DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE
In Congress, July 4, 1776

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION of the
THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

When, in the course of human events, it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume, among the powers of the earth, the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature’s God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed, by their Creator, with certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.—That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed, that whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate, that governments long established, should not be changed for light and transient causes; and accordingly all experience hath shown, that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these Colonies; and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present King of Great-Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these States. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world.

He has refused his assent to laws, the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained; and when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature, a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the depository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly, for opposing with manly firmness his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused for a long time, after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the State remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these States; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migrations hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice, by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone, for the tenure of their offices, and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people, and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of and superior to the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution, and unacknowledged by our laws;
giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation:

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us:

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these States:

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world:

For imposing taxes on us without our consent:

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury:

For transporting us beyond seas to be tried for pretended offences:

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province, establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these Colonies:

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments:

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here, by declaring us out of his protection, and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation, and tyranny, already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy, scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers, the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes, and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress in the most humble terms: our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince, whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant, is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts by their legislature to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity, and we have conjured them by the ties of our common kindred to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connexion and correspondence. They too have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity, which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the Representatives of the United States of America, in General Congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name, and by authority of the good people of these Colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these United Colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent States; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connexion between them and the State of Great-Britain, is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that as free and independent States, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and to do all other acts and things which independent States may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honour.

CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA

WE THE PEOPLE OF THE UNITED STATES, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

ARTICLE I.

Section 1. All legislative Powers herein granted shall be vested in a Congress of the United States, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives.

Section 2. The House of Representatives shall be composed of Members chosen every second Year by the People of the several States, and the Electors in each State shall have the Qualifications requisite for Electors of the most numerous Branch of the State Legislature.

No Person shall be a Representative who shall not have attained to the Age of twenty five Years, and been seven Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected be an Inhabitant of that State in which he shall be chosen.

Representatives and direct Taxes shall be apportioned among the several States which may be included within this Union, according to their respective Numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole Number of free Persons, including those bound to Service for a Term of Years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three fifths of all other Persons. The actual Enumeration shall be made within three Years after the first Meeting of the Congress of the United States, and within every subsequent Term of ten Years, in such Manner as they shall by Law direct. The Number of Representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty Thousand, but each State shall have at Least one Representative; and until such enumeration shall be made, the State of New Hampshire shall be entitled to chuse three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five and Georgia three.

When vacancies happen in the Representation from any State, the Executive Authority thereof shall issue Writs of Election to fill such Vacancies.

The House of Representatives shall chuse their Speaker and other Officers; and shall have the sole Power of Impeachment.

* Connecticut ratified the Constitution Jan. 9, 1788, having been the fifth State to vote for ratification.
Section 3. The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, chosen by the Legislature thereof, for six Years; and each Senator shall have one Vote.

Immediately after they shall be assembled in Consequence of the first Election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three Classes. The Seats of the Senators of the first Class shall be vacated at the Expiration of the second Year, of the second Class at the Expiration of the fourth Year, and of the third Class at the Expiration of the sixth Year, so that one third may be chosen every second Year; and if Vacancies happen by Resignation, or otherwise, during the Recess of the Legislature of any State, the Executive thereof may make temporary Appointments until the next Meeting of the Legislature, which shall then fill such Vacancies.

No Person shall be a Senator who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty Years, and been nine Years a Citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an Inhabitant of that State for which he shall be chosen.

The Vice President of the United States shall be President of the Senate, but shall have no Vote unless they be equally divided.

The Senate shall choose their other Officers, and also a President pro tempore, in the Absence of the Vice President, or when he shall exercise the Office of President of the United States.

The Senate shall have the sole Power to try all Impeachments. When sitting for that Purpose, they shall be on Oath or Affirmation. When the President of the United States is tried, the Chief Justice shall preside: And no Person shall be convicted without the Concurrence of two thirds of the Members present.

Judgment in Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust or Profit under the United States; but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law.

Section 4. The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of chusing Senators.

The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meetings shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day.

Section 5. Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide.
Each House may determine the Rules of its Proceedings, punish its Members for disorderly Behavior, and, with the Concurrence of two thirds, expel a Member.

Each House shall keep a Journal of its Proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such Parts as may in their Judgment require Secrecy; and the Yeas and Nays of the Members of either House on any question shall, at the Desire of one fifth of those Present, be entered on the Journal.

Neither House, during the Session of Congress, shall, without the Consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other Place than that in which the two Houses shall be sitting.

Section 6. The Senators and Representatives shall receive a Compensation for their Services, to be ascertained by Law, and paid out of the Treasury of the United States. They shall in all Cases, except Treason, Felony and Breach of the Peace, be privileged from Arrest during their Attendance at the Session of their respective Houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any Speech or Debate in either House, they shall not be questioned in any other Place.

No Senator or Representative shall, during the Time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil Office under the Authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the Emoluments whereof shall have been increased during such time; and no Person holding any Office under the United States, shall be a Member of either House during his Continuance in Office.

Section 7. All Bills for raising Revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives; but the Senate may propose or concur with Amendments as on other Bills.

Every Bill which shall have passed the House of Representatives and the Senate, shall, before it become a Law, be presented to the President of the United States; If he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his Objections to that House in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the Objections at large on their Journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such Reconsideration two thirds of that House shall agree to pass the Bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections to the other House, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and if approved by two thirds of that House, it shall become a Law. But in all such Cases the Votes of both Houses shall be determined by yeas and Nays, and the Names of the Persons voting for and against the Bill shall be entered on the Journal of each House respectively. If any Bill shall not be returned by the President within ten Days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the Same shall be a Law, in like Manner as if he had signed it, unless the Congress by their Adjournment prevent its Return, in which Case it shall not be a Law.
Every Order, Resolution, or Vote to which the Concurrence of the Senate and House of Representatives may be necessary (except on a question of Adjournment) shall be presented to the President of the United States; and before the Same shall take Effect, shall be approved by him, or being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two thirds of the Senate and House of Representatives, according to the Rules and Limitations prescribed in the Case of a Bill.

Section 8. The Congress shall have Power To lay and collect Taxes, Duties, Imposts and Excises, to pay the Debts and provide for the common Defence and general Welfare of the United States; but all Duties, Imposts and Excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

To borrow Money on the credit of the United States;

To regulate Commerce with foreign Nations, and among the several States, and with the Indian Tribes;

To establish an uniform Rule of Naturalization and uniform Laws on the subject of Bankruptcies throughout the United States;

To coin Money, regulate the Value thereof, and of foreign Coin, and fix the Standard of Weights and Measures;

To provide for the Punishment of counterfeiting the Securities and current Coin of the United States;

To establish Post Offices and post Roads;

To promote the Progress of Science and useful Arts, by securing for limited Times to Authors and Inventors the exclusive Right to their respective Writings and Discoveries;

To constitute Tribunals inferior to the supreme Court;

To define and punish Piracies and Felonies committed on the high Seas, and Offences against the Law of Nations;

To declare War, grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal, and make Rules concerning Captures on Land and Water;

To raise and support Armies, but no Appropriation of Money to that Use shall be for a longer Term than two Years;

To provide and maintain a Navy;

To make Rules for the Government and Regulation of the land and naval Forces;

To provide for calling forth the Militia to execute the Laws of the Union, suppress Insurrections and repel Invasions;

To provide for organizing, arming, and disciplining, the Militia, and for governing such Part of them as may be employed in the Service of the United States, reserving to the States respectively, the Appointment of the Officers, and the Authority of training the Militia according to the discipline prescribed by Congress;

To exercise exclusive Legislation in all Cases whatsoever, over such District (not exceeding ten Miles square) as may, by Cession of particular States, and the Acceptance of Congress, become the Seat of the Government of the United States, and to exercise like Authority over all Places purchased by the Consent of the Legislature of the State in which the Same shall be, for the Erection of Forts, Magazines, Arsenals, Dock-Yards, and other needful Buildings;—And

To make all Laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into Execution the foregoing Powers, and all other Powers vested by this Constitution in the Government of the United States, or in any Department or Officer thereof.

Section 9. The Migration or Importation of such Persons as any of the States now existing shall think proper to admit, shall not be prohibited by the Congress prior to the Year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a Tax or duty may be imposed on such Importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each Person.

The Privilege of the Writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless when in Cases of Rebellion or Invasion the public Safety may require it.

No bill of Attainder or ex post facto Law shall be passed.

No Capitation, or other direct, Tax shall be laid, unless in Proportion to the Census or Enumeration herein before directed to be taken.

No Tax or Duty shall be laid on Articles exported from any State.

No Preference shall be given by any Regulation of Commerce or Revenue to the Ports of one State over those of another: nor shall Vessels bound to, or from, one State, be obliged to enter, clear, or pay Duties in another.

No Money shall be drawn from the Treasury, but in Consequence of Appropriations made by Law; and a regular Statement and Account of the Receipts and Expenditures of all public Money shall be published from time to time.

No Title of Nobility shall be granted by the United States: And no Person holding any office of Profit or Trust under them, shall, without the Consent of the Congress accept of any present, Emolument, Office, or Title, of any kind whatever, from any King, Prince, or foreign State.

Section 10. No State shall enter into any Treaty, Alliance, or Confederation; grant Letters of Marque and Reprisal; coin Money; emit Bills of Credit; make any Thing but gold and silver Coin a Tender in Payment of Debts; pass any Bill of Attainder, ex post facto Law, or Law impairing the Obligation of Contracets, or grant any Title of Nobility.

No State shall, without the Consent of the Congress, lay any Imposts or Duties on Imports or Exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing it's inspection Laws: and the net Produce of All Duties and Imposts, laid by any State on Imports or Exports, shall be for the Use of the Treasury of the United States; and all such Laws shall be subject to the Revision and Controll of the Congress.

No State shall, without the Consent of Congress, lay any Duty of Tonnage, keep Troops, or Ships of War in time of Peace, enter into any Agreement or Compact with another State, or with a foreign Power, or engage in War, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent Danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

Section 1. The executive Power shall be vested in a President of the United States of America. He shall hold his Office during the Term of four Years, and, together with the Vice President, chosen for the same Term, be elected, as follows:

Each State shall appoint, in such Manner as the Legislature thereof may direct, a Number of Electors, equal to the whole Number of Senators and Representatives to which the State may be entitled in the Congress: but no Senator or Representative or Person holding an office of Trust or Profit under the United States, shall be appointed an Elector.

The Electors shall meet in their respective States, and vote by Ballot for two Persons, of whom one at least shall not be an Inhabitant of the same State with themselves. And they shall make a List of all the Persons voted for, and of the Number of Votes for each; which List they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the Seat of the Government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate. The President of the Senate shall, in the Presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the Certificates, and the Votes shall then be counted. The Person having the greatest Number of Votes shall be the President, if such Number be a Majority of the whole Number of Electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such Majority, and have an equal Number of Votes, then the House of Representatives shall immediately chuse by Ballot one of them for President; and if no Person have a Majority, then from the five highest on the list the said House shall in like Manner chuse the President. But in chusing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation from each State having one Vote; a quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two thirds of the States, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice. In every Case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal Votes, the Senate shall chuse from them by Ballot the Vice President.

The Congress may determine the Time of chusing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes; which Day shall be the same throughout the United States.

No Person except a natural born Citizen, or a Citizen of the United States, at the time of the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the Office of President; neither shall any person be eligible to that Office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty five Years, and been fourteen Years a Resident within the United States.
In case of the Removal of the President from Office, or of his Death, Resignation, or Inability to discharge the Powers and Duties of the said Office, the Same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by Law provide for the Case of Removal, Death, Resignation or Inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what Officer shall then act as President, and such Officer shall act accordingly, until the Disability be removed, or a President shall be elected.

The President shall, at stated Times, receive for his Services, a Compensation, which shall neither be encreased nor diminished during the Period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that Period any other Emolument from the United States, or any of them.

Before he enter on the Execution of his Office, he shall take the following Oath or Affirmation:—"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the Office of President of the United States, and will to the best of my Ability, preserve, protect and defend the Constitution of the United States."

Section 2. The President shall be Commander in Chief of the Army and Navy of the United States, and of the Militia of the several States, when called into the actual Service of the United States; he may require the Opinion, in writing, of the principal Officer in each of the executive Departments, upon any subject relating to the Duties of their respective Offices, and he shall have Power to grant Reprievs and Pardons for Offences against the United States, except in cases of Impeachment.

He shall have Power, by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, to make Treaties, provided two thirds of the Senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the Advice and Consent of the Senate, shall appoint Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, Judges of the supreme Court, and all other Officers of the United States, whose Appointments are not herein otherwise provided for, and which shall be established by Law: but the Congress may by Law vest the Appointment of such inferior Officers, as they think proper, in the President alone, in the Courts of Law, or in the Heads of Departments.

The President shall have power to fill up all Vacancies that may happen during the Recess of the Senate, by granting Commissions which shall expire at the End of their next Session.

Section 3. He shall from time to time give to the Congress Information of the State of the Union, and recommend to their Consideration such Measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient; he may, on extraordinary Occasions, convene both Houses, or either of them, and in Case of Disagreement between them, with Respect to the Time of Adjournment, he may adjourn them to such Time as he shall think proper; he shall receive Ambassadors and other public Ministers; he shall take Care that the Laws be faithfully executed, and shall Commission all the Officers of the United States.
Section 4. The President, Vice President, and all civil Officers of the United States, shall be removed from Office on Impeachment for, and Conviction of, Treason, Bribery, or other high Crimes and Misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

Section 1. The judicial Power of the United States, shall be vested in one supreme Court, and in such inferior Courts as the Congress may from time to time ordain and establish. The Judges, both of the supreme and inferior Courts, shall hold their Offices during good Behaviour, and shall, at stated Times, receive for their Services, a Compensation, which shall not be diminished during their Continuance in Office.

Section 2. The judicial Power shall extend to all Cases, in Law and Equity, arising under this Constitution, the Laws of the United States, and Treaties made, or which shall be made, under their Authority;—to all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls;—to all Cases of admiralty and maritime Jurisdiction;—to Controversies to which the United States shall be a party;—to Controversies between two or more States;—between a State and Citizens of another State;—between Citizens of different States,—between Citizens of the same State claiming Lands under Grants of different States, and between a State, or the Citizens thereof, and foreign States, Citizens or Subjects.

In all Cases affecting Ambassadors, other public Ministers and Consuls, and those in which a State shall be Party, the supreme Court shall have original jurisdiction. In all other Cases before mentioned, the Supreme Court shall have appellate Jurisdiction, both as to Law and Fact, with such Exceptions, and under such regulations as the Congress shall make.

The trial of all Crimes, except in Cases of Impeachment, shall be by Jury; and such Trial shall be held in the State where the said Crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any State, the Trial shall be at such Place or Places as the Congress may by Law have directed.

Section 3. Treason against the United States, shall consist only in levying War against them, or in adhering to their Enemies, giving them Aid and Comfort. No Person shall be convicted of Treason unless on the Testimony of two Witnesses to the same overt Act, or on Confession in open Court.

The Congress shall have Power to declare the Punishment of Treason, but no Attainder of Treason shall work Corruption of Blood, or Forfeiture except during the Life of the Person attainted.

ARTICLE IV.

Section 1. Full Faith and Credit shall be given in each State to the Public Acts, Records, and judicial Proceedings of every other State. And the Congress may by general Laws prescribe the Manner in which such Acts, Records and Proceedings shall be proved, and the Effect thereof.
Section 2. The Citizens of each State shall be entitled to all Privileges and Immunities of Citizens in the several States.

A Person charged in any State with Treason, Felony, or other Crime, who shall flee from Justice, and be found in another State, shall on Demand of the executive Authority of the State from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the State having Jurisdiction of the Crime.

No Person held to Service or Labour in one State, under the Laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in Consequence of any Law or Regulation therein, be discharged from such Service or Labour, but shall be delivered up on Claim of the Party to whom such Service or Labour may be due.

Section 3. New States may be admitted by the Congress into this Union; but no new State shall be formed or erected within the Jurisdiction of any other State; nor any State be formed by the Junction of two or more States, or Parts of States, without the Consent of the Legislatures of the States concerned as well as of the Congress.

The Congress shall have Power to dispose of and make all needful Rules and Regulations respecting the Territory or other Property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this Constitution shall be so construed as to Prejudice any Claims of the United States, or of any particular State.

Section 4. The United States shall guarantee to every State in this Union a Republican Form of Government, and shall protect each of them against Invasion; and on Application of the Legislature, or of the Executive (when the Legislature cannot be convened) against domestic Violence.

ARTICLE V.

The Congress, whenever two thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose Amendments to this Constitution, or, on the Application of the Legislatures of two thirds of the several States, shall call a Convention for proposing Amendments, which, in either Case, shall be valid to all Intents and Purposes, as Part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three fourths of the several States, or by Conventions in three fourths thereof, as the one or the other Mode of Ratification may be proposed by the Congress; Provided that no Amendment which may be made prior to the Year One thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any Manner affect the first and fourth Clauses in the Ninth Section of the first Article; and that no State, without its Consent, shall be deprived of it's equal Suffrage in the Senate.

ARTICLE VI.

All debts contracted and Engagements entered into, before the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be as valid against the United States under this Constitution, as under the Confederation.
This Constitution, and the Laws of the United States which shall be made in Pursuance thereof; and all Treaties made, or which shall be made, under the Authority of the United States, shall be the supreme Law of the Land; and the Judges in every State shall be bound thereby, any Thing in the Constitution or Laws of any State to the Contrary notwithstanding.

The Senators and Representatives before mentioned, and the Members of the several State Legislatures, and all executive and judicial Officers, both of the United States and of the several States, shall be bound by Oath or Affirmation, to support this Constitution; but no religious Test shall ever be required as a Qualification to any Office or public Trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The Ratification of the Conventions of nine States, shall be sufficient for the Establishment of this Constitution between the States so ratifying the Same.

ARTICLES

IN ADDITION TO, AND AMENDMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

Proposed by Congress, and ratified by the Legislatures of the several States, pursuant to the fifth Article of the Original Constitution.

