INTRODUCTION

The Uniform Regional School Calendar Task Force was created as a result of Public Act 13-247 during the 2013 Legislative session. The charge of the Task Force was to develop guidelines for a uniform regional school calendar for use by each regional educational service center (RESC). As identified in Section 322 of PA 13-247, each regional education service center shall develop a uniform regional school calendar to be used by each local or regional board of education in the region, consistent with the guidelines.

The guidelines were to include but not be limited to

1. at least 180 days of actual school sessions during each school year,
2. a uniform start date,
3. uniform days for professional development and in-service training for certified employees, pursuant to sections 10-148a and 10-220a of the general statutes, and
4. not more than three uniform school vacation periods during each school year, not more than two of which shall be a one week school vacation period and one of which shall be during the summer.

The Task Force began work in October of 2013 and concluded its meetings on December 16, 2013. The Task Force met five times. During this period of time the Task Force heard presentations from the following:

- Rep. Paul Davis from the Municipal Opportunities and Regional Efficiencies(MORE) Commission
- Paula Colen, Executive Director of EASTCONN, and member of the Task Force along with Bob Siminski, Superintendent Region 8, and Bill Hull, Superintendent Putnam Schools, Charles Jaskiewicz III, member of the Task Force and State Board of Education and Abby Dolliver, Superintendent Norwich Public Schools, each of whom presented on their respective regions' experiences
- Mason Thrall, Director of Operations CREC with the Connecticut School Transportation Association (COSTA) on current regional transportation efforts in the Hartford/Sheff region
- Secretary of the State, Denise Merrill addressed the Task Force regarding the legislation, necessity, and practicality of school use during elections while students are present in the schools
- The Task Force received correspondence from constituent, Dorinda Borer, regarding the concern of safety issues during elections when students are present in the schools during elections.

The Task Force began its work by discussing the charge of the committee and gathering concerns from all members regarding the charge and uniform regional calendars. Some concerns revealed included potential issues with transportation and negotiated contracts. Other concerns were related to local decision making, timeline of implementation given current contractual obligations, and sensitivities to local cultural impacts on Holiday schedules. The Task Force identified data to be reviewed to assist in the decision making of the Guidelines. The RESCs and the Office of Legislative Research gathered data including start days, professional development days, holidays, vacations, and last day of school for each school district in the state. This data was reviewed and discussed by members of the Task Force to inform decision making regarding the guidelines. The data revealed that there were minimal variations across the state for start dates and vacations. Even though state statute requires a minimum of 180 student days, several school districts exceed that number within their current calendar. Furthermore, the data showed that professional development days varied greatly across the state.

Following the presentations and analysis of data the Task Force determined the following considerations for the Education Committee and Guidelines for the RESCs.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

Recommendations/Considerations for the Education Committee of the Legislature

The Task Force believes that the following recommendations should be considered by the Education Committee.

- Based on the practical experience from the LEARN and EASTCONN regional calendar implementation, amend the current legislation to extend implementation of the guidelines within each region to the 2016-2017 school year to maximize success;
- Based on concerns regarding current certified and non-certified personnel contract obligations and the associated potential issues and policies, allow for a waiver request from districts for one year to the 2017-2018 school year to give flexibility
- The Task Force recommends that the Legislature review the impact on transportation contracts that may specify particular dates (Refer to the RESC Alliance feasibility study of Implementing Regional Transportation and Regional School Calendars dated December 2011; updated data regarding transportation may be needed)
- Allow for individual district flexibility of up to 5 days within a regional calendar since
 - Cultural and religious observances drive individual town calendars based on community need and
 - An individual school district may have unanticipated circumstances such as construction delays, serious maintenance issues, and student assessment windows
- The Task Force has no recommendations regarding a common end date within a regional calendar; current state law dictates that the school year cannot extend beyond June 30th; additionally state statute mandates a minimum of 180 student school days, and some individual districts exceed the minimum requirement
- It is recommended that the Legislature direct the Commissioner of Education to assure that the Vocational-Technical system and other public schools of choice are part of the regional calendar planning

Guidelines for RESCs

The following are guidelines for each RESC to use within their respective regions to create a regional calendar that assures a minimum of 180 student school days, 2 common professional development days, a common start date, and 3 vacation periods (one of which must fall during the summer).

- Invite all schools (public and non-public) to participate in the planning/creation of the regional calendar;
- Gather student enrollment information for Vo-Tech and other schools to assess the cross-over of students from one region to another for maximum efficiencies
- Agree on a common start date for students within the region; the common start date shall be the last Wednesday of August with a three day +/- flexible window
- Each region must identify 3 vacations:
 - If a school district participates in Extended or Expanded School Year opportunities, at least one week during the period between July 1 and the last week of August must be identified as student vacation time
 - At least 5 days during the 4th or 5th week of December (and can be extended to coincide with New Year's Day)
 - At least 5 days during the 2nd or 3rd week of April
- Election Day in November shall be a Professional Development Day with no students attending school
- Within a region have one other common Professional Development Day that does not interfere with statewide student assessments (in consultation with the Connecticut State Department of Education)
- Work toward common agreement on student and non-student days for Holidays such as Veterans' Day, Columbus Day, and other single day holidays (keep in mind that cultural and religious observances drive individual town calendars based on community need; regions and districts will need flexibility); Within a region discuss a February break and work toward common agreement on the number of days identified as vacation.
- Allow for 5 flexible days for individual district needs

