

There is not a lot I have to say about the CT taxes on business. However, I do hear many business people complain about how hard it is to do business in Connecticut, both small companies and large. Some of them I have heard mention them favoring the tax systems in other states, for example Florida.

The Hartford Courant had an article recently regarding how the CT tax system sized up compared to other states. In it CT actually measured up pretty well.

So this makes me wonder what the real facts are on the topic. I think we all ought to understand them before deciding on any changes.

Let me add that I think executives of large companies are getting more than their fair share of compensation.

Thank you for your consideration.

Brian Lavigne