ARTICLE I.†

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech, or of the press; or the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the Government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated Militia, being necessary to the security of a free State, the right of the people to keep and bear Arms, shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No Soldier shall in time of peace, be quartered in any house, without the consent of the Owner, nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated, and no Warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by Oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a Grand Jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the Militia, when in actual service in time of War or public danger; nor shall any person be subject for the same offence to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use, without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be

† The first ten Articles of these Amendments were not ratified by this State until April 19, 1939.
informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, and to have the assistance of Counsel for his defence.

ARTICLE VII.*

In Suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved, and no fact tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any Court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the Constitution, of certain rights, shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.

The Judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by Citizens of another State, or by Citizens or Subjects of any Foreign State.

ARTICLE XII.†

The Electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for President and Vice-President, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as President, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as Vice-President, and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as President, and of all persons voted for as Vice-President, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the President of the Senate;—The President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted;—The person having the greatest number of votes for President, shall be the President, if such number be a majority of the whole number

* This affects only United States courts.
 Ratified by this State, May 15, 1794 (See House Journal 1794 and State Records 1794).
† Not ratified by this State.
of Electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers not exceeding three on the list of those voted for as President, the House of Representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the President. But in choosing the President, the votes shall be taken by States, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the House of Representatives shall not choose a President whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the Vice-President shall act as President, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the President.—The person having the greatest number of votes as Vice-President, shall be the Vice-President, if such number be a majority of the whole number of Electors appointed, and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the Senate shall choose the Vice-President; a quorum for the purpose shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of Senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of President shall be eligible to that of Vice-President of the United States.

ARTICLE XIII.*

Section 1. Neither slavery nor involuntary servitude, except as a punishment for crime whereof the party shall have been duly convicted, shall exist within the United States, or any place subject to their jurisdiction.

Section 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.†

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States and of the State wherein they reside. No State shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; nor shall any State deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Section 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several States according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each State, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States, Representatives in Congress, the Executive and Judicial officers of a State, or the members of the Legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such State, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion, or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such State.

Section 3. No person shall be a Senator or Representative in Congress, or elector of President and Vice-President, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any State, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of Congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But Congress may by a vote of two-thirds of each House, remove such disabilitiy.

Section 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for the loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Section 5. The Congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.*

Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Section 2. The Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XVI.†

The Congress shall have power to lay and collect taxes on incomes, from whatever source derived, without apportionment among the several States, and without regard to any census or enumeration.

* Proposed by Congress February 26, 1869. Ratified by this State May 19, 1869. Ratification announced by Secretary of State, March 30, 1870.
† Proposed by Congress July 12, 1909. Not ratified by this State. Ratification announced by the Secretary of State of the United States, February 25, 1913.
ARTICLE XVII.*

The Senate of the United States shall be composed of two Senators from each State, elected by the people thereof, for six years; and each Senator shall have one vote. The electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State legislatures. When vacancies happen in the representation of any State in the Senate, the executive authority of such State shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies: Provided, That the legislature of any State may empower the executive thereof to make temporary appointments until the people fill the vacancies by election as the legislature may direct. This amendment shall not be so construed as to affect the election or term of any Senator chosen before it becomes valid as part of the Constitution.

ARTICLE XVIII.†

Section 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

Section 2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

ARTICLE XIX.¶

Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any State on account of sex.

Section 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XX.

Section 1. The terms of the President and Vice President shall end at noon on the 20th day of January, and the terms of Senators and Representatives at noon on the 3d day of January, of the years in which such terms would have ended if this article had not been ratified; and the terms of their successors shall then begin.

Section 2. The Congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall begin at noon on the 3d day of January, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Section 3. If, at the time fixed for the beginning of the term of the President, the President elect shall have died, the Vice President elect shall become President. If a President shall not have been chosen before the time fixed for the beginning of his term, or if the President elect shall have failed to qualify, then the Vice President elect shall act as President until a President shall have qualified; and the Congress may by law provide for the case wherein neither a President elect nor a Vice President elect shall have qualified, declaring who shall then act as President, or the manner in which one who is to act shall be selected, and such person shall act accordingly until a President or Vice President shall have qualified.

Section 4. The Congress may by law provide for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the House of Representatives may choose a President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them, and for the case of the death of any of the persons from whom the Senate may choose a Vice President whenever the right of choice shall have devolved upon them.

Section 5. Sections 1 and 2 shall take effect on the 15th day of October following the ratification of this article.

Section 6. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within seven years from the date of its submission.

ARTICLE XXI.†

Section 1. The eighteenth article of amendment to the Constitution of the United States is hereby repealed.

Section 2. The transportation or importation into any State, Territory, or possession of the United States for delivery or use therein of intoxicating liquors, in violation of the laws thereof, is hereby prohibited.

Section 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by conventions in the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

THE FIRST CONSTITUTION OF CONNECTICUT

The "Fundamental Orders," 1638-9.

"Voted" January 14, 1638, the Fundamental Orders were the beginning of Connecticut as a commonwealth. Their spirit was that of a sermon preached by the Rev. Thomas Hooker a short time before their adoption, in the course of which he laid down the proposition "The foundation of authority is laid in the free consent of the people", and which he closed with the challenge: "As God has given us liberty let us take it." They recognized no allegiance on the part of the colonists to England but in effect set up an independent government. In the sense that they were intended to be a framework of government more permanent than the usual orders adopted by the General Court, they were in essence a constitution. The historian John Fiske was justified in his statement that this instrument was "the first written constitution known to history that created a government and it marked the beginning of American democracy". While in 1662 the Fundamental Orders were in a sense superseded by the charter, that document, drawn up in the colony and taken to England by its representative, was never regarded by the colonists as the source of their government, but as a protection for and guaranty of the government they had already set up for themselves. So it was that for forty years after the independence of this nation, Connecticut could still carry on its government under the charter. And so it is that this commonwealth has preserved a continuity of development beyond that of almost any other state or nation in the world.

By: William M. Maltbie

Forasmuch as it hath pleased the Almighty God by the wise disposition of his divine providence so to order and dispose of things that we the Inhabitants and Residents of Windsor, Hartford, and Wethersfield are now cohabiting and dwelling in and upon the River of Connecticute and the lands thereunto adjoining; and well knowing where a people are gathered together the word of God requires that to maintain the peace and union of such a people there should be an orderly and decent Government established according to God, to order and dispose of the affairs of the people at all seasons as occasion shall require; do therefore associate and conjoin ourselves to be as one Public State or Commonwealth; and do for ourselves and our Successors and such as shall be adjoining to us at any time hereafter, enter into Combination and Confederation together, to maintain and preserve the liberty and purity of the Gospel of our Lord Jesus which we now profess, as also the discipline of the Churches, which according to the truth of the said Gospel is now practiced amongst us; as also in our Civil affairs to be guided and governed according to such Laws, Rules, Orders, and Decrees as shall be made, ordered, and decreed as followeth:—

1. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that there shall be yearly two General Assemblies or Courts, the one the second Thursday in April, the other the second Thursday in September following; the first shall be called the Court of Election, wherein shall be yearly chosen from time to time so many Magistrates and other public Officers as shall be found requisite: Whereof one to be chosen Governor for the year ensuing and until another be chosen, and no other Magistrate to be chosen for more than one year: provided always there be six chosen besides the Governor, which being chosen and sworn according to an Oath recorded for that purpose, shall have power to administer justice according to the Laws here established, and for want thereof, according to the rule of the Word of God; which choice shall be made by all that are admitted freemen and have taken the Oath of Fidelity, and do cohabit within this Jurisdiction (*Having been admitted Inhabitants by the major part of the Town wherein they live) or the major part of such as shall be then present.

2. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that the Election of the aforesaid Magistrates shall be on this manner: every person present and qualified for choice shall bring in (to the persons deputed to receive them) one single paper with the name of him written in it whom he desires to have Governor, and he that hath the greatest number of papers shall be Governor for that year. And the rest of the Magistrates or public officers to be chosen in this manner: the Secretary for the time being shall first read the names of all that are to be put to choice and then shall severally nominate them distinctly, and every one that would have the person nominated to be chosen shall bring in one single paper written upon, and he that would not have him chosen shall bring in a blank; and every one that hath more written papers than blanks shall be a Magistrate for that year; which papers shall be received and told by one or more that shall be then chosen by the court and sworn to be faithful therein; but in case there should not be six chosen as aforesaid, besides the Governor, out of those which are nominated, then he or they which have the most written papers shall be a Magistrate or Magistrates for the ensuing year, to make up the aforesaid number.

3. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that the Secretary shall not nominate any person, nor shall any person be chosen newly into the Magistracy which was not propounded in some General Court before, to be nominated the next Election; and to that end it shall be lawful for each of the Towns aforesaid by their deputies to nominate any two whom they conceive fit to be put to election; and the Court may add so many more as they judge requisite.

4. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that no person be chosen Governor above once in two years, and that the Governor be always a member of some approved congregation, and formerly of the Magistracy within this Jurisdiction; and all the Magistrates, Freemen of this Commonwealth; and that no Magistrate or other public officer shall execute any part of his or their office before they are severally sworn, which shall be done in the face of the court if they be present, and in case of absence by some deputy for that purpose.

* This clause was interlined in a different handwriting, and is of a later date. It was adopted by the General Court of November, 1643.

5. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that to the aforesaid Court of Election the several Towns shall send their deputies, and when the Elections are ended they may proceed in any public service as at other Courts. Also the other General Court in September shall be for making of laws, and any other public occasion, which concerns the good of the Commonwealth.

6. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that the Governor shall, either by himself or by the Secretary, send out summons to the Constables of every Town for the calling of these two standing Courts one month at least before their several times: And also if the Governor and the greatest part of the Magistrates see cause upon any special occasion to call a General Court, they may give order to the Secretary so to do within fourteen days' warning: and if urgent necessity so require, upon a shorter notice, giving sufficient grounds for it to the deputies when they meet, or else be questioned for the same; And if the Governor and major part of Magistrates shall either neglect or refuse to call the two General standing Courts or either of them, as also at other times when the occasions of the Commonwealth require, the Freemen thereof, or the major part of them, shall petition to them so to do; if then it be either denied or neglected, the said Freemen, or the major part of them, shall have power to give order to the Constables of the several Towns to do the same, and so may meet together, and choose to themselves a Moderator, and may proceed to do any act of power which any other General Courts may.

7. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that after there are warrants given out for any of the said General Courts, the Constable or Constables of each Town shall forthwith give notice distinctly to the inhabitants of the same, in some public assembly or by going or sending from house to house, that at a place and time by him or them limited and set, they meet and assemble themselves together to elect and choose certain deputies to be at the General Court then following to agitate the affairs of the Commonwealth; which said deputies shall be chosen by all that are admitted Inhabitants in the several Towns and have taken the oath of fidelity; provided that none be chosen a Deputy for any General Court which is not a Freeman of this Commonwealth.

The aforesaid deputies shall be chosen in manner following: every person that is present and qualified as before expressed, shall bring the names of such, written in several papers, as they desire to have chosen for that employment, and these three or four, more or less, being the number agreed on to be chosen for that time, that have greatest number of papers written for them shall be deputies for that Court; whose names shall be endorsed on the back side of the warrant and returned into the Court, with the constable or constables' hand unto the same.

8. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that Windsor, Hartford, and Wethersfield shall have power, each Town, to send four of their Freemen as their deputies to every General Court; and Whatsoever other Town shall be hereafter added to this Jurisdiction, they shall send so many deputies as the Court shall judge meet, a reasonable proportion to the number of Freemen that are in the said Towns being to be attended therein; which deputies shall have the power of the whole Town to give their votes and allowance to all such laws and orders as may be for the public good, and unto which the said Towns are to be bound.

9. It is Ordered and decreed, that the deputies thus chosen shall have power and liberty to appoint a time and a place of meeting together before any General Court, to advise and consult of all such things as may concern the good of the public, as also to examine their own Elections, whether according to the order, and if they or the greatest part of them find any election to be illegal they may seclude such for present from their meeting, and return the same and their reasons to the Court; and if it prove true, the Court may fine the party or parties so intruding, and the Town, if they see cause, and give out a warrant to go to a new election in a legal way, either in part or in whole. Also the said deputies shall have power to fine any that shall be disorderly at their meetings, or for not coming in due time or place according to appointment; and they may return the said fines into the Court if it be refused to be paid, and the Treasurer to take notice of it, and to escheat or levy the same as he does other fines.

10. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that every General Court, except such as through neglect of the Governor and the greatest part of Magistrates the Freemen themselves do call, shall consist of the Governor, or some one chosen to moderate the Court, and four other Magistrates at least, with the major part of the deputies of the several Towns legally chosen; and in case the Freemen, or major part of them, through neglect or refusal of the Governor and major part of the Magistrates, shall call a Court, it shall consist of the major part of Freemen that are present or their deputies, with a Moderator chosen by them: In which said General Courts shall consist the supreme power of the Commonwealth, and they only shall have power to make laws or repeal them, to grant levies, to admit of Freemen, dispose of lands undisposed of, to several Towns or persons, and also shall have power to call either Court or Magistrate or any other person whatsoever into question for any misdemeanor, and may for just causes displace or deal otherwise according to the nature of the offense; and also may deal in any other matter that concerns the good of this Commonwealth, except election of Magistrates, which shall be done by the whole body of Freemen.
In which Court the Governor or Moderator shall have power to order the Court, to give liberty of speech, and silence unseasonable and disorderly speakings, to put all things to vote, and in case the vote be equal to have the casting voice. But none of these Courts shall be adjourned or dissolved without the consent of the major part of the Court.

11. It is Ordered, sentenced, and decreed, that when any General Court upon the occasions of the Commonwealth have agreed upon any sum, or sums of money to be levied upon the several Towns within this Jurisdiction, that a committee be chosen to set out and appoint what shall be the proportion of every Town to pay of the said levy, provided the committee be made up of an equal number out of each Town.

14th January 1638 the 11 Orders above said are voted.

ment or direcon, from tyme to tyme and att all tymes hereafter, for their speciall defence and safety, to Assemble, Martiall, Array, and putt in Warlike posture the Inhabitants of the said Colony, and to Commissionate, Impower and authorize such Person or Persons as they shall thinke fitt to lead and Conduct the said Inhabitants, and to encounter, expulse, repell and resist by force of Armes, as well by Sea as by land, And alsoe to kill, Slay and destroy, by all fitting wayes, enterprizes and meanes whatsoever, all and every such Person or Persons as shall at any tyme hereafter Attempt or enterprize the destrucon, invasion, detriment or annoyance of the said Inhabitants or Plantacon, And to use and exercise the Law Martiall in such Cases onely as occasion shall require,
And to take or surprize by all wayes and meanes whatsoever, all and every such Person and Persons, with their Shippes, Armour, Ammonicon, and other goods of such as shall in such hostile maner invade or attempt the defeating of the said Plantacon or the hurt of the said Company and Inhabitants; and vpon just Causes to invade and destroy the Natives or other Enemies of the said Colony. Nevertheless, Our Will and pleasure is, And wee doe hereby Declare vnto all Christian Kings, Princes and States, That if any Persons which shall hereafter bee of the said Company or Plantacon, or any other, by appointment of the said Governor and Company for the tyme being, shall at any tyme or tymes hereafter Robb or Spoile by Sea or by land, and doe any hurt, violece or unlawful hostility to any of the Subjects of vs, our heires or Successors, or any of the Subjects of any Prince or State beinge then in league with vs, our heires or Successors, vpon Complaint of such injurie done to any such Prince or State, or their Subjects, wee, our heires and Successors, will make open Procla-macon within any parts of our Realme of England fitt for that purpose, That the Person or Persons committinge any such Robbery or Spoile, shall within the tyme lymitted by such Proclamacon, make full restitucon or satisfacon of all such injuries done or committ, Soe as the said Prince or others see complayninge may bee fully satisfied and contented. And if the said Person or Persons whoe shall committ any such Robbery or Spoile shall not make satisfacon accordingly, within such tyme soe to bee limited, That then itt shall and may bee lawfull for vs, our heires and Successors, to put such Person or Persons out of our Allegiance and Protecon. And that it shall and may bee lawfull and free for all Princes or others to Prosecute with hostility such Offenders and every of them, their and every of their Procurers, ayders, Abettors and Consellors in that behalfe. PROVIDED, also, and our expresse will and pleasure is, AND WEE DOE by these presents for vs, our heires and Successors, Ordeyne and appointe that these presents shall not in any manner hinder any of our loveing Subjects whatsoever to use and exercise the Trade of Fishinge vpon the Coast of New England in America, but they and every or any of them shall have full and free power and liberty to contynue and use the said Trade of Fishing upon the said Coast, in any of the Seas thervnto adjoyning, or any Armes of the Seas or Salt Water Rivers where they have byn accustomed to Fish, and to build and sett vpon the wast land belonging to the said Colony of Connecticut, such Wharves, Stages and workehouses as shall bee necessary for the Salting, dryeing and keepeing of their Fish to bee taken or gotten vpon that Coast,—any thinge in these presents contentynd to the contrary notwithstanding. HOWARD

THE CONSTITUTION OF CONNECTICUT*

As amended and in force January 1, 1946

Though the people of the state had long acquiesced under the form of government derived from the charter, and sanctioned by the legislature; yet it was considered by many that we had no constitution, as our government under the charter had never received the explicit approbation of the people subsequent to the declaration of independence. It was also considered to be inconsistent with the dignity of a free nation to hold their rights, even nominally by the tenure of a Royal Grant and that it was proper the powers of the government should be divided into separate departments, and individual rights be secured by a constitution that should control the legislature itself. It was therefore thought advisable to call a convention for that object. Accordingly, in 1818, a convention was assembled which agreed upon a constitution. It was submitted to the people, and approved by a vote of thirteen thousand nine hundred and eighteen in its favor and twelve thousand three hundred and sixty-four against its ratification. On the twelfth of October, 1818, Governor Wolcott issued his proclamation, at the request of the General Assembly, declaring that the constitution was thenceforth to be observed by all persons, as the Supreme Law of this state.