UNIFORM CALENDAR TASK FORCE FULL REPORT

The Uniform Regional School Calendar Task Force was created as a result of Public Act 13-247 during the 2013 Legislative session. The charge of the Task Force was to develop guidelines for a uniform regional school calendar for use by each regional educational service center (RESC). As identified in Section 322 of PA 13-247, each regional education service center shall develop a uniform regional school calendar to be used by each local or regional board of education in the region, consistent with the guidelines. The guidelines were to include but not be limited to

1. at least 180 days of actual school sessions during each school year,
2. a uniform start date,
3. uniform days for professional development and in-service training for certified employees, pursuant to sections 10-148a and 10-220a of the general statutes, and
4. not more than three uniform school vacation periods during each school year, not more than two of which shall be a one week school vacation period and one of which shall be during the summer.

The Task Force began work in October of 2013 and concluded its meetings on December 16, 2013. The Task Force met five times. During this period of time the Task Force heard presentations from the following:

- Rep. Paul Davis from the Municipal Opportunities and Regional Efficiencies(MORE) Commission
- Paula Colen, Executive Director of EASTCONN, and member of the Task Force along with Bob Siminski, Superintendent Region 8, and Bill Hull, Superintendent Putnam Schools, Charles Jaskiewicz III, member of the Task Force and State Board of Education and Abby Dolliver, Superintendent Norwich Public Schools, each of whom presented on their respective regions' experiences
- Mason Thrall, Director of Operations CREC with the Connecticut School Transportation Association (COSTA) on current regional transportation efforts in the Hartford/Sheff region
- Secretary of the State, Denise Merrill addressed the Task Force regarding the legislation, necessity, and practicality of school use during elections while students are present in the schools
- The Task Force received correspondence from constituent, Dorinda Borer, regarding the concern of safety issues during elections when students are present in the schools during elections.

The Task Force began its work by discussing the charge of the committee and gathering concerns from all members regarding the charge and uniform regional calendars. Some concerns revealed included potential issues with transportation and negotiated contracts. Other concerns were related to local decision making, timeline of implementation given current contractual obligations, and sensitivities to local cultural impacts on Holiday schedules.

The Task Force identified data to be reviewed to assist in the decision making of the Guidelines. The RESCs and the Office of Legislative Research gathered data including start days, professional development days, holidays, vacations, and last day of school for each school district in the state. This data was reviewed and discussed by members of the Task Force to inform decision making regarding the guidelines. The data revealed that there were minimal variations across the state for start dates and vacations. Even though state statute requires a minimum of 180 student days, several school districts exceed that number within their current calendar. Furthermore, the data showed that professional development days varied greatly across the state.

Rep. Paul Davis made a presentation to the Task Force on the MORE Commission's deliberations that led to this taskforce being put together. The Common Calendar's goals were (1) Looking to have a state wide suggested calendar but more importantly a regional calendar and looked at the RESC's as being the leadership group in those areas, (2) improve transportation opportunities, (3) integrate professional development from different districts, (4) which calendar do magnet schools follow The district the child is from or where the school is (5) issues involving storm days and different school systems staying open or closed and teachers and family situations. Rep Davis recommended that taskforce members look at meeting minutes from the MORE Commission for additional information. The Commission was looking at a 3-5 year phase-in because of teacher contracts, para contracts, and support service personnel contracts that run 2-3 years. They felt 3-5 years would make those transitions easier. They also looked at a flexible calendar that would allow local districts to make adjustments as the year moves on. Minimum 180 days but have 5 or 6 'flex' days built into the calendar for this purpose. There were many transportation issues that he recognized must be brought up with the necessary transportation companies as part of the transition to a regional calendar.

The Committee heard from CREC and the CT School Transportation Association (COSTA) regarding the provision of transportation services under a regional uniform calendar. CREC provides transportation for 12,000 students using 700 vehicles and 6 bus companies. They serve 183 schools in 43 towns and cover an area of 1,100 square miles. Annually, they cover 12 million miles. The State Department of Education has estimated that $200,000 in transportation costs are attributable to differences in school calendars. If a common calendar were adopted, the cost savings for districts would be proportional to the number of current out-of-district student placements and the associated transportation costs. Hartford, with 350 out-placed students could see substantial savings. Current issues with bus transportation involve both tiering and sharing of vehicles. Tiering involves a single bus doing multiple runs for different schools. Sharing involves a single route with multiple stops at different schools along the route. Among the current scheduling conflicts, the February and April vacations were identified (and Hartford does one week in March, as an outlier) as were Professional Development days. CREC identified a spread of 1 to 7 days in the start of the school year. Differences in Veterans Day and Columbus Day observances were also identified.

