Good Morning,

This testimony is coming from Adam Atchison-Lynde of Quaker Hill, CT.

Some of my friends and family were without power for over a week. During that time they had to discard food or spend money on gasoline for their generators. At the same time Eversource is making us pay more for the electricity we're getting. What they should do is give a credit to anyone that lost power during this time. My co-worker had to spend $80 in gas for his generator to keep his food cold and his water hot. The response to this latest outage is sub-par at best.

Respectfully,
Atchison-Lynde, Adam