On October 1, 1901 a vote was taken as to the calling of a constitutional convention for the purpose of revising the constitution. The vote was 47,317 in favor and 26,745 against. A convention was held, a revised constitution proposed and a vote taken June 16, 1902 as to its adoption with the result of 10,377 for the acceptance of such revision and 21,234 against it.

government, do, in order more effectually to define, secure, and perpetuate the liberties, rights and privileges which they have derived from their ancestors, hereby, after a careful consideration and revision, ordain and establish the following constitution and form of civil government.

ARTICLE FIRST.

DECLARATION OF RIGHTS.

That the great and essential principles of liberty and free government may be recognized and established,

WE DECLARE,

Sec. 1. That all men when they form a social compact, are equal in rights; and that no man, or set of men are entitled to exclusive public emoluments or privileges from the community.

Sec. 2. That all political power is inherent in the people, and all free governments are founded on their authority, and instituted for their benefit; and that they have at all times an undeniable and indefeasible right to alter their form of government in such manner as they may think expedient.

Sec. 3. The exercise and enjoyment of religious profession and worship, without discrimination, shall forever be free to all persons in this state; provided, that the right hereby declared and established shall not be so construed as to excuse acts of licentiousness, or to justify practices inconsistent with the peace and safety of the state.

Sec. 4. No preference shall be given by law to any christian sect or mode of worship.

Sec. 5. Every citizen may freely speak, write and publish his sentiments on all subjects, being responsible for the abuse of that liberty.

Sec. 6. No law shall ever be passed to curtail or restrain the liberty of speech or of the press.

Sec. 7. In all prosecutions or indictments for libels, the truth may be given in evidence, and the jury shall have the right to determine the law and the facts, under the direction of the court.

Sec. 8. The people shall be secure in their persons, houses, papers and possessions from unreasonable searches or seizures; and no warrant to search any place, or to seize any person or things, shall issue without describing them as nearly as may be, nor without probable cause supported by oath or affirmation.

Sec. 9. In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall have a right to be heard by himself and by counsel; to demand the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted by the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process to obtain witnesses in his favour; and in all prosecutions by indictment or information, a speedy public trial by an impartial jury. He shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself, nor be deprived of life, liberty or property, but by due course of law. And no person shall be holden to answer for any crime, the punishment of which may be death or imprisonment for life, unless on a presentment or an indictment of a grand jury; except in the land or naval forces, or in the militia when in actual service in time of war, or public danger.

Sec. 10. No person shall be arrested, detained or punished, except in cases clearly warranted by law.

Sec. 11. The property of no person shall be taken for public use, without just compensation therefor.

Sec. 12. All courts shall be open, and every person, for an injury done him in his person, property or reputation, shall have remedy by due course of law, and right and justice administered without sale, denial or delay.

Sec. 13. Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed.

Sec. 14. All prisoners shall, before conviction, be bailable by sufficient sureties, except for capital offences, where the proof is evident, or the presumption great; and the privileges of the writ of Habeas Corpus shall not be suspended, unless, when in case of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it; nor in any case, but by legislature.

Sec. 15. No person shall be attained of treason or felony, by the legislature.

Sec. 16. The citizens have a right, in a peaceable manner, to assemble for their common good, and to apply to those invested with the powers of government, for redress of grievances, or other proper purposes, by petition, address or remonstrance.

Sec. 17. Every citizen has a right to bear arms in defence of himself and the state.

Sec. 18. The military shall, in all cases, and at all times, be in strict subordination to the civil power.

Sec. 19. No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house, without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

Sec. 20. No hereditary emoluments, privileges or honors, shall ever be granted, or conferred in this state.

Sec. 21. The right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate.

ARTICLE SECOND.

OF THE DISTRIBUTION OF POWERS.

The powers of government shall be divided into three distinct departments, and each of them confided to a separate magistracy, to wit, those which are legislative, to one; those which are executive, to another; and those which are judicial, to another.

ARTICLE THIRD.

OF THE LEGISLATURE DEPARTMENT.

Sec. 1. The legislative power of this state shall be vested in two distinct houses or branches; the one to be styled The Senate, the other The House of Representatives, and both together
THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY. The style of their laws shall be, BE IT ENACTED BY THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES IN GENERAL ASSEMBLY CONVENED.

Sec. 2. There shall be one stated session of the General Assembly, to be holden in each year, alternately at Hartford and New Haven, on the first Wednesday of May, and at such other times as the General Assembly shall judge necessary; the first session to be holden at Hartford: But the person administering the office of Governour, may on special emergencies, convene the General Assembly at either of said places, at any other time. And in case of danger from the prevalence of contagious diseases in either of said places, or other circumstances, the person administering the office of Governour, may, by proclamation, convene said Assembly at any other place in this state.

Sec. 3. The house of representatives shall consist of electors residing in towns from which they are elected. The number of representatives from each town shall be the same as at present practised and allowed. In case a new town shall hereafter be incorporated, such new town shall be entitled to one representative only; and if such new town shall be made from one or more towns, the town or towns from which the same shall be made, shall be entitled to the same number of representatives as at present allowed, unless the number shall be reduced by the consent of such town or towns.

Sec. 4. The Senate shall consist of twelve members, to be chosen annually by the electors.

Sec. 5. At the meetings of the electors, held in the several towns in this state in April annually, after the election of representatives, the electors present shall be called upon to bring in their written ballots for senators. The presiding officer shall receive the votes of the electors, and count and declare them in open meeting. The presiding officer shall also make duplicate lists of the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each, which shall be certified by the presiding officer; one of which lists shall be delivered to the town clerk, and the other within ten days after said meeting, shall be delivered under seal, either to the Secretary, or to the Sheriff of the county in which said town is situated; which list shall be directed to the Secretary, with a superscription expressing the purport of the contents thereof. And each sheriff who shall receive such votes, shall within fifteen days after said meeting, deliver, or cause them to be delivered to the Secretary.

Art. 3. Sec. 2. Altered by amendments of 1873 (Art. 14), 1875 (Art. 16) and 1884 (Art. 27). See amendment of 1911-1912 (Art. 34).
Art. 3. Sec. 3. Altered by amendments of 1874 (Art. 15), 1876 (Art. 18).
Art. 3. Sec. 4. Altered by amendments of 1828 (Arts. 1, 2) and 1901 (Art. 31).
Art. 3. Sec. 5. Altered by amendments of 1828 (Art. 3), 1836 (Art. 6), 1875 (Art. 16), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 31), 1905 (Art. 33).
Sec. 6. The Treasurer, Secretary, and Controller, for the time being, shall canvass the votes publickly. The twelve persons having the greatest number of votes for senators, shall be declared to be elected. But in cases where no choice is made by the electors in consequence of an equality of votes, the house of representatives shall designate by ballot which of the candidates having such equal number of votes, shall be declared to be elected. The return of votes, and the result of the canvass, shall be submitted to the house of representatives, and also to the Senate, on the first day of the session of the General Assembly; and each house shall be the final judge of the election returns and qualifications of its own members.

Sec. 7. The house of representatives when assembled, shall choose a Speaker, Clerk and other officers. The senate shall choose its Clerk, and other officers, except the President. A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and compel the attendance of absent members in such manner, and under such penalties as each house may prescribe.

Sec. 8. Each house shall determine the rules of its own proceedings, and punish members for disorderly conduct, and, with the consent of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the legislature of a free and independent state.

Sec. 9. Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same when required by one-fifth of its members, except such parts as in the judgment of a majority require secrecy. The yeas and nays of the members of either house, shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journals.

Sec. 10. The senators and representatives shall, in all cases of civil process, be privileged from arrest, during the session of the General Assembly, and for four days before the commencement, and after the termination of any session thereof. And for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place.

Sec. 11. The debates of each house shall be public, except on such occasions as in the opinion of the house may require secrecy.

ARTICLE FOURTH.

OF THE EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

Sec. 1. The supreme executive power of the state shall be vested in a Governour, who shall be chosen by the electors of the state, and shall hold his office for one year from the first Wednesday of May next succeeding his election, and until his successor be duly qualified. No person who is not an elector of this state, and who has not arrived at the age of thirty years, shall be eligible.

Art. 3. Sec. 6. Altered by amendments of 1828 (Art. 3).
Art. 4. Sec. 1. Altered by amendments of 1836 (Art. 6), 1875 (Art. 16), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 30), 1905 (Art. 33), 1911-1912 (Art. 34).
Sec. 2. At the meetings of the electors in the respective towns in the month of April in each year, immediately after the election of senators, the presiding officers shall call upon the electors to bring in their ballots for him whom they would elect to be governour, with his name fairly written. When such ballots shall have been received and counted in the presence of the electors, duplicate lists of the persons voted for, and of the number of votes given for each, shall be made and certified by the presiding officer, one of which lists shall be deposited in the office of the town clerk, within three days, and the other, within ten days after said election, shall be transmitted to the Secretary, or to the sheriff of the county, in which such election shall have been held. The sheriff receiving said votes shall deliver, or cause them to be delivered to the Secretary, within fifteen days next after said election. The votes so returned shall be counted by the Treasurer, Secretary and Controller, within the month of April. A fair list of the persons and number of votes given for each, together with the returns of the presiding officers, shall be, by the Treasurer, Secretary and Controller, made and laid before the General Assembly, then next to be holden, on the first day of the session thereof; and said Assembly shall, after examination of the same, declare the person whom they shall find to be legally chosen, and give him notice accordingly. If no person shall have a majority of the whole number of said votes, or if two or more shall have an equal and the greatest number of said votes, then said Assembly, on the second day of their session, by joint ballot of both houses, shall proceed, without debate, to choose a Governour from a list of the names of the two persons having the greatest number of votes, or of the names of the persons having an equal and highest number of votes so returned as aforesaid. The General Assembly shall by law prescribe the manner in which all questions concerning the election of a Governour, or Lieutenant Governour, shall be determined.

Sec. 3. At the annual meetings of the electors, immediately after the election of Governour, there shall also be chosen in the same manner as is herein before provided for the election of Governour, a Lieutenant Governour, who shall continue in office for the same time, and possess the same qualifications.

Sec. 4. The compensations of the Governour, Lieutenant Governour, Senators and Representatives, shall be established by law, and shall not be varied so as to take effect until after an election, which shall next succeed the passage of the law establishing said compensations.

Sec. 5. The Governour shall be Captain General of the militia of the state, except when called into the service of the United States.

Art. 4. Sec. 2. Altered by amendments of 1836 (Art. 6), 1875 (Art. 16), 1876 (Art. 19), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 30), 1905 (Art. 33).

Art. 4. Sec. 3. Altered by amendments of 1832 (Art. 4), 1836 (Art. 6), 1875 (Art. 16), 1876 (Art. 19), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 30), 1905. (Art. 33).
Sec. 6. He may require information in writing from the officers in the executive department, on any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices.

Sec. 7. The Governour, in case of a disagreement between the two houses of the General Assembly, respecting the time of adjournment, may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper, not beyond the day of the next stated session.

Sec. 8. He shall, from time to time, give to the General Assembly, information of the state of the government and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall deem expedient.

Sec. 9. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

Sec. 10. The Governour shall have power to grant reprieves after conviction, in all cases except those of impeachment, until the end of the next session of the General Assembly, and no longer.

Sec. 11. All commissions shall be in the name and by authority of the state of Connecticut; shall be sealed with the state seal, signed by the Governour, and attested by the Secretary.

Sec. 12. Every bill which shall have passed both [houses]¹ of the General Assembly, shall be presented to the Governour. If he approves, he shall sign and transmit it to the Secretary, but if not, he shall return it to the house in which it originated with his objections, which shall be entered on the journals of the house; who shall proceed to reconsider the bill. If after such reconsideration, that house shall again pass it, it shall be sent, with the objections, to the other house, which shall also reconsider it. If approved, it shall become a law. But in such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays; and the names of the members voting for and against the bill, shall be entered on the journals of each house respectively. If the bill shall not be returned by the Governour within three days, Sundays excepted, after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it; unless the General Assembly, by their adjournment, prevents its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

Sec. 13. The Lieutenant Governour shall, by virtue of his office, be President of the Senate, and have, when in committee of the whole, a right to debate, and when the Senate is equally divided, to give the casting vote.

Sec. 14. In case of the death, resignation, refusal to serve, or removal from office of the Governour, or of his impeachment, or absence from the State, the Lieutenant Governour shall exercise the powers and authority appertaining to the office of Governour, Art. 4. Sec. 7. Amended in 1911-1912 (Art. 35).

Art. 4. Sec. 12. See amendment of 1923 (Art. 37); Altered by amendment of 1934 (Art. 40).

until another be chosen at the next periodical election for Governor, and be duly qualified; or until the Governor, impeached or absent, shall be acquitted or return.

Sec. 15. When the government shall be administered by the Lieutenant Governor, or he shall be unable to attend as President of the Senate, the Senate shall elect one of their members, as President pro tempore. And if during the vacancy of the office of Governor, the Lieutenant Governor shall die, resign, refuse to serve, or be removed from office, or if he shall be impeached, or absent from the State, the President of the Senate pro tempore, shall, in like manner, administer the government until he be superseded by a Governor or Lieutenant Governor.

Sec. 16. If the Lieutenant Governor shall be required to administer the government, and shall, while in such administration, die or resign during the recess of the General Assembly, it shall be the duty of the Secretary, for the time being, to convene the Senate for the purpose of choosing a President pro tempore.

Sec. 17. A Treasurer shall annually be chosen by the electors at their meeting in April; and the votes shall be returned, counted, canvassed, and declared, in the same manner as is provided for the election of Governor and Lieutenant Governor; but the votes for Treasurer shall be canvassed by the Secretary and Controller only. He shall receive all monies belonging to the state, and disburse the same only as he may be directed by law. He shall pay no warrant, or order for the disbursement of public money, until the same has been registered in the office of the Controller.

Sec. 18. A Secretary shall be chosen next after the Treasurer, and in the same manner; and the votes for Secretary shall be returned to, and counted, canvassed, and declared by the Treasurer and Controller. He shall have the safe keeping and custody of the public records and documents, and particularly of the acts, resolutions, and orders of the General Assembly, and record the same; and perform all such duties as shall be prescribed by law. He shall be the keeper of the seal of the state, which shall not be altered.

Sec. 19. A Controller of the public accounts shall be annually appointed by the General Assembly. He shall adjust and settle all public accounts and demands, except grants and orders of the General Assembly. He shall prescribe the mode of keeping and rendering all public accounts. He shall, ex officio, be one of the auditors of the accounts of the Treasurer. The General Assembly

Art. 4. Sec. 18. Altered by amendments of 1832 (Art. 4), 1836 (Art. 6), 1875 (Art. 16), 1876 (Art. 19), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 30), 1905 (Art. 33).

Art. 4. Sec. 19. Altered by amendments of 1836 (Arts. 5, 6), 1875 (Art. 16), 1876 (Art. 19), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 30), 1905 (Art. 33).
may assign to him other duties in relation to his office, and to that of the Treasurer, and shall prescribe the manner in which his duties shall be performed.

Sec. 20. A sheriff shall be appointed in each county by the General Assembly, who shall hold his office for three years, removable by said Assembly, and shall become bound with sufficient sureties, to the Treasurer of the state, for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law: in case the sheriff of any county shall die or resign, the Governour may fill the vacancy occasioned thereby, until the same shall be filled by the General Assembly.

Sec. 21. A statement of all receipts, payments, funds, and debts of the state, shall be published, from time to time, in such manner and at such periods, as shall be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE FIFTH.

OF THE JUDICIAL DEPARTMENT.

Sec. 1. The judicial power of the state shall be vested in a Supreme Court of Errors, a Superior Court, and such inferior courts as the General Assembly shall, from time to time, ordain and establish: the powers and jurisdiction of which courts shall be defined by law.

Sec. 2. There shall be appointed in each county, a sufficient number of justices of the peace, with such jurisdiction in civil and criminal cases, as the General Assembly may prescribe.

Sec. 3. The judges of the Supreme Court of Errors, of the superior and inferior courts, and all justices of the peace, shall be appointed by the General Assembly, in such manner as shall by law be prescribed. The judges of the Supreme Court, and of the Superior Court, shall hold their offices during good behaviour; but may be removed by impeachment; and the Governour shall also remove them on the address of two thirds of the members of each house of the General Assembly: All other judges and justices of the peace shall be appointed annually. No judge or justice of the peace shall be capable of holding his office, after he shall arrive at the age of seventy years.

ARTICLE SIXTH.

OF THE QUALIFICATIONS OF ELECTORS.

Sec. 1. All persons who have been, or shall hereafter, previous to the ratification of this Constitution, be admitted freemen, according to the existing laws of this state, shall be electors.

Sec. 2. Every white male citizen of the United States, who shall have gained a settlement in this state, attained the age of Art. 5. Sec. 2. Amended 1850 (Art. 10).

Art. 5. Sec. 3. Altered by amendments of 1850 (Art. 9), 1856 (Art. 12), 1876 (Arts. 20, 21), 1880 (Art. 26).
twenty-one years, and resided in the town in which he may offer himself to be admitted to the privilege of an elector, at least six months preceding, and have a freehold estate of the yearly value of seven dollars in this state; or having been enrolled in the militia, shall have performed military duty therein for the term of one year next preceding the time he shall offer himself for admission, or being liable thereto, shall have been, by authority of law, excused therefrom; or shall have paid a state tax within the year next preceding the time he shall present himself for such admission; and shall sustain a good moral character; shall, on his taking such oath as may be prescribed by law, be an elector.

Sec. 3. The privileges of an elector shall be forfeited by a conviction of bribery, forgery, perjury, duelling, fraudulent bankruptcy, theft, or other offence for which an infamous punishment is inflicted.

Sec. 4. Every elector shall be eligible to any office in this state, except in cases provided for in this constitution.

Sec. 5. The selectmen and town clerk of the several towns, shall decide on the qualifications of electors, at such times, and in such manner as may be prescribed by law.

Sec. 6. Laws shall be made to support the privilege of free sufferage, prescribing the manner of regulating and conducting meetings of electors, and prohibiting, under adequate penalties, all undue influence therein, from power, bribery, tumult, and other improper conduct.