Secretary of the State, Denise Merrill addressed the Task Force regarding the legislation, necessity, and practicality of school use during elections while students are present in the schools. Current legislation states that voting can occur within schools and, in fact, most CT towns use schools as polling locations for all their elections. The Secretary informed the Task Force of the variety of elections across the state including local primaries, state elections, and national elections. Secretary Merrill spoke of the challenges of voting locations, accessibility for voters, and the challenges associated with non-standard voting dates (other than Election Day in November). She asked the Task Force to not recommend that schools be open on the November Election day. She further asked the Task Force to allow flexibility within a community to make decisions for other elections.

Following the presentations and analysis of data the Task Force determined the following considerations for the Education Committee and Guidelines for the RESCs.

The Task Force believes that the following recommendations should be considered by the Education Committee.

EARLY CHILDHOOD SERVICES

Early Childhood Services works with schools, communities, and parents of young children to ensure that all children are healthy and ready for school success. Using research-based practices, we design and develop early childhood initiatives and programs that include sound principles of curriculum and assessment, teacher growth over time, active parent involvement, and positive child outcomes including social/emotional and behavioral wellness.

Teacher training coupled with in-classroom coaching is one of our most successful initiatives - multiple programs and schools throughout the western CT region have seen significant positive change in teaching instruction and outcomes for children with this method.

Series of training on guiding behavior for teachers and parents together: relationship between brain function and behavior and ways to promote positive change in classroom and home settings.

Autism and Early Intervention services for children ages birth to three: a full comprehensive evaluation followed with in-home services for children and their parents - transition planning for pre-K.

School Readiness: assisting communities and programs in maintaining high quality standards and attaining required credentials.

Our Collaborations Include:

- Danbury's Promise for Children Partnership
- Torrington Early Childhood Collaborative
- The Connecticut Community Foundation
- United Ways of Western and West Central CT
- Connecticut State Department of Education Training Wheels Initiative

APPENDIX B: CORRESPONDENCE FROM CONSTITUENT

November 19, 2013

Dear Members of the Uniform Regional School Calendar Task Force,

I'm writing to you regarding your efforts in regionalizing the school calendar and the adjoining opportunity to help alleviate a school security concern through the work of your committee. While the original intent of the calendar alignment is to provide efficient, cooperative efforts, designed to save money for Connecticut schools, I also believe the work of this Task Force could serve as a common ground for the work being conducted by the Governor's Sandy Hook Advisory Commission and can contribute towards providing a secure school setting.

As a parent, former Board of Education member and tax payer, I applaud your efforts. A common calendar will allow for potential savings through shared transportation costs as well as other purchased services. I also understand you are considering recommending that common professional development days be implemented in order to realize a cost share of resources.

I'm writing to you regarding the lateral and to suggest that you consider requiring that the common professional development days be held on election days. Attached is an Op Ed I had submitted and appeared in the New Haven Register which explains my position on this topic. Many districts continue to remain open during elections days allowing, in some cases, thousands of persons to flow in and out of a school while students are in class. This is contradictory to the work and ongoing efforts to determine every opportunity for limited access and heightened security in our schools.

The Secretary of State publishes election days through the annual Election Calendar. Therefore, the days for potential elections in a municipality are published in advance and can be used each year as the Common Calendar is also created. Calendar alignment for professional days will provide an opportunity for schools to close on these days without the additional burden of adding days onto the end of the school year.

Thank you for your consideration. Please contact me at 203-887-6359 if you have any questions or would like any assistance in reviewing this very important topic.

Sincerely,

Dorinda Borer

Number of Instructional Days/Hours in the School Year

Updated by Marga Mikulecky

March 15, 2013

Introduction

While state requirements vary on the number of instructional days and/or hours in the school year, the majority of states require 180 days of student instruction. Most also specify the minimum length of time that constitutes an instructional day. Some states set instructional time in terms of days, some specify hours, and some provide specifications for both.

Because staff development and parent conference days are handled differently across the states and often are included in the overall “school calendar” requirements, we have attempted to separate those from the minimum instructional time. However, in some cases, statute is unclear. Please send any corrections (with supporting state policy) to kchristie@ecs.org.

The following table lists the minimum number of instructional days/hours in a school year and the start dates prescribed by law, where specified. Forty states allow local districts or regions to determine when the school year begins.

APPENDIX D: LETTER/TESTIMONY FROM SECRETARY OF THE STATE

DENISE W. MERRILL
SECRETARY OF THE STATE
CONNECTICUT

Good afternoon Representative Mike Demicco and Ms. Doreen Marvin and members of the taskforce. I am Secretary of the State Denise Merrill and I am thankful for the opportunity to speak with you today about your efforts to review and recommend policy affecting the school calendar. I wanted to meet with you today because, as you know, schools are frequently used as voting locations.

Connecticut has a rich history of local control when it comes to administering our election process. While many states do so at the county level, we do it town by town. Local authorities are charged with the selection of polling place locations, which must meet certain criteria enumerated in state statute and regulation. There is good reason that the state gives this authority to local registrars and town councils. These local officials have the best information about appropriate polling place locations. They know where different community assets are located, if they are on busy roads, is there a sufficient parking etc.

There are about 750 voting locations in Connecticut. Roughly 1/3 of the towns in our state only have 1 voting location. I will provide to you today a list of polling locations by town.

