

I cannot attend the hearing but I want to express my strong support for gun control. We can do more about mental illness including looking into the role of medication but unfortunately we will always have insane evil people among us. We need to do what we can to limit the damage they can inflict. If it means a hunter will have to reload more often, so be it. I am not sure why as a society we glorify hunting but that's another story.

Sent from my iPad