Sec. 7. In all elections of officers of the state, or members of the General Assembly, the votes of the electors shall be by ballot.

Sec. 8. At all elections of officers of the state, or members of the General Assembly, the electors shall be privileged from arrest, during their attendance upon, and going to, and returning from the same, on any civil process.

Sec. 9. The meetings of the electors for the election of the several state officers, by law, annually to be elected, and members of the General Assembly of this state, shall be held on the first Monday of April in each year.

ARTICLE SEVENTH.
OF RELIGION.

Sec. 1. It being the duty of all men to worship the Supreme Being, the great Creator and Preserver of the Universe, and their right to render that worship, in the mode most consistent with the dictates of their consciences; no person shall by law be compelled to join or support, nor be classed with, or associated to, any congregation, church or religious association. But every person now belonging to such congregation, church, or religious association, shall remain a member thereof, until he shall have separated himself therefrom, in the manner hereinafter provided. And each and every society or denomination of Christians in this state, shall have and enjoy the same and equal powers, rights and privileges; and shall have power and authority to support and maintain the ministers or teachers of their respective denominations, and to build and repair houses for public worship, by a tax on the members of any such society only, to be laid by a majority vote of the legal voters assembled at any society meeting, warned and held according to law, or in any other manner.

Sec. 2. If any person shall choose to separate himself from the society or denomination of Christians to which he may belong, and shall leave a written notice thereof with the clerk of such society, he shall thereupon be no longer liable for any future expenses which may be incurred by said society.

ARTICLE EIGHTH.

OF EDUCATION.

Sec. 1. The charter of Yale College, as modified by agreement with the corporation thereof, in pursuance of an act of the General Assembly, passed in May, 1792, is hereby confirmed.

Sec. 2. The fund, called the School Fund, shall remain a perpetual fund, the interest of which shall be inviolably appropriated to the support and encouragement of the public, or common schools throughout the state, and for the equal benefit of all the people thereof. The value and amount of said fund shall, as soon as practicable, be ascertained in such manner as the General Assembly may prescribe, published, and recorded in the Controller's office; and no law shall ever be made, authorizing said fund to be diverted to any other use than the encouragement and support of public or common schools, among the several school societies, as justice and equity shall require.

ARTICLE NINTH.

OF IMPEACHMENTS.

Sec. 1. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeaching.

Sec. 2. All impeachments shall be tried by the Senate. When sitting for that purpose, they shall be on oath or affirmation. No person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two thirds of the members present. When the Governour is impeached, the Chief Justice shall preside.

Sec. 3. The Governour, and all other executive and judicial officers, shall be liable to impeachment; but judgments in such cases shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office of honour, trust, or profit under this state; the party convicted, shall, nevertheless, be liable and subject to indictment, trial, and punishment according to law.

Sec. 4. Treason against the state, shall consist only in levying war against it, or adhering to its enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason, unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court. No conviction of treason, or attainder, shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture.

ARTICLE TENTH.
GENERAL PROVISIONS.

Sec. 1. Members of the General Assembly, and all officers, executive and judicial, shall, before they enter on the duties of their respective offices, take the following oath or affirmation, to wit:

You do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be) that you will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Connecticut, so long as you continue a citizen thereof; and that you will faithfully discharge, according to law, the duties of the office of to the best of your abilities. So help you God.

Sec. 2. Each town shall annually elect selectmen, and such officers of local police as the laws may prescribe.

Sec. 3. The rights and duties of all corporations shall remain as if this constitution had not been adopted; with the exception of such regulations and restrictions as are contained in this constitution. All judicial and civil officers now in office, who have been appointed by the General Assembly, and commissioned according to law, and all such officers as shall be appointed by the said Assembly, and commissioned as aforesaid, before the first Wednesday of May next, shall continue to hold their offices until the first day of June next, unless they shall before that time, resign, or be removed from office according to law. The Treasurer and Secretary shall continue in office until a Treasurer and Secretary shall be appointed under this constitution. All military officers shall continue to hold and exercise their respective offices, until they shall resign or be removed according to law. All laws not contrary to, or inconsistent with the provisions of this constitution, shall remain in force, until they shall expire by their own limitation, or shall be altered or repealed by the General Assembly, in pursuance of this constitution. The validity of all bonds, debts, contracts, as well of individuals as of bodies corporate, or the state, of all suits, actions, or rights of action, both in law and equity, shall continue as if no change had taken place. The Gover-nour, Lieutenant Governour, and General Assembly, which is to be formed in October next, shall have, and possess, all the powers and authorities, not repugnant to, or inconsistent with this constitution, which they now have and possess, until the first Wednesday of May next.

Sec. 4. No judge of the Superior Court, or of the Supreme Court of Errors; no member of Congress; no person holding any office under the authority of the United States; no person holding the office of Treasurer, Secretary, or Controller; no Sheriff, or sheriff's deputy, shall be a member of the General Assembly.

ARTICLE ELEVENTH.

OF AMENDMENTS OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Whenever a majority of the house of representatives shall deem it necessary to alter, or amend this constitution, they may propose such alterations and amendments; which proposed amendments shall be continued to the next General Assembly, and be published with the laws which may have been passed at the same session; and if two thirds of each house, at the next session of said Assembly, shall approve the amendments proposed, by yeas and nays, said amendments shall, by the Secretary, be transmitted to the town clerk in each town in this state; whose duty it shall be to present the same to the inhabitants thereof, for their consideration, at a town meeting, legally warned and held for that purpose; and if it shall appear in a manner to be provided by law, that a majority of the electors present at such meetings, shall have approved such amendments, the same shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as a part of this constitution.

Done in Convention on the fifteenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and eighteen, and of the Independence of the United States the forty-third.

AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION OF CONNECTICUT

ARTICLE I.

From and after the first Wednesday [of May],¹ in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and thirty, the Senate of this state shall consist of not less than eighteen, nor more than twenty-four members, and be chosen by districts.

ARTICLE II.

The General Assembly, which shall be holden on the first Wednesday of May, in the year one thousand eight hundred and twenty-nine, shall divide the state into districts for the choice of Senators, and shall determine what number shall be elected in each, which districts shall not be less than eight, nor more than twenty-four in number, and shall always be composed of contiguous territory, and in forming them, no town shall be divided, nor shall the whole or part of one county be joined to the whole or part of another county, to form a district; regard being had to the population in said apportionment and in forming said districts, in such manner that no county shall have less than two Senators. The districts, when established, shall continue the same until the session of the General Assembly next after the completion of the next census of the United States; which said Assembly shall have power to alter the same, if found necessary, to preserve a proper equality between said districts, in respect to the number of inhabitants therein, according to the principles above recited; after which, said districts shall not be altered, nor the number of Senators altered, except at any session of the General Assembly next after the completion of a census of the United States, and then only according to the principles above prescribed.

ARTICLE III.

At a meeting of the electors on the first Monday of April, in the year one thousand eight hundred and thirty, and annually thereafter, immediately after the choice of Representatives, the electors qualified by law to vote in the choice of such Representatives, shall be called upon by the presiding officer in such meeting, in the several towns within their districts, respectively, to bring in their ballots for such person or number of persons to be Senator ¹Not recorded but in General Assembly Act.

Art. 3. Adopted November, 1828. Altered by amendments of 1836 (Art. 6), 1875 (Art. 16), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 30), 1901 (Art. 31), 1905 (Art. 33).
or Senators for such districts in the next General Assembly, as shall, by law be allowed to such districts respectively, which person or persons, at the time of holding such meetings, shall belong to, and reside in the respective districts in which they shall be so balloted for as aforesaid: And each elector present at such meeting, qualified as aforesaid, may thereupon bring in his ballot or suffrage for such person or persons as he shall choose to be Senators for such district, not exceeding the number by law allowed to the same, with the name or names of such person or persons, fairly written on one piece of paper. And the votes so given in, shall be received, counted, canvassed and declared, in the same manner now provided by the constitution, for the choice of Senators. The person or persons, not exceeding the number by law allowed to the districts in which such votes shall be given in, having the highest number of votes, shall be declared to be duly elected for such districts: But in the event of an equality of votes between two or more of the persons so voted for, the House of Representatives shall, in the manner provided for by the constitution, designate which of such person or persons shall be declared to be duly elected.

ARTICLE IV.

There shall annually be chosen and appointed a Lieutenant Governor, a Treasurer, and Secretary, in the same manner as is provided in the second section of the fourth article of the Constitution of this State for the choice and appointment of a Governor.

ARTICLE V.

A Comptroller of Public Accounts shall be annually chosen by the Electors in their meeting in April, and in the same manner as the Treasurer and Secretary are chosen, and the votes for Comptroller shall be returned to, and counted, canvassed and declared by the Treasurer and Secretary.

ARTICLE VI.

The Electors in the respective towns, on the first Monday of April in each year may vote for Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Treasurer, Secretary, Senators and Representatives in the General Assembly successively, or for any number of said officers at the same time, and the General Assembly shall have power to enact laws regulating and prescribing the order and manner of voting for said officers, and also providing for the election of Representatives at some time subsequent to the first Monday of April in

Art. 4. Adopted November, 1832. Altered by amendments of 1836 (Art. 6), 1875 (Art. 16), 1876 (Art. 19), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 30), 1905 (Art. 33).

Art. 5. Adopted November, 1836. Altered by amendments of 1875 (Art. 16), 1876 (Art. 19), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 30), 1905 (Art. 33).

Art. 6. Adopted November, 1836. Altered by amendments of 1875 (Art. 16), 1876 (Art. 19), 1884 (Art. 27), 1901 (Art. 30), 1906 (Art. 33). all cases when it shall so happen that the Electors in any town shall fail on that day to elect the Representative or Representatives to which such town shall be by law entitled. Provided, that in all elections of officers of the State, or Members of the General Assembly, the votes of the Electors shall be by ballot, either written or printed.

ARTICLE VII.

A Sheriff shall be appointed in each County by the electors therein, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law, who shall hold his office for three years, removable by the General Assembly, and shall become bound with sufficient sureties to the Treasurer of the State, for the faithful discharge of the duties of his office.

ARTICLE VIII.

Every white male citizen of the United States, who shall have attained the age of twenty-one years, who shall have resided in this state for a term of one year next preceding, and in the town in which he may offer himself to be admitted to the privileges of an elector, at least six months next preceding the time he may so offer himself, and shall sustain a good moral character, shall, on his taking such oath as may be prescribed by law, be an elector.

ARTICLE IX.

The Judges of Probate shall be appointed by the electors residing in the several probate districts, and qualified to vote for representatives therein, in such manner as shall be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE X.

The Justices of the Peace, for the several towns in this State, shall be appointed by the electors in such towns; and the time and manner of their election, the number for each town, and the period for which they shall hold their offices, shall be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE XI.

Every person shall be able to read any article of the constitution or any section of the statutes of this state before being admitted as an elector.

Art. 7. Adopted October, 1838 (Art. 28). Altered by amendment of 1886 (Art. 28).
Art. 9. Adopted October, 1850. Altered by amendment of 1876 (Art. 21).
Art. 10. Adopted October, 1850.
Art. 11. Adopted October, 1855. See amendments of 1876 (Art. 23), 1897 (Art. 29).
ARTICLE XII.

The judges of the supreme court of errors and of the superior court appointed in the year 1855, and thereafter, shall hold their offices for the term of eight years, but may be removed by impeachment; and the governor shall also remove them on the address of two thirds of each house of the general assembly. No judge of the supreme court of errors or of the superior court shall be capable of holding office after he shall arrive at the age of seventy years.

ARTICLE XIII.

Every elector of this state who shall be in the military service of the United States, either as a drafted person or volunteer, during the present rebellion, shall, when absent from this state because of such service, have the same right to vote in any election of state officers, representatives in congress, and electors of president and vice president of the United States, as he would have if present, at the time appointed for such election, in the town in which he resided at the time of his enlistment into such service. This provision shall in no case extend to persons in the regular army of the United States, and shall cease and become inoperative and void upon the termination of the present war. [The General Assembly shall prescribe by law in what manner and at what time, the votes of electors absent from this State in the military service of the United States, shall be received, counted, returned and canvassed.]¹

ARTICLE XIV.

All annual and special sessions of the general assembly shall on and after the first Wednesday of May A. D. 1875, be held at Hartford, but the person administering the office of governor may in case of special emergency convene said assembly at any other place in this state.

ARTICLE XV.

The house of representatives shall consist of electors residing in towns from which they are elected. Every town which now contains, or hereafter shall contain a population of five thousand, shall be entitled to send two representatives, and every other one shall be entitled to its present representation in the general assembly. The population of each town shall be determined by the enumeration made under the authority of the census of the United States, next before the election of representatives is held.

Art. 15. Adopted October, 1874. Altered by amendment of 1876 (Art. 18).

ARTICLE XVI.

Sec. 1. A general election for governor, lieutenant governor, secretary of state, treasurer, comptroller, and members of the general assembly, shall be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November 1876 and annually thereafter for such officers as are herein and may be hereafter prescribed.

Sec. 2. The state officers above named and the senators from those districts having even numbers elected on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November 1876 and those elected biennially thereafter on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November shall respectively hold their offices for two years from and after the Wednesday following the first Monday of the next succeeding January. The senators from those districts having odd numbers elected on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November 1876 shall hold their offices for one year from and after the Wednesday following the first Monday of January 1877, the electors residing in the senatorial districts having odd numbers shall on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November 1877 and biennially thereafter elect senators who shall hold their offices for two years from and after the Wednesday following the first Monday of the next succeeding January. The representatives elected from the several towns on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November 1876 and those elected annually thereafter shall hold their offices for one year from and after Wednesday following the first Monday of the next succeeding January.

Sec. 3. There shall be a stated session of the general assembly in Hartford on the Wednesday after the first Monday of January 1877 and annually thereafter on the Wednesday after the first Monday of January.

Sec. 4. The persons who shall be severally elected to the state offices and general assembly on the first Monday of April 1876 shall hold such offices only until the Wednesday after the first Monday of January 1877.

Sec. 5. The general assembly elected in April 1876 shall have power to pass such laws as may be necessary to carry into effect the provisions of this amendment.

ARTICLE XVII.

The general assembly shall have power by a vote of two-thirds of the members of both branches to restore the privileges of an elector to those who may have forfeited the same by a conviction of crime.

ARTICLE XVIII.

In case a new town shall hereafter be incorporated, such new town shall not be entitled to a representative in the general assembly unless it has at least twenty-five hundred inhabitants, and unless the town from which the major portion of its territory is taken, has also at least twenty-five hundred inhabitants, but until such towns shall each have at least twenty-five hundred inhabitants such new town shall for the purpose of representation in the general assembly be attached to and be deemed to be a part of the town from which the major portion of its territory is taken, and it shall be an election district of such town for the purpose of representation in the house of representatives.

ARTICLE XIX.

The provisions of section two, article four, of the Constitution, and of the amendments thereto, shall apply mutatis mutandis to all elections held on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November 1876, and annually thereafter.

Art. 21. Adopted October, 1876.
ARTICLE XXIII.
That article eight of the Amendments to the Constitution be amended by erasing the word "white" from the first line.

ARTICLE XXIV.
Neither the general assembly nor any county, city, borough, town, or school district, shall have power to pay or grant any extra compensation to any public officer, employee, agent, or servant, or increase the compensation of any public officer or employee, to take effect during the continuance in office of any person whose salary might be increased thereby, or increase the pay or compensation of any public contractor above the amount specified in the contract.

ARTICLE XXV.
No county, city, town, borough, or other municipality, shall ever subscribe to the capital stock of any railroad corporation, or become a purchaser of the bonds, or make donation to, or loan its credit, directly or indirectly, in aid of any such corporation; but nothing herein contained shall affect the validity of any bonds or debts incurred under existing laws, nor be construed to prohibit the general assembly from authorizing any town or city to protect by additional appropriations of money or credit, any railroad debt contracted prior to the adoption of this amendment.

ARTICLE XXVI.
The judges of the supreme court of errors and of the superior court shall, upon nomination of the governor, be appointed by the general assembly in such manner as shall by law be prescribed.

ARTICLE XXVII.
Sec. 1. A general election for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary, treasurer, comptroller, and members of the general assembly shall be held on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1886, and biennially thereafter, for such officers as are herein and may be hereafter prescribed.

Sec. 2. The state officers above named and members of the general assembly elected on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1886, and those elected biennially thereafter on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, shall hold their respective offices from the Wednesday following the first Monday of the next succeeding January until the Wednesday after the first Monday of the third succeeding January, and until their successors are duly qualified.

Sec. 3. The compensation of members of the General Assembly shall not exceed three hundred dollars for the term for which they are elected, and one mileage each way for the regular session at the rate of twenty-five cents per mile; they shall also receive one mileage at the same rate for attending any extra session called by the governor.

Sec. 4. The regular sessions of the general assembly shall commence on the Wednesday following the first Monday of the January next succeeding the election of its members.

Sec. 5. The senators elected on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1885, shall hold their offices only until the Wednesday after the first Monday of January, 1887.

ARTICLE XXVIII.

Sheriffs shall be elected in the several counties, on the Tuesday after the first Monday of November, 1886, and quadrennially thereafter, for the term of four years, commencing on the first day of June following their election.

ARTICLE XXIX.

Every person shall be able to read in the English language any article of the constitution or any section of the statutes of this state before being admitted an elector.

ARTICLE XXX.

In the election for governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary, treasurer, comptroller, and attorney-general, the person found by the general assembly, in the manner provided in the fourth article of the constitution of this state, to have received the greatest number of votes for each of said offices respectively, shall be declared by said assembly to be elected. But if two or more persons shall be found to have an equal and the greatest number of votes for any of said offices, then the general assembly, on the second day of its session, by joint ballot of both houses, shall proceed without debate to choose said officer from a list of the names of the persons found to have an equal and greatest number of votes for said office.

Art. 27. Sec. 4. See amendment of 1911-1912 (Art. 35).
Art. 28. Adopted October, 1886. See note to Const. Conn. (Art. 4, Sec. 20).
Art. 29. Adopted October, 1897.
Art. 30. Adopted October, 1901.
ARTICLE XXXI.