Schools make excellent voting sites because they are spread out across the town in different neighborhoods. They have ample parking and are handicapped-accessible, for example. They have auditoriums and gymnasiums with sufficient space to handle a large turnout on Election Day.

We would never want to prohibit towns from using schools as voting locations. Indeed, since 1963, C.G.S. Sec. 10-239 has required local or regional boards of education to grant the use of school facilities as voting places if so requested. A prohibition on using school sites and the multiple changes that would ensue would potentially cause significant voter confusion, and many towns would have difficulty finding alternate locations that meet the polling place criteria as required by statute.

I also strongly believe that the need to maintain a safe environment for our children is critical. Election day requires significant organization, with an enormous amount of detail and compliance with many state and federal laws. There will be numerous members of the public in the polling place on election day that have to be accommodated for a secure and smooth election process. With increased security concerns for children, particularly in schools, all these needs are increasingly difficult to manage on that one day.

For these reasons, I believe that it should be required that all towns close their schools on general election day (the first Tuesday following the first Monday in November) each year. Many towns have already made this decision, and have incorporated this one day closure into their school calendars.

You might remember that in 2012 we were only days from holding the presidential election when Storm Sandy arrived and caused major power outages throughout the state, especially along the coastline. At that time my office worked with the State Department of Education to survey the schools that are normally open or not open on Election Day. The results were the following: 105 towns and 5 regional schools close for Election Day; and 44 towns and 12 regional school districts stay open on Election Day. I have attached here a listing of the specific towns.

But I also want to draw your attention to other elections that may not automatically come to mind: primaries, special elections, and referendums.

Primaries:

- State law requires voting locations to remain the same in Primary elections, as they are for the General election. This policy is based on minimizing voter confusion.

State Offices:

- State Offices include the statewide elections, the General Assembly, and the federal candidates will also be on the ballot at this time.
- These Primaries happen in even number years; the primary is held in mid-August. This is early enough not to affect the school calendar.
- I would also like to point out that a Primary Election for a State Senate or State Representative district is not necessarily a school district-wide event and it may affect multiple towns.
- Conventions and/or the petitioning process are what determine whether there will be a primary. That means that whether a primary will be held will not be known until early June. For the 2014 elections that date would be June 10, 2014.

Municipal Offices:

- Municipal primaries happen in September (first Tuesday following first Monday).
- Not every town will have a municipal primary, but every town needs to assume that they may.
- Although many towns elect their local officials to "at large" offices, that is not a universal experience. Several cities, such as Bridgeport and New Haven have district seats for city council. So, again, a municipal primary may not be a school district-wide event.
- Like the state offices, there is limited advance notice of whether or not there will be a Primary. In a municipal year it would not be certain until early August. Last year the deadline was August 7, 2013.

Presidential Primary:

- Last, but certainly not least, is the Presidential Primary.

- Presidential primaries only happen every 4 years, and are set in statute. Currently the Connecticut Presidential Primary is scheduled for the last Tuesday in April in 2016.
- But the date of the Presidential Primary changes periodically. Mostly states have tried to make theirs earlier and earlier so that they can “be relevant” to the national competition.

In short, I would also support the closing of schools for these different types of primaries. However, that may not be realistic from the point of view of the educators.

Other, less frequent election events include special elections and referendums.

Special Elections & Referendums:

- Special elections usually occur because of a resignation or death of the elected official, therefore creating a vacancy to be filled.
- When this happens for a state office (State Rep or Senate) the letter of resignation is given to the Secretary of the State. And the Governor then sets the date of the election. He has 10 days to do so, and then the election is held 46 days from that. It is very short term notice.
- And then, finally, referendums. The referendum process is governed in part by statute and in part by town charter. Some towns limit the number that can be held, and some don't.
- There are so many variations of how they are held, including the hours of voting and locations, that there's simply no way to cover them all here with you today.

So, in conclusion, a proposal to close the schools during the November elections, and even a primary election would have the support of my office. But a prohibition of using schools as voting locations would not. That would cause difficulties to voters and the local election officials responsible for administering the voting process.

I hope that this information has been informative to you and that you will use the resources of my agency to assist you in addressing this topic. Thank you for the opportunity to address your task force.

