Statement from Senators Martin Looney (D-New Haven) and Andrew Roraback (R-Goshen), chairmen of the General Assembly's Bipartisan Committee of Review, regarding Chief Neil O'Leary's agreement to provide sworn testimony to the committee:

"We understand Chief O'Leary has agreed to provide sworn written statements to the Bipartisan Committee of Review as requested in our letter of October 17. The committee appreciates his willingness to do so.

"Given the limited time of the committee and the many areas which command its attention, we have concluded that this information is sufficient for the committee's purposes as we will now have sworn testimony of equal gravity and attestation to that which we received from Senator DeLuca. Therefore, we respectfully decline Chief O'Leary's request to appear in person before the committee, as we would decline any other such offers by interested parties."