Sec. 1. From and after the Wednesday after the first Monday of January, 1905, the senate shall be composed of not less than twenty-four and not more than thirty-six members, who shall be elected at the electors' meetings held biennially on the Tuesday after the first Monday in November.

Sec. 2. The general assembly which shall be held on the Wednesday after the first Monday of January, 1903, shall divide the state into senatorial districts, as hereinafter provided; the number of such districts shall not be less than twenty-four nor more than thirty-six, and each district shall elect only one senator. The districts shall always be composed of contiguous territory, and in forming them regard shall be had to population in the several districts, that the same may be as nearly equal as possible under the limitations of this amendment. Neither the whole or a part of one county shall be joined to the whole or a part of another county to form a district, and no town shall be divided, unless for the purpose of forming more than one district wholly within such town and each county shall have at least one senator. The districts, when established as hereinafter provided, shall continue the same until the session of the general assembly next after the completion of the next census of the United States, which general assembly shall have power to alter the same, if found necessary to preserve a proper equality of population in each district, but only in accordance with the principles above recited; after which said districts shall not be altered, nor the number of senators altered, except at a session of the general assembly next after the completion of a census of the United States, and then only in accordance with the principles hereinbefore provided.

ARTICLE XXXII.

Each town shall, annually, or biennially, as the electors of the town may determine, elect selectmen and such officers of local police as the laws may prescribe.

ARTICLE XXXIII.

Voting machines or other mechanical devices for voting may be used in all elections in this state, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; provided, however, that the right of secret voting shall be preserved.

ARTICLE XXXIV.

In case of the death, resignation, refusal to serve, inability to perform the powers and duties of his office, or removal from office of the governor, or of his impeachment or absence from the state, the lieutenant-governor shall exercise the powers and authority appertaining to the office of governor, until another be chosen at the next periodical election for governor, and be duly qualified; or until the disability be removed, or until the governor, impeached or absent, shall be acquitted or return.

ARTICLE XXXV.

The general assembly shall adjourn sine die not later than the first Wednesday after the first Monday in June following its organization.

ARTICLE XXXVI.

That portion of section three of article twenty-seven of the amendments to the constitution which relates to mileage of members of the general assembly is hereby amended to read as follows: and in addition to such compensation, the general assembly may provide by law for the transportation of each member by public conveyance by the most convenient route between his home station and the place of meeting during the session or sessions of the general assembly to which he was elected.

ARTICLE XXXVII.

The governor shall have power to disapprove of any item or items of any bill making appropriations of money embracing distinct items, while at the same time approving the remainder of the bill, and the part or parts of the bill so approved shall become effective and the item or items of appropriation so disapproved shall not take effect unless the same are separately reconsidered and repassed in accordance with the rules and limitations prescribed for the passage of bills over the executive veto. In all cases in which the governor shall exercise the right of disapproval hereby conferred he shall append to the bill at the time of signing it a statement of the item or items disapproved, together with his reasons for such disapproval, and transmit the bill and such appended statement to the secretary. If the general assembly be then in session he shall forthwith cause a copy of such statement to be delivered to the house in which the bill originated for reconsideration of the disapproved items in conformity with the rules prescribed for legislative action in respect to bills which have received executive disapproval.

Art. 35. Adopted 1911-1912.
Art. 37. Adopted November, 1924.
ARTICLE XXXVIII.

Section five of Article VI is amended to read as follows:
The selectmen and town clerks or an assistant town clerk of the several towns, shall decide on the qualifications of electors, at such times and in such manner as prescribed by law.

ARTICLE XXXIX.

The general assembly shall have power to provide by law for voting by qualified voters of the state who are absent from the city or town of which they are inhabitants at the time of an election or because of sickness or physical disability are unable to appear at the polling places on the day of election, in the choice of any officer to be elected or upon any question to be voted on at such election.

ARTICLE XL.

Each bill which shall have passed both houses of the general assembly shall be presented to the governor. If he shall approve, he shall sign and transmit it to the secretary of the state, but if he shall disapprove, he shall transmit it to the secretary with his objections, and the secretary shall thereupon return the bill to the house in which it originated, with the governor’s objections, which shall be entered on the journal of the house, which shall proceed to reconsider the bill. If, after such reconsideration, that house shall again pass it, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house, which shall also reconsider it. If approved, it shall be a law and be transmitted to the secretary; but in such case the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays and the names of the members voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house respectively. In case the governor shall not transmit the bill to the secretary, either with his approval or with his objections, within five calendar days, Sundays and legal holidays excepted, after the same shall have been presented to him, it shall be a law at the expiration of the period unless the general assembly shall then have adjourned sine die, in which case the bill shall be a law unless the governor shall, within fifteen calendar days after the same shall have been presented to him, transmit it to the secretary with his objections, in which case it shall not be a law.

Bills may be presented to the governor after the adjournment sine die of the general assembly, and the general assembly may by law consistent with this amendment regulate the time and method of performing all ministerial acts necessary or incidental to the administration of this amendment. This amendment shall not impair the powers granted to the governor by Article XXXVII of the amendments to the Constitution.

ARTICLE XLI.

Article XXVI of the Amendments to the Constitution is amended to read as follows: The judges of the supreme court of errors, of the superior court and of the courts of common pleas shall, upon nomination of the governor, be appointed by the general assembly in such manner as shall by law be prescribed.

RESOLUTION IN MEMORY OF UNITED STATES SENATOR
FRANCIS T. MALONEY

WHENEVER, in the death of United States Senator Francis T. Maloney, the State of Connecticut has suffered the loss of a leading public servant, in token of our appreciation of his service, we desire to commemorate the following facts:

His career from humble beginnings to a place in the leading legislative body of the country reads like a bit of American fiction and is part and parcel of what we have come to know as the American dream.

From his earliest days he had to accept family responsibilities and undergo the hardships of child labor. He was employed in a factory at fourteen and this employment marked the end of his formal schooling. As a worker in a restaurant at eighteen, he kept his eyes wide open and learned much of people and of the city. A year later he was a cub reporter on the Meriden Record, a position that was in itself an education. There he learned the details of municipal government and the ways of terse, concrete writing. During the First World War his work on the Record was interrupted by service in the Navy. In 1920 he left the newspaper work to enter the insurance and real estate business in Meriden. He soon found himself active in the affairs of the Democratic Party and became Superintendent of Charities of the city—a position which lasted from 1922 to 1926. His friends in Meriden recall vividly his presence on the city coal pile during an emergency, shoveling coal and putting it into bags to relieve the distress of the unfortunate.

In 1930, while still a young man, he was elected Mayor of Meriden, and was re-elected in 1932 by a record-breaking majority. No Mayor of Meriden ever faced problems as difficult as those that confronted him. Families were jobless, taxes unpaid, and money was difficult to obtain. As Mayor he created projects to give men work; he appointed a non-partisan research commission to grapple with the economic breakdown; he listened for endless hours to long lines of suffering people who came to his office for help and gave himself unsparingly to the problem of relief. His sense of humor and unerring insight into human nature enabled him to differentiate the worthy cases from the time-servers and his stories of this period of his life have been an endless source of interest and enjoyment to his friends. Meriden’s Made Works Plan, of which he was very proud, gave work to many needy families and saved them the stigma of asking for charity. This program, largely a creation of Senator Maloney’s brain, was one of the foundations upon which the Federal Relief Program was later modeled. In 1932 he went on to the House of Representatives in Washington, serving one year of his term as both Congressman and Mayor of Meriden.
In 1934 he ran for the Senate and achieved a great victory at the polls, as he did again in 1940. His vote in this last year was an all-time high for any Connecticut candidate. As Senator he was not an ardent left-wing New Dealer, but rather a middle-of-the-road Democrat traveling a little to the right of Center. Some of his votes annoyed his New Deal friends, but no one ever questioned his integrity or his independence. He was disturbed over the growing power of the Executive in Washington and deplored the waning influence of the Legislative branch of the government. Many of the votes that exasperated some of his friends were votes cast to increase the power and responsibility of the House and Senate. He recognized the slowness of the machinery of the Legislative branch of the government and spent his last years in the Upper House trying to reform the procedure and streamline the Congress in such a way to make its workings more expeditious. That he had to leave us before this purpose was achieved is one of the great losses this country has sustained in his passing. His opposition to the so-called court-packing bill and his desire to have the reciprocal trade agreements reviewed and checked by a two-thirds vote of the Senate indicate the increasing conservative tendency and drift of his mind.

Toward the end of his career he was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate gasoline and fuel shortage and this position led him to the chairmanship of the committee to investigate the petroleum shortage of the Near East, one of the most important assignments of the present World War.

His family life was exemplary. His wife, quiet and unassuming, did not care for the spotlight, preferring Connecticut home life to the gaiety of Washington society. The Senator shared this feeling and was always happiest when headed for home. His three daughters and son gave him great comfort and their schooling in Washington brought them close to their father.

His entire life was given up to public service for which his great gift of patience fitted him pre-eminently. He knew his native state as few men ever knew it and believed profoundly that gradual reforms are much more likely to achieve lasting results than drastic and radical measures. His great gifts as an orator he rarely used, but when he did plead a cause he was listened to as few men of the Senate were listened to in his day. He was a devout member of the Catholic Church and a great favorite with the clergy and the laity of the Catholic communion; his loyalty to his friends made his life a daily exemplification of Wordsworth's famous lines:

"... that best portion of a good man's life,
His little nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love".
NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED:

That the sympathy of this Legislature goes out to the bereaved wife and the children who have sustained an irreparable loss, although they have the memory which will grow dearer through the years of a husband and father who laid down his life in the service of this country and in unstinted devotion to the cause of human welfare, and no greater monument could be erected to any man; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED:

That this resolution be recorded in the Journals of the Legislature and that a suitably engrossed copy thereof be sent to Mrs. Maloney.

Passed May 1, 1945.

JOHN M. DOWE
STATE COMPTROLLER
January 3, 1945—May 16, 1946

John M. Dowe was born in Killingly, September 1, 1896, where his family have been active citizens for more than a hundred years.

He received his early education in the schools of Killingly and then entered Brown University leaving there in 1917 to enlist in the 103rd Field Artillery, 26th Division, A. E. F. He saw service overseas.

Returning to Killingly in May 1919, he entered the family business which his mother had managed alone since his father's death in 1902. This business was established by his grandfather in 1860.

For the ten years after the War, Mr. Dowe had to devote his attention chiefly to his business affairs and later a large portion of his time was devoted to public service.

In 1931 and 1933 he represented Killingly in the General Assembly; 1935-1939 he served as Deputy Comptroller. He was elected Comptroller in 1940 and 1944 and died while in office on May 16, 1946.

He was married to Doris Perry of Danvers, Mass. Two sons, Marshall and David, served respectively in the Army Air Corps and the U. S. Navy during the last war.
RESOLUTION IN MEMORY OF JOHN M. DOWE
STATE COMPTROLLER

Resolved by this Assembly:
Whereas, in the passing of the Honorable John M. Dowe, Comptroller of the State of Connecticut, the General Assembly has lost not only a valued public officer but a warm personal friend of all its members.

Therefore, be it resolved that this resolution be adopted in his memory.

Mr. Dowe, as has been truly said, was a real son of Connecticut, born and brought up in one of its towns and educated in its public schools. In the first World War he served in the 103rd Field Artillery Regiment of our own Yankee Division and received the Silver Star for his service overseas.

In the sessions of 1931 and 1933 Mr. Dowe sat in the Hall of the House as a Representative from the town of Killingly. From 1935 to 1939 he was Deputy Comptroller. In 1940 he was elected Comptroller by the people of the state and was again elected in 1944.

Appreciation for his earnest and faithful service is equalled by the personal memories he has left behind him. No public servant of the State of Connecticut has ever been more respected as an officer and as a man.

Be it further resolved:
That a copy of this resolution suitably engrossed be sent to the members of his family.

RAYMOND E. BALDWIN
Governor
RAYMOND E. BALDWIN
(Official Term Beginning January 3, 1945)

Raymond Earl Baldwin was born in Rye, New York, on August 31st, 1893. His father was Lucian E. Baldwin, son of Lieutenant Herbert Clark Baldwin, of Beacon Falls, who was wounded in action at Cedar Creek in the Civil War. Governor Baldwin's mother was Sarah Tyler, of Rye. The Baldwin family traces back to English ancestry, and Holland-Dutch from New York State, the Governor being the tenth generation of Baldwins in Connecticut.

Upon the family's return to Connecticut, Raymond Baldwin attended the public schools of Middletown, and subsequently graduated from Wesleyan University in 1916 with a Bachelor of Arts degree. He then entered the Yale Law School, leaving that institution in April, 1917, to join the United States Navy. After special training at Annapolis, he was commissioned, assigned to the Destroyer “Talbot,” and rose to the rank of Lieutenant, junior grade. He served overseas in escort duty off the English and French coasts and later in the Mediterranean.

Resigning his commission in August, 1919, he returned to the Yale Law School from which he was graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Laws in 1921. The honorary degree of Doctor of Laws was conferred upon him by Wesleyan University in 1939 and Trinity College in 1940. Mr. Baldwin practiced law at New Haven, and subsequently at Bridgeport, becoming a partner in the law firm of Pullman and Comley in 1928.

Following service as prosecutor of the Town Court of Stratford, Mr. Baldwin served as judge of that court from 1931 to 1933. A member of the 1931 and 1933 sessions of the General Assembly, he served as Republican floor leader and as chairman of the House Judiciary Committee in the session of 1933.

Mr. Baldwin married Edith Lindholm of Middletown, daughter of Andrew and Louisa Lindholm, on June 29, 1922. They have three children. Lucian, Raymond, Jr., and Tyler.

The Governor's home is in Stratford. He is a member and vestryman of Christ Episcopal Church, Stratford, and a member of the Board of Trustees of Wesleyan University, Kent School and Wilbraham Academy. He is a Mason, a Shriner, an Elk, an Eagle and a member of the Grange, the University Club of Bridgeport, the Graduate Club of New Haven and Delta Tau Delta and Phi Delta Phi (law) fraternities.
WILBERT SNOW
LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR
LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR
WILBERT SNOW
(Official Term Beginning January 3, 1945)

Wilbert Snow was born on White Head Island off the coast of Maine at St. George April 6, 1884, the son of Forest Alwin and Katherine Quinn Snow. He attended school until he was fourteen, when the call of the sea had its way with him and he became a lobster catcher and fisherman. At seventeen his mother persuaded him to resume his education, and at the Thomaston, Maine, High School he completed four years' work in two. He graduated in 1907 from Bowdoin College with Phi Beta Kappa honors. After two more years of study at Columbia University, he taught English and Debating successively at New York University, Bowdoin College, Williams College, University of Utah, Reed College, and Indiana University until 1921.

In 1912 he began his political career by stumping the State of Maine for Woodrow Wilson. In 1920 he went through Indiana in the Presidential train stumping for the League of Nations. Stumping against the Mormon Senator from Utah, Reed Smoot, in 1914, cost him his job at the University of Utah. He then trekked his way to Alaska, and on the Seward Peninsula became Reindeer Agent and Eskimo educator. In 1915 he was a sailor on the battleship Kearsarge as a member of the Plattsburg Naval cruise—a cruise that attempted to arouse America to the possibility of becoming involved in World War I. At the outbreak of war he volunteered, and was sent to the officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison. He emerged a Second Lieutenant of Artillery, and was later promoted to a First Lieutenant. Near the close of the war he was made a Captain in Artillery, and served five years as a member of the Reserve Corps.

He came to live in Connecticut in 1921, and has been an active citizen of the state ever since. His career at Wesleyan University has now covered twenty-five years. He has been a member of the Town School Board for seven years, and is now Chairman. He served two years as President of the Association of State School Boards. Under his regime it became one of the most active organizations of its kind in the country. He has taken a leading part in city affairs and has been a member of the Democratic Town Committee for fifteen years.

He is the author of the following books: "Maine Coast," "The Inner Harbor," "Down East," "Selected Poems," "Before the Wind" (with illustrations by Gordon Grant), and "Maine Tides." He was chosen to write and deliver the Connecticut Tercentenary Ode. The Ode is said by critics to show a thorough understanding of the spirit of Connecticut.

He was married Feb. 23, 1922 to Jeannette Simmons of Rockland, Maine, and they have five sons, three of whom have been in service.

He is a Mason, a member of the American Legion, and a communicant of the Episcopal Church.

TREASURER

WILLIAM T. CARROLL

(Official Term Beginning January 3, 1945)

William T. Carroll was born in Torrington, Connecticut, on June 25, 1902, the son of William T. and Anne (Walsh) Carroll, and is married to the former Virginia Carroll. They have two sons. He resides at 128 Church Street, Torrington.

Mr. Carroll was graduated from the Torrington High School after which he continued his education in banking and finance and for the past twenty-one years has been associated with the Brooks Bank and Trust Company. At the present time he holds the office of Assistant Vice-President of that institution.

In 1942 Mr. Carroll was appointed to fill the unexpired term of the Treasurer for the City of Torrington and in 1943 was elected to that office for a term of two years. He is Treasurer of the Veterans' Service Committee of Torrington and Vice-President of the Torrington Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, Fourth Degree.

Elected State Treasurer in November, 1944, and took office on January 3, 1945 for a term of two years.
RAYMOND S. THATCHER

COMPTROLLER

(Term Beginning May 20, 1946)
RAYMOND S. THATCHER

(Term Beginning May 20, 1946)

Raymond S. Thatcher, son of the late Reverend Samuel and Amelia Fear Thatcher, was born in Thompson, Connecticut, January 10, 1903. Part of his early boyhood was spent in Oneco, Pascoag, and later the family established residence in Jewett City. In 1917 they removed to East Hampton, where Mr. Thatcher still resides.

He attended the public schools in Jewett City, Middletown High School and graduated from East Greenwich Academy, Rhode Island, in 1922.

Mr. Thatcher has been active in civic affairs for many years. He has been Democratic Town Chairman in East Hampton for the past 12 years. He served as Treasurer of the town for two years from 1934 to 1936, and represented the town in the General Assembly in the 1941 and 1943 sessions. He has been a member of the State Legislative Council and is a member of the State Finance Advisory Committee.