APPENDIX F: MEETING NOTES

Uniform Regional School Calendar Taskforce 10/3/13 Meeting Minutes

- Rep Mike Demicco convened the meeting at 3:12pm
- Rep Demicco welcomed everyone to the first meeting of the taskforce and introduced his co-chair, Eileen Howley from LEARN.
- Rep Demicco shared the website address for the Taskforce which is <http://cga.ct.gov/ed/Uniform/taskforce.asp>
- Rep Demicco also shared the charge of the taskforce which is to develop guidelines for a Uniform Regional School Calendar by each RESC. It is not our job to come up with the calendar itself – just guidelines. He acknowledged that some regions already have a uniform calendar and that the issue was taken up by both versions of the M.O.R.E. commission.
- Rep Demicco introduced the co-chair Eileen Howley, Executive Director of LEARN. She spoke of the work that LEARN is already doing to have a uniform regional school calendar taskforce and her interest in completing the taskforce charge.
- Rep Demicco asked that all members introduce themselves and make remarks, which they did. Rep Demicco also introduced the support staff including the Education Clerk, Chris Calabrese, whom he asked that Taskforce Members email for questions, comments, or basic taskforce housekeeping at chris.calabrese@cga.ct.gov
- Rep Demicco read the actual statute that created the taskforce which is PA 13-247 sec. 321 and is available for review at the taskforce website.
- Rep Demicco talked about their co-chairs' interest in having as many speakers and presenters come to future meetings as possible in order to bring many different concerns and/or experiences to the table in the ongoing discussions of the taskforce.
- Craig Edmondson commented that he would like to start by inviting Rep. Paul Davis who sat on the M.O.R.E. subcommittee that was responsible for creating the taskforce.
- Rep Demicco assigned the taskforce homework to email suggested guests and/or topics to Chris Calabrese at chris.calabrese@cga.ct.gov so the chairs can begin to organize future meetings based on those suggestions.
- Rep Demicco talked about proposed future meeting dates that were emailed out to the taskforce. It was decided that the next three meetings would be on October 30th, November 18th, and December 2nd, all at 2:00 PM.
- With no other business to take care of, the chairs adjourned the meeting at 3:43 PM.

Uniform Regional School Calendar Taskforce
Meeting Minutes 10/30/13

- Rep. Mike Demicco convened the meeting at 2:10 PM
- Rep Demicco introduced Doreen Marvin from LEARN as the new co-chair, recognized Jared Whitcomb as the First Student appointee for the next two meetings and went over future meeting dates. He also announced the next meetings as Monday, November 18th and Monday, December 2nd – both at 2pm in 1D.
- Rep. Paul Davis made a presentation on the MORE Commission’s deliberations that led to this taskforce being put together.
- Rep. Davis was sub-committee chair of the MORE Common Calendar sub-committee. He was a teacher for 34 years in West Haven. His wife was a teacher in another school district and from that he got to experience calendar issues. Paul comes from a time when school districts are local and small with little concerns surrounding regional issues. Common Calendar’s goals were (1) Looking to have a state wide suggested calendar but more importantly a regional calendar and looked at the RESC’s as being the leadership group in those areas, (2) improve transportation opportunities, (3) integrate professional development from different districts, (4) which calendar do magnet schools follow? The district the child is from or where the school is? (5) issues involving storm days and different school systems staying open or closed. (6) also talked about teachers and family situations.
- Rep Davis is hopeful that taskforce members had a chance to look at meeting minutes from the MORE Commission which are available online. They were looking at a 3-5 year phase-in because of teacher contracts, para contracts, support service personnel contracts that run 2-3 years. They felt 3-5 years would make those transitions easier. They also looked at a flexible calendar that would allow local districts to make adjustments as the year moves on. Minimum 180 days but have 5 or 6 ‘flex’ days built into the calendar for this purpose. There were many transportation issues that he stated must be brought up with the necessary Transportation companies. Rep Davis opened to floor to other questions.
- Charles Jaskiewicz asked about PD Days – that many districts spend a lot of money and planning and feel that it could be more regionalized. He also thinks this could be done across the state (gave Waterbury to Norwich as an example) rather than just regional. Charlie asked if there were any discussions that revolved around that. Rep Davis responded that all those points were raised. He also stated that many districts are using teacher contact time – reducing it for the purpose of more PD days. Some districts may have a few half days and use PD time there.
- Rep Kokoruda touched on regionalizing bus contracts related to cost savings. For smaller towns that don’t have regional systems, she asked what kinds of savings could actually be done. She pointed out the town next to her is in a two town region. Rep Davis talked about a common garage where both towns can utilize the same company but deferred it to the transportation
- experts. Rep Kokoruda asked about property taxes related to bus services and Rep Davis responded this was something that must be negotiated with bus companies.
- Craig Edmondson pointed out that another concept was Vo-Tech schools and driving through multiple towns where each community in a different town would drive a single bus and spoke more about integrating those in order to save dollars. He pointed out that many of these buses only end up having a handful of students ride them each day. He also said another issue about

PD days surrounds coordination of activities and the flex days would be used for unique circumstances. In his area, the Durham Fair comes to mind – they must close down schools so the town can use the buses (for a flex day example). He thinks working on start days and end days would take a ‘bite’ out of this issue and stated start days and end days were major issues when trying to negotiate with bus companies. Charles Jaskiewicz pointed out that start days are easy but due to storm days, the end days are trickier even with flex days in mind. He doesn’t think the end date goal is plausible. He pointed out 6-figure savings across the state if the entire state has an April vacation at the same time.

