Honored committee,

Just a few thoughts on mental Health in this country.
I feel there should be more/better screening by primary care physicians with easier access to professional mental care.
I feel that there should be less stigma attached to those with "mental issues" while at the same time having better education about, better treatment for serious mental issues.
I also feel there should be penalties for those with serious mental conditions who will not be/are not medicated towards a more stable mental state.

Thank you,
Chris Brancato