He served as Deputy State Comptroller under Comptroller John M. Dowe from January 1941 to December 1943 and from January 1945 to May 1946. Following Mr. Dowe's death on May 15, 1946, Mr. Thatcher was named Comptroller by the General Assembly.
WILLIAM L. HADDEN
ATTORNEY-GENERAL
WILLIAM L. HADDEN
(Official Term Beginning June 15, 1945)

William L. Hadden was born in Elmira, New York, on October 8, 1896, the son of Clarence G. Hadden and Anna MacMahon Hadden. About one year later, residence was established in New Haven, and in 1909 the family removed to West Haven, where Mr. Hadden still resides.

He graduated from the Public Schools of New Haven, West Haven High School and the Fordham University School of Law. In 1920 he married Mary T. McNamara of New Haven. They have three children, William L., Jr., David C. and Mary Ann.

He was admitted to the bar of this state in 1917 and after his discharge from Military service in 1918, practiced law in association with David E. FitzGerald until 1933. Since then he has been a member of the firm of Campner, Pouzzner & Hadden, and Pouzzner, Hadden, Kopkind & Hadden, with offices in New Haven.

Mr. Hadden acted as Assistant Clerk of the Town Court of West Haven from 1919 to 1921, was Prosecuting Attorney from 1923 to 1927, Judge from 1927 to 1937. From 1939 to 1943 he was Prosecuting Attorney of that court. He represented his town in the General Assembly during the 1939 and 1941 sessions, in the latter session acting as Chairman of the Judiciary Committee and Majority Leader. Mr. Hadden was the first chairman of the West Haven Board of Zoning Appeals, serving in that capacity for six years and from 1931 to 1933, and from 1943 to date, acted as Town Counsel. During 1943 and 1944 Mr. Hadden was Lieutenant Governor of Connecticut. On June 15, 1945 he was appointed Attorney-General, by Governor Baldwin, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Francis A. Pallotti who resigned to become a Judge of the Superior Court.

He is a member of the New Haven County, State and American Bar Associations and likewise holds memberships in the American Legion, B.P.O.E., Quinnipiac Club of New Haven, Race Brook Country Club, Knights of Columbus, Knights of St. Patrick and the Hartford Club.

GOVERNOR’S MESSAGE
(December 3, 1945.)

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, and Members of the General Assembly:

The war goes on. This is the second regular session of our General Assembly since the attack at Pearl Harbor. When we met here two years ago, there were no such encouraging prospects as we have today. While victory is still a long way off, and while it can be gained only by the sacrifice of life and toil and anxiety, we can take heart as we look back over the past two years. Looking back over these past two years, there is one fact that must guide our thinking and our action. Noble deeds of sacrifice and courage beyond number have been done in behalf of freedom, in the perpetuation of the American ideal. The valor of our fighting forces has matched, yea, has surpassed the highest traditions of our armed forces of other wars. We can thank God for our fighting men and women, for their bravery, for their ability, for their will to keep alive a priceless heritage. We should beseech Almighty God daily to guide them and sustain them in the day of battle and to keep them safe from all evil. We should be, indeed, we are, humbly grateful. All this impresses us most solemnly. As they face the enemy whose hail of bullets is no respecter of persons, we should feel a deepening sense of loyalty to our country and to the great cause in which we are now engaged.

We should place the success of that cause above every consideration of party or personal advantage. We are Americans first. We stand side by side. We face the future fearlessly, united in a common hope and faith.

We can be intensely proud of the achievements of our people here at home. Connecticut, forty-sixth in area among all of her sister states, thirty-first in population, stands eighth in the total value of her war production. In the per capita value of that war production she stands first. This could have been accomplished only by a patriotic citizenry and by the highest degree of cooperation, by labor, management, industry, agriculture, business, the professions, indeed, by all of our people, and also, by the finest degree of cooperation, between our state government and our federal government. We have constantly pursued the policy of working with every federal agency, hand in hand. We believe that the government of the State of Connecticut should be close to the people. We have striven to make it so. Recognizing this, the federal agencies have continuously looked to us and sought our help and cooperation to accomplish the many tasks that have come to our minds and hands. They have always received that help and cooperation. We can all state with pride that Connecticut’s part in this war has been outstandingly effective. Connecticut has lived up to the highest traditions of her ancient title as “arsenal of the nation.”

WAR COUNCIL

In organizing Connecticut for our war endeavor, in arousing the spirit of cooperation among all of our people and in putting that spirit into action, the War Council has been the leading state war agency. Shortly after the war began in Europe, we organized a Defense Council, under the general executive powers of the governor. The 1941 session of the General Assembly gave to this Defense Council statutory existence and power and authority. The 1943 session of the General Assembly, sensing that the spirit of our armed forces and of the American people had changed from one of defense to one of attack, reconstituted the Defense Council a War Council and gave it additional powers and duties. The organization and operation of civilian defense has been, in turn, the duty of the Defense Council and later of the War Council. But as the tide of battle turned, as our armed forces took the offensive and began to advance with ever increasing speed and power toward the citadels of our enemies, the War Council has successfully coped with and solved, in cooperation with our federal government, problems dealing with industry, business, and agriculture, shortages of manpower in the factories and on the farm, the supply of food, both human and animal, fertilizer, seeds, farm machinery, fuel, problems of transportation, health, salvage, recreation and social welfare. But the War Council has not done this alone. It has been the spearhead of the effort. It has been the coordinating agency through which the endeavor and facilities of every state department, every state institution, municipal and town government, hundreds of private organizations and literally the work of thousands of people, whose abilities might otherwise have been lost, were channeled into the war effort, to produce one combined, united front. This statement could not be complete without an expression of deep gratitude for faithful, loyal services, willingly performed in a spirit of noble citizenship by thousands of our people.

The war is still with us. Three years of wartime working and living must not make us callous to the sacrifices that are daily being made nor to the duties and obligations and the great task that are yet ahead. We anticipate that there will continue to be problems of war production, of manufacturing, of transportation, of agriculture, of food and fuel supply, of recreation for war workers and our children, of social welfare. They will appear in new and different phases as the war goes on. We must be ever ready to meet them. The War Council will carry on in the same spirit that it has shown in the past, continue to work with federal agencies, to use, as by legislative action it is directed to use, existing state agencies, institutions and departments, cutting down wherever it can, adding where it has to and at all times adjusting its program to the needs of the day and the hour, until victory is achieved.

WAR POWERS BILL

The 1943 session of this General Assembly granted special war powers to the Governor until the first day of February, 1944. A special session in January, 1944 extended these powers until the first day of February, 1945. The granting of these powers followed a precedent established in this state in previous wars. In presenting this same matter to the regular session of the General Assembly in January, 1943 I said, in effect, that the laws and the procedure of administration in our state were designed to operate under conditions of peace, that many of these procedures and laws were not suited to the rapid, ever-changing days of total war. Furthermore, it was quite impossible at that time to foresee every contingency that might arise or to meet every situation that might unexpectedly face us. Consequently war powers were granted to the Governor. Those powers have been exercised on 18 different occasions and only when the need which faced us and the necessities which arose could be cared for in no other legal way. The distinction between the legislative and executive authority of our state government has been studiously observed. The War Powers Bill, so-called, has not only been useful, it has been indispensable, in prosecuting the war. The same reasoning that impelled the General Assembly of 1943 to enact this law is even more cogent today. I ask that you extend the powers granted to the executive in the so-called War Powers Bill for one year, or if you so desire, until the 1947 session of the General Assembly.

INDUSTRY, LABOR, MANAGEMENT, GOVERNMENT

We believe that social progress in the truest and fullest sense of the word can only be achieved by an increasing and expanding production brought about by the intelligence, the initiative, the energy and the industry of a great free people. This expanding production in times of peace can create the wealth which, wisely and justly spread among all our people, will support the best in social progress. In that same spirit we have expanded our production to meet the needs of war, however, whenever and wherever we have been called upon to meet them. We will continue in that spirit.

At the beginning of the war, the theme was all-out production, every person, every facility bent upon creating every known weapon and material of war in the greatest possible quantity. We could not know and consequently we could not accurately estimate all that might be required. The change in the general strategy of the war from defense to attack, a change made possible in large part by the unprecedented productivity of our labor, industry and agriculture has brought in its wake a demand for new weapons and new materials, cut backs in some items and increases in others which has made the picture of war production in Connecticut one of constant change. Through it all Connecticut has forged ahead. Her skilled and loyal workers, her able management, her plant facilities have made it possible for her to do a job that incites the admiration of everybody. We will never forget that our prime task today and until victory is won is the production of the materials and weapons of war in whatever kind and quantity needed. When we keep our armed forces more than adequately supplied we cut down the priceless cost in life and suffering which a policy of “too little and too late” always entails. We will keep ever before us this theme “The right weapons at the right time, at the right place and supplies in abundance.”

The friendly and whole-hearted cooperation of labor and management and government in Connecticut has given a new significance to the word “industry”. We have really made it mean team work, unity of purpose and effort by labor and management and government. We have learned that that team work gears production with the team work of our armed forces in a way that spells victory. That spirit of team work has met and overcome every difficulty. It has brought about fair play by labor and management that makes Connecticut a model in industrial relationships.

Connecticut has forged ahead in war production. When peace comes, she must forge ahead in peace production, too. Our most priceless asset today and in the future, as indeed it has been in the past, is our numbers of skilled and loyal working men and women, our able management, and our excellent plant facilities. When the war is done, we will be faced with keener competition than ever before. Indeed, even now, there is talk of plans to decentralize industry away from Connecticut. We can keep our industries with us so long as we can keep our people with us. To keep our people with us, to always have a sufficient number of skilled and loyal working men and women, and able and capable managers, we must strive to make Connecticut an ever better place in which to live and to work and to raise our families.

The stimulus of war has added to our knowledge and experience in the processes of manufacture, in new materials and in new uses for old materials and in making the productivity of the labor of a single man higher than ever. These things must spell a higher standard of living for all, not just increased dividends to stockholders, or larger salaries to management or increased wages to workers alone. The fruits of an increasing and expanding production must be spread justly among all our people. We are fighting and winning this war to preserve the American standard of living and the opportunity to make that standard of living ever better and higher. We will face the future in the same spirit of unselfish cooperation that we have shown so admirably in these war days. If we do that, we need have no fear.

The great majority of us work for small salaries and wages. We are all subject to the ordinary vicissitudes of life; accidents, ill health, unemployment. Our Workmen's Compensation Law and our Unemployment Compensation Act provide specified benefits to those who through injury, ill health and unemployment qualify under their provisions. But these laws do more than that. They serve to sustain buying power and thus help our whole industrial, business and social structure. The last session broadened the provisions of our Workmen's Compensation Law. That law can be further liberalized. For example, the present rate under the Workmen's Compensation Act is set at one-half of the average weekly earnings over a given period. I believe that this could be increased to sixty per cent. I suggest that you consider other recommendations that will be made by both labor and industry to liberalize and improve this law, bearing always in mind the purposes that these laws serve and the ability of our industrial and business structure to support them.

In these last three years of intense industrial activity we have accumulated a substantial fund for unemployment compensation. Lately there has been a move in some quarters to federalize this Unemployment Compensation Fund. This Fund was earned by Connecticut industry and by Connecticut workers. It should not be mingled with the Unemployment Compensation funds of other states. It should be maintained as a Connecticut Fund subject to the provisions of our Connecticut Unemployment Compensation Law, one of the most liberal in the country, for the benefit of our own people. I have asked the Unemployment Compensation Advisory Committee which is made up, as you know, of representatives of labor, management and the public to submit to you specific recommendations for the liberalization of our Unemployment Compensation Law. I would like to see the provisions of the Unemployment Compensation Law extended to the employees of those who employ one or more workers and the length of the period of payment extended. We must use this law wisely and make sound provisions for cushioning the shock that may come when the tremendous activity of war production ends.

The relationships between labor and management have been excellent during these war years. I believe that a sound, workable Labor Relations Act will strengthen and make permanent those excellent relations. Such an Act would deal with employees and employers engaged in intra-state industry and business, and should guarantee collective bargaining and fair and just labor-management practices for those who are not now included under any labor-relations law.

Farm workers have been war workers too. From dawn till long after dark the farmer and his wife and family have worked to supply food for our armed forces and for our people who live and work in town. Our Connecticut farmers have carried on and have done their full share and more in making Connecticut outstanding in war production. In spite of shortages of labor, farm machinery, fertilizer, seeds and animal and poultry feed and dry weather, farm production in Connecticut has greatly increased. Our farm bureaus and our State Grange and all of the other agricultural societies, together with our State Department of Agriculture and the State University and the Department of Education have worked in close cooperation with the War Council to make Connecticut's farm production the greatest in her history.

We must look to the future and consider what products our farms can grow and sell and what opportunity farming provides for employment. Our State University and Experiment Station have been working to develop new farm products and new uses for farm products. We must make a careful study of what surplus materials, what federal demountable housing units, and machinery can be used advantageously on our farms. The purchase of these materials and this equipment should be handled by the farmers in a cooperative manner to obtain the best possible price. The State Park and Forest Commission has worked out a program of collaboration with farmers for the growing and harvesting of timber for wood uses and products. We should continue this program with increasing intensity.

The maladjustments of war have seriously affected our milk production. Our Milk Control Act should be amended wherever necessary to help the small producer. We must continue our efforts to secure better financial returns for all our agricultural products, particularly milk, the price of which has lagged far behind most all of the essential food products during these war days.

We can build a brighter future for farming in Connecticut. There are great possibilities here for the production of milk, poultry, eggs, fruit, vegetables and tobacco. We should develop a program to further encourage our young people to go into farming, to educate them and to give them financial assistance in the early days of their farm careers. In recent years and particularly in these war days the average age of our farmers has risen until now better than 75 per cent of our farm operators are over 45 years of age. There is grave possibility that our farm population will be depleted if the present trends continue.

New farm products, new types of packaging and new marketing methods are being developed which affect the marketing of farm products. We have made a start with regional markets. Our experience as yet does not definitely indicate that that is the best or only solution but it is well worth exploring further.

FINANCE

During these past two years we have followed a policy of wise and careful spending. We have lived well within our means, paid off or laid aside enough money to retire the general fund debt and accumulated a substantial surplus. The tremendous increase of taxes and expenditures by our federal government to carry on the war make it essential that we do not increase our tax schedule, continue to balance our budgets and lay aside every dollar that we can over and above our state expenditures to meet postwar needs.

HEALTH

Connecticut has been unusually healthy during these past two years, in spite of long working hours, crowded living conditions, the scarcity of some customary and body-building foods, shortened fuel rations and the absence of many of our physicians and nurses in the armed forces of our country. We have been under a tremendous strain, the evidences of which become increasingly apparent as time goes on. The last regular session of the General Assembly substantially increased the appropriations for the Health Department. That increase made it possible to do many necessary things in industrial hygiene, nutrition, maternal and infant care and for the prevention and gradual elimination of the so-called social diseases. The experience of other wars indicates to us that we must always be on our guard against epidemics.

In all our health measures we must be constantly putting emphasis on preventive measures. Such a policy has produced marked results, for example, in the prevention, treatment and care of tuberculosis. We no longer have any waiting list for our sanatoria in spite of the fact that in these past two years we have intensified our efforts to find hidden cases and thus eradicate the disease. If other states did as well as we the “white plague” would be in ultimate course of early extinction and would join scarlet fever, diphtheria and small pox, dread diseases that are now well-controlled.

We have three big hospitals for the mentally ill in Connecticut and two training schools for defective children. Two of them are of recent construction and the other three have been substantially enlarged within recent years. The time has come when we should take firm, positive steps for the prevention of mental illness of all kinds. We should build around the experience and personnel of our mental hospitals and our State Department of Health, working in collaboration with private agencies interested in this all-important subject, a sound, progressive program for the protection of mental health and the prevention of mental illness and disease.

HOUSING

With few exceptions, the war housing needs, particularly for industrial workers in our state have been substantially met. The State Housing Authority survey indicates however that over the period of the last 10 years or more we have been falling behind in adequate modern housing facilities. It has been the purpose of the Authority to determine what kind, what quantity and where, additional or improved housing is needed and to produce accurate factual data on housing needs and thus encourage in the postwar period the construction of new and better housing by private means. The Housing Authority has been working upon a uniform building code which will make provision for the new types of housing construction, methods, and materials most recently developed. It will ask for authority to complete this code and to submit it to the cities and towns for their approval or rejection in whole or in part. This code will not be mandatory but will simply furnish a guide to our municipalities in remodeling and bringing their respective building codes up to date.

EDUCATION

As a nation we have been able to out-fight and out-produce our enemies. This has been due in large part to the simple fact that Americans generally have been better educated than most of the peoples in the rest of the world. Our schools aim to develop in our youth keen intellects and sound moral character. We face a new world in which our state and country will be in keen competition.

Our State Department of Education has adopted a policy of expanding its programs and facilities for the vocational guidance and education of those destined to play a big part in the manufactories of this great industrial state. Those programs and facilities cannot be concerned alone with teaching particular trades and operations, as vitally important as they are. We must provide training for prospective industrial leadership and offer opportunity for advancement to all. We must continue to provide the right educational opportunities for those who are to enter the professions and business and all of the many and varied activities of useful living. There must be programs for people of adult years who desire to continue their education while they are working for a living.

The education of thousands of our young men and women has been interrupted by this war. We must be ready for them when they return to take up their studies. Our whole educational program in Connecticut, both public and private should be organized to provide the facilities needed to furnish educational opportunity and training for returning veterans. We are already hard at work on this task.

The opportunity for education must be equal. This does not mean that everyone should have the same education, but everyone of our youth must have the same opportunity to acquire an education in keeping with his capabilities and desires. For a good many years we have been discussing and working on plans for the equalization of educational opportunity throughout the state.
The time is here when we must have a plan and put that plan into operation, a plan that essentially will give to every boy and girl in Connecticut the same educational opportunity whether he lives in the city or in the country.

One of the main purposes of any equalization plan should be to provide more adequate compensation for teachers whether they serve in a city or country school. In the early days education was a school district matter. It later became a town and city matter. It is now definitely a state matter and requires the collaboration of the state with the municipalities in developing sound, progressive educational programs under local direction and control.