- There were no other questions for Rep Davis.
- Rep Demicco talked about information from OLR regarding calendars and school opening and closing dates. He turned over to John Moran from OLR to make some explanatory remarks. He spoke about a document that had been passed out and had originated from SDE. It’s for the current school year and has start dates, last dates, recesses, vacations, and total number of school days. It covers the entire state and in the later pages has the vo-tech’s and charter schools. Some of the vacations are largely on the same break notably December and April. The one item that’s not on the list are PD days so a request was put in to each RESC for their calendars.
- Charlie Jaskiewicz pointed out that collective bargaining units are very flexible in making modifications to calendars and times. He applauded these units for their work on modifications for Commissioner’s Network Schools / Alliance Schools.
- Rep Demicco reminded members of the 4 guidelines of the taskforce – (1) 180 days of school, (2) uniform start date, (3) uniform PD Days, and (4) no more than 3 vacation breaks. Rep Demicco believes that many of these goals have already been accomplished or could be accomplished relatively easily.
- Tim Nee pointed out that on that document, CREC’s ‘early dismissal days’ are used for professional learning opportunities and in other cases are used for Parent/Teacher Conferences. He also spoke to professional learning – that we must be cautious as to how many days when taking into account professional learning guidelines.
- Paula Colen has been talking to superintendents about the 4 guidelines and they expressed concern with their varying ‘student days’ – one district has 183 and another has 185 and wants members to be thinking about strategies concerning this issue.
- Patrice McCarthy had 3 observations – (1) she agrees with the point of how professional development is changing (2) while most districts start in August, many wait until after labor day,
- and (3) while this is generally the calendar for districts, these are altered sometimes for school construction projects (get out as early as they can in June and start as late as possible the following year).
- Chris LaBelle re-iterated Patrice and Paula’s comments concerning internal conflicts of PD days.
- Rep Demicco asked all members to identify areas not considered previously of major concern. He opened the floor to those.
- Carolyn McNally asked about schools with half-day kindergarten and if that has any consequences regarding what the taskforce is trying to do.
- Paula Colen agreed about the vo-tech problems raised by other members. Charles Jaskiewicz pointed out that this has been discussed starting 4 years ago and recognized it as a key issue.
- Carolyn McNally wonders if the 3 cities that have open choice programs have been accounted for (New Haven, Bridgeport, Hartford) would have to have agreements with the towns they send kids to.

- Patrice McCarthy spoke to timing – pointed out that just two hours before, they were receiving inquiries about 2014, 15, 16 calendars and that's done years in advance to allow families to plan far into the future.
- Rep Demicco planned out the agenda for the next meeting and adjourned at 3:03 PM.

2009 Regional Summit

Defining regional challenges

Prioritizing strategies

Summit Results

Results from both Summits indicated the following priorities:

- Regional Health Insurance Cooperation
- Regional Transportation Opportunities
- Common Calendar
- Professional Development Collaboration

Reflections

Our region's experience:

- The conversation has been an ongoing one, but still took more than 2 years to get to where we are now
- It was voluntary in nature and not mandatory
- It left open the possibility for some customizing/flexibility, due to local factors such as the Woodstock Fair, construction, high school schedules, religious holidays, etc.

Questions ???

Uniform Regional School Calendar Taskforce
Meeting Minutes 12/2/13

Doreen Marvin convened the meeting at 2:05pm.

Doreen recapped the last meeting – presentation from two of the RESC’s – who talked about challenges and successes from their existing regional calendars. Later, members broke into groups to discuss various topics and reconvene to discuss. She also spoke to the domino effect that would be created especially linked to transportation when putting a uniform calendar into effect.

Mason Thrall (director of transportation of CREC) & Leslie Sheldon (president of school transportation association) made a presentation. CREC provides transportation for SDE’s RESCO as part of the sheff agreement. Currently, they are transporting 12,000+ students and contracting over 700 vehicles from 6 different bus companies to 183 schools. This year their buses will travel over 12 million miles. Last year, the SDE spent $200,000 on additional transportation because of calendar differences and a uniform school calendar would save this money. Towns that have more students outplaced will save more money through the common calendar. Mason talked about tiered vs shared; tiered is when a vehicle goes out and does more than one trip; a shared group would be students going to different schools riding on the same bus.

Mason opened up the floor for questions. Rep Aman asked the first question but did not turn on his microphone. Mason responded to them that “it’s not the Christmas vacation – those are pretty standard”. Typically the February and April vacations can differ. Hartford does a week in March instead of a February and April vacation.

There were no other questions.

Doreen Marvin and Rep Demicco made a presentation on a summary of ideas for possible guidelines as a result of previous meetings. They touched on their notes from the previous meeting. They talked extending implementation guidelines. Charlie Jaskiewicz had previously stated an extension of implementation would be necessary partly because of teacher contracts. Also, those contracts sometimes have specific dates for vacations and that would need to be taken into account. Transportation contracts would also need to be looked at. It was determined that we cannot have an end date other than June 30th due to snow days and individual district policies. Some districts go beyond 180 days.

Another piece was Cultural and Religious Observances within a specific community or region are of concern and there needs to be flexibility and sensibility with respect to a location. There are also unanticipated circumstances – school construction; school maintenance – would have to extend or change a vacation within a year. SDE can also consider digital opportunities for a consistent professional development message.

