the masses. But until then I strongly believe that tehre should be a ban on their sale.