VETERANS

In the summer of 1943 we created the Connecticut Reemployment Commission. This Commission is representative of veterans, labor, industry, business, education, both public and private, the medical profession, Selective Service, the War Manpower Commission, the United States Employment Service, the Red Cross, the Veterans Administration, the Veterans Home. It has developed a program for receiving, counseling, training, rehabilitating and placing veterans in employment. It is organized on a community basis with the state commission assisting the cities and towns in developing a comprehensive program. That program is now well in operation. In addition to dealing with returning veterans it has also concerned itself with helping the displaced civilian workers as well. It has been set up as a separate, coordinating agency with similarly constituted, coordinating agencies established or planned in most of our municipalities. Time does not permit an exhaustive description of the plans and the organization of this commission. Suffice it to say that it has become recognized across the country as one of the outstanding state agencies of its kind in the United States. The Postwar Planning Board has recommended that this commission be established and empowered by legislative enactment. I believe that the Connecticut Reemployment Commission could well be constituted a Commission on Veterans Affairs and Reemployment and that its program, as broad as it now is, could be expanded where necessary to cover whatever additional needs the returning veteran may require. It could be organized to work upon employment problems generally.

We are all particularly solicitous for the returning veteran. Likewise in the interest of a task well-done and in the broader interest of the economic welfare of all of our citizens, we must be prepared to deal with employment in its broadest aspects. This war has caused an upheaval in all employment. More than 200,000 men have gone to the armed forces from Connecticut. Women have gone into industry and business in greatly increased numbers. Workers have been shifted from the home to the store and office and from there to the factory. When we think of the term "reconversion" we are apt to think only of industrial reconversion. But reconversion reaches into the lives of every single one of us. Unless we can take joint action and make our programs work together, confusion is bound to result. The Connecticut Reemployment Commission and the Postwar Planning Board have prepared excellent and helpful reports, which you will have before you, dealing with this important subject. We can avoid duplication and gain the maximum efficiency by using the many agencies now in existence. But we will need an agency on the state level and also on the local level to put all our efforts together into one united operation.

At the end of the last war the General Assembly created a Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Fund. The income of this fund has been used to help veterans and their families in emergencies not otherwise provided for. The last session made this fund available to veterans of this war. The amount of this fund will have to be increased substantially.

The returning veteran will need assistance in presenting his claim to secure whatever benefits may be provided for him under federal legislation or otherwise. This task could be assigned to the present administration of the Soldiers, Sailors and Marines Fund or it could be set up as a division under the Connecticut Commission on Veterans Affairs and Reemployment.

I call to your attention the renewal of the various licenses required of men and women who may be absent in the armed forces and some provision to make it possible for veterans on furlough to operate motor vehicles and to fish and to hunt without the necessity of applying for even a temporary license without cost.

Unfortunately there will be some, altogether too many, veterans who will be honorably discharged from service suffering from wounds and disability. They will be generously provided for under Federal legislation. But they will also want to work. There was, before the war, a growing tendency to refuse employment to those with some disability which might make them particularly susceptible to further injury. The Workmen's Compensation Act should be amended to cover this defect for veterans and all workers.

COURTS

The regular session of the General Assembly in 1943 created a commission to study the organization of the Judicial Department of the State.

This commission composed of laymen as well as lawyers has recommended the integration of all our courts into one judicial system and the establishment of a judicial department. It has further proposed that the judges of our town, city and borough courts be chosen in the same manner as the judges of our Supreme and Superior Courts, by nomination of the Governor and the approval of the General Assembly. It has found that the number of the judges of the Court of Common Pleas should be reduced from the original 14 to 11 by the simple and equitable method of abolishing the next two judicial offices as they may become vacant by retirement, resignation or death. The Commission recommends the establishment of a statewide probation system, the abolition of the Danbury Traffic Court and the further examination and study of our probate procedure. I endorse all these recommendations. The enactment of legislation to put them into operation would greatly strengthen and expedite the administration of justice in our state.

STATE INSTITUTIONS

The last regular session of the General Assembly directed the Public Welfare Council to study and report on the need for a State Infirmary for the Care and Treatment of Aged, Infirm and Chronically Ill Persons. That report will be before you. As part of our Postwar Building Program we should provide more suitable accommodations for our chronically ill people who require good care and medical attention. Such a home would relieve a great burden now cast upon our mental hospitals and provide a place to which cities and towns which now have no such facilities could send their aged and chronically ill who require constant medical attention. We should not require in my humble judgment as ambitious a program as that set forth in the report. We could examine further into whether or not suitable separate facilities could be added to existing institutions for such purposes.

We need a better and safer plan to keep and care for the criminally insane and insane criminals. That subject has also been studied and a report will be given to you on this matter, too.

HIGHWAYS

The 1943 session of the General Assembly created a Highway Advisory Commission which will submit a comprehensive report.

There is probably no state or area of like size in the world that equals Connecticut in the mileage of hard-surfaced roads. Approximately 98 per cent of all rural highway travel in the state, before the war, was on all-weather roads. Under the present law $5,000,000 is set aside for the maintenance and improvement of town roads. If the expenditure of this money is restricted to roads that are of actual economic importance we should have enough to complete the paving of our rural local roads within a short time. To do this, effectively, we may have to make some further change in the present method of allocation of town aid funds.

Our state highway system has been very unevenly developed. This is due in a large extent to the fact that the more important through roads were built first. Consequently they now form the oldest, most highly congested and least satisfactory parts of our state highway system. In the years immediately ahead a great many miles of these congested roads will have to be reconstructed or supplemented with new facilities.

An exceptionally large amount of the total highway movement in the state is into and out of our congested population areas. The Federal Highway Aid Bill recently passed, for the first time in federal aid history, gives specific recognition to this fact. More than 60 per cent of the funds allocated to Connecticut, under the terms of this bill, are for highway improvement in urban areas. These funds will have to be matched with state funds on a fifty-fifty basis for construction and, on a two to one basis for rights of way. This will mean a substantial appropriation if we are to proceed with this program when manpower and materials are available.

The Highway Department is planning for roughly $24,000,000 worth of highway projects that were in part underway when the war began or have already been directed by the legislature.

There are under consideration also some $33,000,000 worth of highway construction that can be carried out with federal assistance. This is scattered throughout the state but is concerned primarily with main travelled routes in populous parts of the state and in urban areas where our most acute highway need seems now to be.

I have not discussed here the financing of any highway proposal. I intend to do that in the Budget Message later. However the reduction of travel caused by the shortage of gasoline and tires has been reflected in the returns from our gasoline tax. Commitments for town aid, state aid, trunk line and other commitments made by the General Assembly, together with what we might plan to do by matching funds with federal highway aid funds made available in the federal aid bill recently passed, will more than use up highway funds available from the present sources of highway revenue. We will have to give attention to providing a more systematic method of financing highway construction and maintenance in the future, than we have in the past.

STATE PARKS AND FORESTS

Our forests, lakes, rivers and streams are among our most priceless assets. They have a direct effect upon our climate and water supply. Through the years we have acquired a sizeable public domain. A large part is in forest lands although we have greatly extended our system of seashore and upland parks, too. We can develop these forest resources and, at the same time, get the greatest use out of them for public recreation. These two programs can go forward hand in hand. During these past two years we have acquired substantial holdings, some in areas where there have been no state forests and parks before. They have been opened and maintained for camping, fishing, hunting, picnicking and other outdoor recreation insofar as we have been able to do it with the minimum manpower at hand. The preservation of the natural beauties of the state and making them accessible for the use of all of our people will do much to keep here in Connecticut the able, loyal workers that are such a vital part of our economic life.

In the last two years we have acquired outright some excellent fishing lakes, ponds and streams and have obtained access to others. Difficulties of travel make it nigh impossible to use these now. But we do hope after the war that we will all have more time for outdoor life and outdoor fun.

Our woodlands have a great economic value. We have been using progressive forestry methods and developing wood products.
The State Park and Forest Commission has inaugurated a program, in collaboration with the farmers and other owners of woodlands in our state, that will help them to learn and use sound forestry methods and thus get a substantial revenue from their woodlands. We should never again denude large areas of our hills and valleys of trees, and let the waste lands grow up to brambles, briars and worthless brush. We can keep our woodlands and at the same time harvest from them each year timber that will play a vital part in the economic life of the state.

RECREATION COMMISSION

The work of the Recreation Committee of the War Council has demonstrated the advisability of creating a statewide recreation commission. This commission would be concerned with stimulating and developing recreational programs in our cities and towns. Where such programs have been instituted, they have proven of great worth in controlling juvenile delinquency.

AERONAUTICS

We now have four separate agencies dealing with various phases of aviation: the Commissioner of Aeronautics, the Advisory Board of Aeronautics, the State Airport Commission and the Aviation Committee of the Connecticut Development Commission. The functions of these groups should be combined in a general commission on Aeronautics. This Commission could have regulatory powers to be exercised for safe flying. It should also be empowered to develop airports and strips, and to promote both air transportation and private flying, and the aircraft industry. It could work in close collaboration with the Connecticut Development Commission. There is every prospect that before the war's end Congress will make financial provision for civil aviation. Such a commission could serve as a representative of the state in dealing with the federal government and in helping local municipalities to develop flying, air transport and aircraft industry.
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS—ELECTIONS

In the last regular session the House of Representatives proposed certain amendments to our Constitution. I can speak with impartial feeling about House Resolution No. 30 which provides a four year term for state officers beginning in 1950. My own experience in office, as well as the experience of other state officers here and in other states, demonstrates the wisdom of that proposed amendment.

The governments of the several states of the United States have played a conspicuous and essential part in this war. They will be even more important after the war because they are fiscally strong, for the most part, are close to the people and are the very best bulwarks we have against the ever gaining tendency toward centralized government and the creation of immense, unwieldy bureaus. Their independence as units in our federal system must be maintained and their functions preserved. Elections in the states should not be, and in many states already they are not now, bound up with our national elections. This makes for better government because it gives a freer and wider choice to the voters. To the same end our ballots and our voting machines should be arranged so that the voter would have a complete and free oppor-tunity to exercise his choice for each and every candidate on the respective party tickets, separately.

POSTWAR PLANNING—RECONVERSION—PUBLIC WORKS

The report of the Postwar Planning Board which you created at the last regular session will be in your hands. I urge your careful and earnest consideration of this able and helpful report. It furnishes excellent guidance for the future.

After the war is over, Connecticut will be in keener competition than ever before, not only with the rest of the country but with the rest of the world. We have achieved a leadership in war production. Men and women with the "know how" in agriculture, industry, business, the professions, everywhere must continue that leadership in peacetime production. Since we are in large part an industrial state our thinking and planning should proceed along two parallel courses:

There must be at all times an adequate number of loyal skilled workers and able foresighted managers, people who have chosen Connecticut for their home because they like to live here, because they believe that Connecticut offers opportunity in the fullest sense of that word. Good labor-management relationships, fair and just laws for the protection of the working man, sound and wise provision for education, healthy recreation and social welfare generally are essential to this part of the program. I believe that the recommendations made heretofore in this message are further steps in the right direction along this course.
Secondly, but of equal importance, is the matter of keeping here the industries which we now have, both large and small, of finding new business, new products, new materials, new markets and of bringing new business and industry into our state. To this end sound fiscal policies, balanced budgets, wise and just tax laws, are essential. These can and will be accomplished by friendly government expressing the friendly spirit of our people. We look to the encouragement of agriculture and business and industry to employ our people at fair wages during decent hours and under healthful and happy working conditions. We believe that sound and lasting social progress can only be achieved when the initiative and free intelligence and energy and industry of all the people are encouraged to increase and expand production and to create new and greater wealth. We believe that opportunity and security go hand in hand.

One of the oldest states in the Union, we are still a pioneering people, pushing out to new frontiers of mind and spirit and faith. We cannot think of postwar planning in the terms of a single board or commission. Every state board and commission, every state agency, indeed, agriculture, business, industry, labor, all those engaged in every human activity, collectively and as individuals, are thinking of the future while they are doing the war work of today. Winning a military victory and planning for the post war world are inseparable tasks. The Postwar Planning Board through its several committees and many associations has collected and marshalled a great amount of information so necessary to stimulate our thinking and to implement our planning. This work should go on and I urge that you continue this Board. It is the only instrumentality which we have in the state wherein we can meet on a common ground and put together into one united whole the thinking and planning of all of our people.

During these past two years every state department and institution has submitted recommendations for capital outlay, new buildings, renovations, additions and needed repairs. Drawings, plans and specifications for a substantial part of this work have already been completed. If money is to be wisely and effectively spent for public buildings and improvements we not only must continue our planning on the state level but we must help the cities and towns of our state plan on the local level. A substantial part of such work, both on the state and local level should be ready to let to contract when the right opportunity or need comes. We can deal with this whole subject later in the Budget Message but as a matter of principle we should be prepared to make some grant in aid to the cities and towns so that they may match their funds with state funds if they need to and prepare plans and specifications in order that contracts may be let without delay.

CONCLUSION

This occasion does not permit a more detailed discussion of our needs for the present and for the future, and of plans to meet those needs. I look forward to working in close cooperation with you in the coming days of this legislative session upon which we are now embarked. It is good to have you in session again. We all feel a deeper interest and a greater confidence when you are here. I know that you are keenly aware of the tremendous responsibilities that rest upon all of us.

More than three centuries ago, our forefathers created here in Connecticut a new form of government, designed to protect individual human liberty and to perpetuate equal opportunity under law. They had faith that such a government offered the best hope for human progress and happiness. During the long, eventful, changing years since that time, the people of Connecticut have held steadfastly to that same faith. They have built here, and helped to build across the continent, a great nation which destiny has set up as a mighty bulwark against the forces of despotism and evil. Today, in a world rampant with passion, prejudice and hate, we are fighting and working with ever-increasing zeal to keep that faith alive. We are determined, with God's help, that the fires of freedom kindled by our forefathers shall burn more brightly still.

Towns not maintaining vocational agriculture classes were eligible for state aid in sending qualified students to a nearby school in the above list. Students and parents could legally demand this opportunity. Arrangements were completed by the boards of education directly concerned. This offered educational advantages to small schools or those with already crowded facilities which might otherwise have needed to deprive deserving students of this vocational opportunity. Over twenty per cent of day class students during the year attended under general high school tuition grants or this special provision for state aid.

These schools furnished practical and technical instruction in farming to adult farmers and younger persons in (1) evening classes, (2) part-time classes and (3) day classes.

Future Farmers in the day classes alone had approximately $50,000.00 invested in their individual supervised farming programs and in addition supplied better than fifty thousand ten hour days of labor on general chores and farm work outside of school hours and during school vacations.

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION

James A. Dorsey, State Supervisor of Distributive Education
Hartford

Distributive Education, a division of Vocational Education, provides training for those entering the field of distribution as a career and for those who are presently employed in a distributive occupation such as retailing, wholesaling and the service trades. Within the secondary schools its primary purpose is to improve the performance of the trainees on the job and provide such information as will enable the student to progress more rapidly in his chosen field of endeavor.

Adult extension programs are available to provide current methods and procedures in the various phases in the area of distribution for those presently employed.

There are two major classifications of programs in Distributive Education: (1) the cooperative part-time course—usually given to high school seniors, who devote two-thirds of their formal instructional time to Distributive Education subjects and are required to receive occupational experience on the job for a minimum of fifteen hours weekly; and (2) adult extension courses—which provide training for the regularly employed personnel in distributive occupations including special training programs for veterans on "How to Establish a Small Business" and miscellaneous training programs given during the work day for supervisory personnel.

BUREAU OF REHABILITATION SERVICE

E. P. Chester, Director
Hartford

Vocational Rehabilitation Service is provided without cost to physically handicapped citizens of the state, sixteen years of age or over. The primary service is vocational adjustment by a process of preparation for available employment suited to the individual's physical and mental equipment. The rehabilitation program does not stop until the disabled person actually goes to work.

Service of preparation for employment of persons with physical defects includes:
1. Vocational guidance
2. Correction or reduction of the defect by medical or surgical means
3. Provision of artificial appliances (including hearing aids)
4. Training to develop marketable skills
5. Aid in placement

A special program of rehabilitation for persons with arrested tuberculosis is maintained.

Vocational Rehabilitation was originally conceived as a service supplementing Workmen's Compensation. It now also covers persons whose disabilities are incurred as the result of accidents other than industrial, as the result of disease, or from congenital causes.

PRACTICE OF LAW

ADMISSION TO THE BAR

The admission of attorneys to practice before the courts of this state is regulated by rules adopted by the Judges of the Superior Court. These rules together with the regulations made by the committees set forth below, and information for candidates appear in the Rule Book which may be obtained from the Clerk of the Superior Court in any county or from the Secretary of the Committee. Persons beginning the study of law are required to register. Blanks for these purposes may be obtained from the Clerks of the Superior Court.

State Bar Examining Committee
President.—William B. Boardman, Bridgeport.
Treasurer.—James E. Wheeler, New Haven.
Secretary.—William W. Gager, Waterbury.

Members of the Committee
Terms expiring July 1, 1946.—William B. Boardman, Bridgeport; Samuel A. Persky, New Haven; Donald C. Fisk, Rockville; Thomas C. Flood, Portland; Edward J. Daly, Hartford.
Terms expiring July 1, 1947.—James E. Wheeler, New Haven; John M. Comley, Stamford; William W. Gager, Waterbury; Lester W. Schaefer, Winsted; Warren F. Cressy, Stamford.
Terms expiring July 1, 1948.—Allan K. Smith, Hartford; Mahlon H. Geisler, Putnam; Ernest W. McCormick, Hartford; Robert P. Anderson, Groton; Ralph H. Clark, Derby.

The State Bar Examining Committee is appointed by the Judges of the Superior Court and holds one session annually for the examination of candidates for admission to the Bar, in accordance with the aforementioned rules and regulations.

Standing Committees on Recommendations for Admission

Hartford County.—W. Arthur Countryman, Jr., Hartford, Ch.; William J. Malone, Bristol; William H. Leete, Thompsonville; Harry W. Reynolds, Hartford; Lewis Fox, Hartford.