Next, Doreen spoke about guidelines within each region – the charge is 180 days, 2 PD days, 3 vacation times, start days, end days, and one vacation as outlined in the guidelines has to be during the summer. Five days during the 4th or 5th week of December which can coincide with new year's day should also be included in the report. Also, at least 5 days in the 1st or 2nd week of April should be included – some districts do March instead of April but small groups decided April works. February break was discussed and members agreed to work towards common agreement on February. It was also recommended that Election Day be a professional development day. One other common PD day that doesn't interfere with statewide student assessments was another point brought up in the previous meeting.

Afterwards, the chairs asked that members break into smaller groups and then re-convene to go over notes. They asked that one RESC person be in each small group, and someone also record notes.

Rep. Demicco called the meeting back to order 15 minutes later.

Patrice McCarthy was in the first group. They were supportive of postponing the implementation date in order for it to run smoother. They also noted that MLK day is to be decided locally. They are curious as to where the savings will go but it's up to municipal issues and whether this will cause a reduction in state grants. She also noted that some school districts extend beyond the normal 180 days and this would cause issues with conformity in start and end dates.

Rep. Aman was in the second group and they were concerned about the length of time that students would be on the bus vs the amount of savings a municipality would have. He noted that we are only talking about $3000-$5000 in savings for some towns and this is not enough for a superintendent to upset so many parents. They touched on PD days and large group sessions vs the current model of very small groups in a classroom in their own school. They concluded that towns can do whatever they want and writing legislation to force them to do things would have unintended consequences. Craig Edmondson also talked about election day and issues concerning security and asked that it be taken into consideration.

Charlie Jaskiewicz was in the third group. He doesn't believe the implementation date should not be pushed past the 2016-2017 school year unless there were contractual issues. They had some other discussions with regards to opening/closing dates. In order for vo-tech schools to work within this calendar, if there is no collaboration with the same days off, there will be consequences. If everyone isn't on the same schedule, it will be difficult to get the vo-tech schools included. He echoed Rep Aman's comments that the calculated savings isn't enough. There was also a discussion about February vacation and there needs to be continuity for that schedule.

Dani Thibodeau's representative was in the fourth group and they talked about April vacation and the consideration for the newer testing schedules and believes these windows are going to be much longer and this could land in the middle of one of those windows. They were also worried about special ed out-placement. There were also some questions about the one week off in the summer – why is that necessary? They believe there needs to be flexibility in each category the taskforce is addressing. Rep Demicco responded that the issue about the summertime is in the legislation so there is no way around that.

Doreen Marvin had a question about February vacation – at the last meeting it was talked about agreement within a region as districts are all over the place. Instead of identifying a specific time frame, would it work within a region? Rep Ritter answered that this is good but it will continue to be a problem with vo-tech schools as talked about earlier by Charlie Jaskiewicz.

Craig Edmondson thinks there can be some economy of scale regarding transportation but doesn't believe there will be any significant savings by implementing this uniform calendar. He touched on regional transportation contracts and asked for other members' opinions on this.

Gary Peluchette talked about changing start and stop times within a district and mentioned they had done this in Bridgeport and saved $200,000.

Charlie Jaskiewicz agreed that start and stop times for days do need to be looked at but also start and end dates are important. He is also curious to find out what other states do and he asked OLR to research that for the next meeting. He is looking for other models that may help identify answers to the taskforce's questions.

Doreen Marvin asked if anyone else had any questions and they did not. She talked about adding all of these notes and suggestions to the report. Something she keeps hearing is flexibility in different categories.

Craig Edmondson also pointed out that contracts are currently being negotiated with three years out and recommended a waiver process for an implementation delay. While some districts can do all this by 2016-2017, other districts may need to wait longer.

There was also a point about which pieces can be done statewide vs which pieces can be done regionally. It is believed this will help with questions of flexibility.

The chairs scheduled the next meeting for December 16th at 2pm and adjourned the meeting at 3:07pm.

Uniform Regional School Calendar Taskforce
Meeting Minutes 12/16/13

Rep. Demicco convened the meeting at 2:04pm.

Rep. Demicco introduced Secretary of State Denise Merrill. Sec of State Merrill talked about the fact that schools are often used as polling places and wants members to consider her points. She provided a list of all the districts using schools as voting locations throughout the state. Because we do not have a county level of government, decisions of polling locations are made by each individual town. Schools make great polling locations because of parking, handicap accessibility, security, large rooms like auditoriums and gyms, etc. Maintaining a safe environment for children is also critical. These needs are difficult to manage on general election days in November and that's why most towns already have election day off. Her office researched which school districts close – 105 towns and 5 regional school districts are closed on the general election day in November and 44 towns and 12 regional school districts remain open. It is Sec of State Merrill's recommendation that all schools close on election day.

Sec of State Merrill stressed this would be for the general election in November. There are other elections – special elections, primaries, and referendums. It's also in state statute that polling places must remain the same throughout the year so to avoid confusion for voters. This becomes difficult because many times these elections that are not in November take place at all sorts of different points in the year and there is usually very little notice to prepare. Also, some elections such as state representative or state senate do not always cover an entire town and often times straddle multiple towns. Any of these things are difficult to prepare for and she is not recommending that schools close for these elections – only the November general election day – and recommends that we consider closing for primaries as well (August in even numbered years, September in odd numbered years), so it would typically be in odd numbered years for Municipal Primaries.

She also said she would never recommend not using schools as polling locations and she opened up the floor to questions. Rep. Demicco thanked her for her recommendations and asked what other states do besides closing on general election days. Sec of State Merrill has heard people talk about it, but in most other states there are county levels of government with much less stringent rules for polling places. Some states close on election day by state law, but Connecticut is very different because of no county level of government.

Paula Colen spoke to the fact that in her RESC, they use election days as professional development days.

Doreen Marvin talked about an email from Charlie Jaskiewicz that he had been communicating with Sarah Hemingway from SDE about the meetings and feels comfortable but cautioned that vo-tech schools and sensitivities of the crossover of regions and counties for these schools be taken into consideration for the final taskforce report, and the chairs added it to the meeting agenda.

Patrice McCarthy and Carolyn McNally both commented about the difficulty of maintaining security at schools on election day and believe closing on election day is an important element of the final report.

Doreen Marvin introduced John Moran from the Office of Legislative Research who passed out a document from research he did as to whether or not other states have a Uniform Regional School Calendar and the short answer was 'No'. Some states provide no guidance, and other states provide some guidance regarding opening dates and closing dates. He said that Michigan stuck out because they have a regional school system and they require regional districts to coordinate their calendars with local districts, however no states require a uniform calendar as we are trying to put together. 37 states leave it completely open to local districts to decide what to do.

Rep. Demicco thanked John Moran and reminded everyone that the taskforce is simply recommending guidelines to the RESC's and not creating an actual calendar.

Doreen Marvin touched on the vo-tech system and other schools of choice, and while in previous meetings this was discussed, no solution was presented. She asked if anyone had any recommendations or if we should label it in the report as something to "think about".

Carolyn McNally believes all the vo-tech schools are under the same organization and she is unsure what the concern would be to ask the vo-tech schools to participate in a uniform calendar as well. Doreen Marvin is unaware of any concern other than the fact that some vo-tech schools stretch across multiple regions.

Tim Nee is interested in knowing how many vo-tech students we are talking about who stretch out beyond one RESC. He recommends we research it as of 10/1/13 and have this reported to each RESC. He knows that in the CREC region, they already have these numbers.

Paula Colen believes charter schools may be an issue if they are not connected to a RESC or a public school and hopes they would want to participate in this, but there is no guarantee.

Doreen Marvin asked if it were reasonable that any schools of choice be invited to taking place in the creation of each regional calendar, and all members agreed. Doreen moved onto review of the guidelines to date and asked members to take 5 minutes to look through the guidelines and re-convene to discuss.

Rep Demicco reconvened the taskforce and asked for feedback.

Tim Nee mentioned that on page 2, he thinks it should be spelled out that while 180 days is a minimum, some districts remain open for longer than 180 days and that is ok.

Paula Colen noticed a recommendation is that the SDE should consider regional opportunity for PD messages be recorded, but if it's recorded it could be played at any time. Doreen Marvin responded that the need for statewide PD days is so that SDE can hold a statewide day and given the technology these days, they can be recorded. Doreen doesn't think it needs to be in there but wants to honor what was discussed at previous meetings, and she is ok with removing it. There was no objection so it would be removed.

Chris LaBelle talked about flexibility regarding each region determining one start date within their region, because “how are we defining region?” There can be multiple regions within a RESC.

Patrice McCarthy talked about impact on teacher contracts and would like to add “non-certified employees” as well.

Jared Whitcomb talked about the 5 flex days that were discussed at previous meetings but does not see that in the guidelines right now. Doreen responded that it came after a taskforce meeting and wasn’t comfortable including it because it wasn’t discussed at an actual meeting. Other members agreed they would like to see more flexibility.

Gary Peluchette talked about February break and an agreement because it’s difficult to implement – some areas take an entire week and others only do a couple days and this will be difficult because of planned vacations and believes February should be left to local areas. Doreen responded that the taskforce was charged with three vacations, and February would make an extra one, so we would be OK taking that out.

Chris LaBelle thinks if districts do want a February break, they could still do it if we go ahead with the 5 flex days.

Noreen Kokoruda thinks the guidelines are just supposed to help with planning, but why would we need a waiver process when we have all this flexibility built in? She thought this was just a planning tool to give each RESC guidelines, but to talk about a waiver process, she believes this changes the level of flexibility. Doreen Marvin responded that some contracts may have a specific date in them and there might not be room for negotiation until the 2017-2018 school year and that’s where there’s a need for waivers. She also touched on delays due to construction for additional flexibility. The waiver is only for the start year and nothing else.

Davis Hayes backed up Patrice McCarthy’s comment about non-certified employees.

Paula Colen thinks it’s important that the report talk about who the waiver requests are being sent to and Doreen Marvin agreed that it would be included.

With no other comments, Doreen Marvin stated this would be the last meeting and work on the final report would commence next week. Her hope is that it would be completed and sent out for review, and take edits and input back as long as it doesn’t take away from the substantive nature and then submit it almost on time.

Doreen Marvin and Rep. Demicco thanked everyone for their hard work and adjourned the meeting at 2:58pm.