New Haven County.—David L. Daggett, New Haven, Ch.; Denis T. O'Brien, Meriden; Charles M. Lyman, New Haven; Walter F. Torrance, Waterbury; William F. Healey, Derby.

Fairfield County.—Harry Schwartz, Bridgeport, Ch.; William C. Strong, Greenwich; David S. Day, Bridgeport; John M. Comley, Bridgeport; Frederick F. Lovejoy, Jr., Norwalk.

TOWNS, CITIES AND BOROUGHS

The following list of municipal officers and Justices of the Peace was compiled from returns filed with the Secretary by the local municipal clerks through December, 1945. Where the name of the post-office or express office address of the town clerk, town treasurer or first selectman is other than that of the town itself, it is given.

Statistics of towns, cities and boroughs are also secured from the clerks of the several municipalities annually, and upon them we depend for the accuracy of the data herein set forth. The area of the towns is taken from the 1902 report of the Bureau of Labor Statistics. These are the only complete data available and are quoted with the exception of those corrections made by the town clerks. The populations of towns are taken from the 1940 United States Census. The children are those between the ages of 4 and 16 enumerated September, 1944. The grand lists are taken from returns filed with the tax commissioner for the year 1944.

THE AMERICAN FLAG

THE STATE FLAG

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

(The American's Creed by William Tyler Page was adopted by an act of Congress. April 6, 1918.)

I believe in the United States of America, as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes. I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

THE PLEDGE TO THE FLAG

"I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America
And to the Republic for which it stands.
One Nation, indivisible,
With liberty and justice for all."

The Pledge to the Flag, according to a report of the Historical Committee of the United States Flag Association, was written by Francis Bellamy (August 1892), a member of the editorial staff of The Youth's Companion, in Boston, Massachusetts. It was first repeated at the exercises in connection with the celebration of Columbus Day, October 12, 1892.

THE AMERICAN FLAG, ITS ORIGIN

The desire for a flag to symbolize the pride in a locality or organization runs far back into the colonial period. In 1747 flags for individual military companies were fairly common. Thus by 1776 the colonists were accustomed to having their own flags and it was but natural that the Continental Congress instruct a committee composed of George Washington, Robert Morris and Colonel George Ross to devise and produce a flag for the United States. This Committee with the probable aid of Betsy Ross designed a flag which is the basis of our present national flag. On June 14, 1777, this flag was officially adopted by the passage of the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the flag of the thirteen United States be thirteen stripes, alternate red and white; that the union be thirteen stars, white on a blue field, representing a new constellation."

It is difficult to prove when and where the flag adopted in 1777 was first publicly displayed. New York claims one of the earliest uses of the flag for military purposes when it was used at Fort Stanwix.

The tradition that Betsy Ross, as early as June 1776, made a Stars and Stripes flag from a pencil sketch supplied by Washington but changed the points of the stars from six to five, has become a classic. Historians doubt its accuracy and modern historical researchers are giving much thought to Francis Hopkinson of New Jersey as the possible designer and the Fillmore or Bennington flag as the first flag.

The flag with the thirteen stripes and thirteen stars, authorized on June 14, 1777, continued to be used as the national emblem until Congress passed the following act which President Washington signed:

“That from and after May 1, 1795, the flag of the United States be fifteen stripes, alternate red and white; and that the union be fifteen stars, white in a blue field.”

This action was necessitated by the admission of the States of Vermont and Kentucky to the Union. This was the flag which Francis Scott Key saw waving over Fort McHenry and was inspired to write the “Star Spangled Banner.”

With the admission of more new states, it became apparent that the 1795 flag would have to be further modified. Therefore the final form of our flag was fixed by another act of Congress, signed by President Monroe on April 4, 1818, providing:

“That from and after the fourth day of July next, the flag of the United States be thirteen horizontal stripes, alternate red and white; that the union have twenty stars, white in a blue field.

“That on the admission of every new state into the Union, one star be added to the union of the flag; and that such addition shall take effect on the Fourth of July next succeeding such admission.”

From 1818 to the present the flag has changed only in arrangement of the stars when a new state was admitted to the Union. On October 26, 1912, President Taft, by executive order, designated which star was to stand for which state. There were to be six rows of eight stars each and the stars were to symbolize the states in the order in which they ratified our national Constitution. In this arrangement the fifth star stands for Connecticut.
THE STATE FLAG

The first proposal for legislation adopting a State Flag was introduced to the General Assembly by the following communication from Governor O. Vincent Coffin, dated May 29, 1895:

"I have the honor to transmit herewith a memorial and accompanying documents from the Anna Warner Bailey Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution concerning the formal adoption of a State flag, and beg to bespeak your early attention to the patriotic purposes therein set forth."

A Resolution appointing a special committee was adopted the same day, and on July 4, 1895 House Joint Resolution No. 480 was approved, which reads as follows:

"Resolved by this Assembly: Section 1. That the flag which has up to the present time been generally accepted as the flag of this State ought to be officially and formally designated as such; and to this end that such designation be carefully and accurately prepared, the Adjutant-General is hereby instructed to prepare an official description of the State flag and report the same to the next session of the General Assembly."

Adjutant General Charles P. Graham submitted a very interesting historical report of the use of a state flag, dated January 4, 1897, a photostatic copy of which may be seen at the State Library.

The General Assembly of 1897 provided the following to be the official description of the State Flag:

"The following-described flag is the official flag of the state. The dimensions of the flag shall be five feet and six inches in length; four feet and four inches in width. The flag shall be of azure blue silk, charged with a shield of rococo design of argent white silk, having embroidered in the center three grape vines, supported and bearing fruit in natural colors. The bordure to the shield shall be embroidered in two colors, gold and silver. Below the shield shall be a white streamer, cleft at each end, bordered by gold and browns in fine lines, and upon the streamer shall be embroidered in dark blue letters the motto "Qui Transtulit Sustinet"; the whole design being the arms of the state."

(Revised Statutes of 1930, Section 2238.)
THE CHARTER OAK

"Only God can make a tree"
In our busy lives, let us cherish the memory of the Charter Oak—true to its trust and unto the end, an oak.

The famous old Charter Oak fell with a tremendous crash during the great storm at quarter before one o'clock on the morning of August 21, 1856. This famous monarch of the forest whose history is so intimately entwined in that of Connecticut, was supposed to be upwards of a thousand years of age.

Before Governor Wylyls came to America, he sent his steward forward to prepare a place for his residence. As he was cutting away the trees upon the hillside of the beautiful "Wyllys place" a deputation of Indians came to him and requested that he would spare this old hollow oak. They declared that it had been the "guide of their ancestors for centuries".

On the 31st of October, 1687, Sir Edmund Andros, attended by members of his Council, and a bodyguard of sixty soldiers, entered Hartford to take by force the Charter granted to the Colony by Charles the Second in 1662. By stratagem, however, the Charter was removed from the assembly room and concealed by Captain Joseph Wadsworth, a patriot of those times, in the hollow of the Wyllys Oak, afterwards known as "The Charter Oak".

In 1689, King James abdicated, and on the 9th of May that year Governor Treat and his associate officers resumed the government of Connecticut under the Charter, which had been preserved in the Old Hollow Oak.

CURTIS GUILD in the Boston Traveler, Aug. 25, 1856
Connecticut State Seal
THE STATE SEAL

A complete history of the seal as then used, was published in the Register and Manual of 1889.

The first Colonial seal seems to have been suggested by General Fenwick of that time. This seal succeeded the British seal. It was slightly oval with a beaded border and smaller in size than the reproduction given here of the present seal. It was described as follows:

After the Colony received its charter, the first General Assembly thereafter on October, 1662, directed its continuance as the State Seal.

When the government of the Colony was taken over by Sir Edmund Andros, this seal was destroyed. On October 25, 1711, the General Assembly directed that a new seal be adopted. This seal was still oval in shape and considerably larger than the other. Instead of fifteen vines, there were but three, and there was a hand midway to the left of the observer and pointed to them.

The immediate predecessor to the present seal was adopted in 1784 and had four clusters of grapes on the upper two vines and five on the lower. The hand was omitted and the scroll and motto appeared beneath the clusters of grapes as in the present seal. This design was made in two seals, one for impressing documents and another for wax.

One of these seals, or that used for impressing documents, became damaged. The other, or that used for impressing wax, was given to Yale University, while the former rests in the cornerstone of the State Library.

The General Assembly of 1931, by Chapter 54, described the Great Seal, and an official drawing was made upon parchment, which drawing may be seen in the office of the Secretary.
THE ARMS OF THE STATE
(Chapter 22 P. A. 1931)

Section 1. The following-described arms shall be the official arms of the state: A shield of rococo design of white field, having in the center three grape vines, supported and bearing fruit. Below the shield shall be a white streamer, cleft at each end, bordered with two fine lines, and upon the streamer shall be in solid letters of medium bold Gothic the motto

"QUI TRANSTULIT SUSTINET."

Sec. 2. A drawing of said arms shall be made in conformity herewith, shall be filed in the office of the secretary of the state and shall be the official drawing of the arms of the state.

Sec. 3. Said arms, whether in imprint or in facsimile form, shall be used under the direction of said secretary.

Approved March 24, 1931.

In conformity with the above act, an official drawing was made upon parchment which may be seen in the office of the Secretary.
Mountain Laurel—Kalmia Latifolia
State Flower of Connecticut
THE STATE FLOWER

The mountain laurel, designated in 1907 as the State Flower of Connecticut, is perhaps the most beautiful of native American shrubs. Its fragrance and the massed richness of its white and pink blossoms, so vividly in contrast with the gloom of the virgin forest, at once attracted the notice of the early settlers and explorers. John Smith mentioned it in his "General History" of 1624. In 1750, the Swedish traveller, Peter Kalm, sent specimens of it to Linnaeus, and the famous botanist, finding that it belonged to a genus of evergreen hitherto unknown, gave it the name Kalmia latifolia. In the first name he honored his correspondent, and in the second, described the "wide-leaved" characteristic of the plant.

Because it bore some resemblance to the European laurel, the settlers of New England already spoke of it as "laurel" or "mountain laurel." They also adopted the name "spoonwood", from the Indians, who had carved some of their eating utensils from the close-grained wood. A later generation dubbed it "Calico bush" from its resemblance to the printed cloth, and both of these descriptive names are still occasionally heard.

In Connecticut, the mountain laurel blossoms in the latter part of June. It is characteristic of the plant that the flower clusters appear in greatest profusion every second or third years, so that the area enriched by it in one season, may have little to show in the next. But as with other evergreens, the foliage is prized as well as the flower, and the wide use of its mountain laurel for decorative purposes prompted Connecticut to protect its state flower by the passage of the "Laurel Law," a pioneer enactment in the field of conservation.

The mountain laurel's immediate relatives in America are the azalea and the rhododendron. It is also cousin to the huckleberry and the blueberry, so abundant in our fields.

For a complete description of the mountain laurel, and the measures that should be taken for its protection, see P. L. Buttrick, "Connecticut's State Flower, The Mountain Laurel." (Marsh Botanical Garden Publication, Number One) New Haven, 1924.

The American Robin—Turdus Migratorius
State Bird of Connecticut
THE STATE BIRD

(Gen. Statutes, 1943 Suppl. Sec. 472g)

The American Robin is a true thrush of the family Turdidae, and is found in summer throughout North America from Alaska to Virginia. The name Robin is applied to a number of familiar birds but in North America it is the Turdus migratorius. (Meaning a migratory thrush.)

The real “Robin Red-breast” is a native of the Old World—a little bird formed much like our Bluebird with a dark brown back and reddish-orange throat and breast. Our so-called Robin is a large migratory thrush with a reddish-brown or tawny breast and a loud cheery song, but our forefathers named him Robin in remembrance of the beloved English bird, and despite the protests of naturalists the name is still used.

Most people do not know that many Robins spend the entire winter in New England where they roost among the evergreens in swamps, feed on winter berries and come out into the fields occasionally when the snow has vanished during a thaw. This common habit is so little known that nearly every winter the newspapers publish articles predicting an early spring because the “Robins have arrived early”.

The 1943 General Assembly adopted the American Robin as the official State Bird.

THE EXECUTIVE RESIDENCE

990 Prospect Avenue, West Hartford

The Executive Residence was built in 1909 by Dr. George C. F. Williams, who occupied it until 1933. The house is of Georgian Colonial design of waterstruck brick with limestone trim and slate roof. The original cost of the development of the property was $300,000. The purchase price to the state was $38,928. The property consists of approximately six acres of grounds and a 19-room residence and a garage with caretaker’s quarters. It is located at 990 Prospect Avenue near Elizabeth Park, famous nationally for its rose gardens. Situated on a hill the Executive Residence overlooks the city of Hartford and the central feature of the view is the State Capitol dome.

The property was purchased by the state in August, 1943 after thirty-eight pieces of property throughout the state were inspected and visited by the 1943 Legislative Committee on the Executive Residence.

The furniture and decorations are 18th Century originals and reproductions. On loan at the Residence are furniture, pewter, ceramics and paintings from the Mabel Brady Garvan Collection of the Yale University Art Gallery. The collection was a gift to Yale University by Francis P. Garvan, a native of East Hartford, Connecticut, and at one time Assistant United States Attorney General. He was one of the outstanding collectors of Americana in the nation. Items loaned to the state are, for the most part, of Connecticut origin and range from a tall case clock nearly 200 years old, which was made by Asabel Cheney of East Hartford, to two pewter tankards made by Thomas Danforth II of Middletown.

Governor Raymond E. Baldwin and his family occupied the residence on September 14, 1945. The formal public opening ceremonies were held on October 18, 1945.
THE STATE CAPITOL

In 1871 the General Assembly appointed a commission to contract for and fully complete a Capitol building in Hartford, and appropriated five hundred thousand dollars, authorizing the city of Hartford to appropriate and issue bonds to the extent of one million dollars for the same purpose.

The commission accepted the present site from the city of Hartford, and the plan of Richard Marshall Upjohn of New York, as a design for the building, which was built by James G. Batterson of Hartford.

In 1873 the plan was changed to a design for the present fireproof building, and five hundred thousand dollars additional appropriated by the State. A new commission was also appointed. In 1875 this was supplemented by a further and final appropriation of one million dollars and in that year Hartford became the Capital of the State.

The entire cost, including heating and ventilating apparatus, and such statuary as was placed at the time of erection, was $2,532,524.43, and the cost of the furniture was about one hundred thousand dollars more.

The General Assembly opened its first regular session in the building in January, 1879, but it was not fully completed until some months later.

The building at one time contained the State Library. Part of the space used for such purpose however has since been remodeled and now contains the present Senate Chamber. The Supreme Court also held sessions here and the hall which was used for this purpose is now part of the offices of the Personnel Department.

The rooms used for offices and committees are in number about ninety-two and are numbered from one hundred onward, with the exception of the Senate Chamber, Representatives Hall and the room now used for the Judiciary Committee, formerly the Old Senate Chamber. The present Senate Chamber in addition to seating the Senate of thirty-six members, can comfortably seat approximately three hundred additional persons, while the House of Representatives, besides seating two hundred and seventy-two members, can seat with the aid of its galleries about six hundred more.

The dimensions of the Capitol Building are as follows:

Extreme length, two hundred ninety-five feet, eight inches; width of central part, one hundred eighty-nine feet four inches; of wings, one hundred eleven feet eight inches; height from ground to top of roof, ninety-two feet eight inches; to top of crowning finial, two hundred forty-five feet six inches.

It is located upon a hill overlooking what was at one time the campus of Trinity College and it is within a short distance of the Union Depot and but a few blocks from the new Post Office. Its grounds can be approached by drives, from Ford, Trinity and Washington Streets or by way of Capitol Avenue.

Adjacent and making complete the picturesque setting of the State Capitol is Bushnell Park, this covers 41.27 acres. On the grounds of the Park near the east entrance is the statue of General Israel Putnam and statues of Horace Wells and a Memorial to Veterans of the Spanish War are located in that part of the Park beyond Trinity Street. Upon the terrace and to the north of the Capitol are two nine inch Dahlgren guns, which were used on the warship Hartford. Conspicuous from all directions looking to the Capitol from the north side is the Corning Fountain with Indian Figures supporting it and a memorial arch spanning Trinity Street. Throughout the Park trees are planted of different varieties and from spring to late fall make its surrounding unsurpassed by any Capitol grounds.

The exterior of the building is of marble and granite, the marble being quarried from East Canaan, Connecticut, and the granite from Westerly, Rhode Island.
At the north side above the entrance appears in bas-relief figures, Colonial Life as follows: "Indian Attack upon a Fort," "Wadsworth Hiding the Charter," while in the center, is the Coat of Arms; also "Putnam Leaving His Plow," "John Holmes Sailing Past a Dutch Port." Above these in order follow statues of the colonial leaders, John Haynes, Joseph Wadsworth, John Winthrop, Jr., Theophilus Eaton, John Mason and Roger Ludlow. In bronze medallion, upon one side of the entrance is the bust outline of General Joseph R. Hawley, whilst upon the other side is the bust outline of late Senator Orville H. Platt.

On the east front upon pedestals similarly arranged, are also statues of colonial leaders, Thomas Hooker, Roger Sherman, Jonathan Trumbull and John Davenport. Medallion heads upon the east front of the Capitol depict those of the State distinguished in arts and letters as follows: Joel T. Barlow, George Berkeley, Horace Bushnell, Noah Webster, John Trumbull, Jonathan Edwards and again in bas-relief: "Hooker's March to Hartford," "The Charter Oak," and "Davenport Preaching at New Haven."

On the south side of the building there appear in niches the statues of Generals John Sedgwick and Alfred Terry, while on the west side of the building statues in the niches are, Oliver Wolcott, David Humphreys, David Wooster and Oliver Ellsworth. On the grounds just off the south-east driveway are located bronze statues of Col. Thomas Knowlton and Governor Richard D. Hubbard, while at the entrance of this driveway is the "Petersburgh Express," a mortar relic of the Civil War.

Within the building at the west end protected in glass cases are the various flags used by regiments in the Civil, Spanish and World Wars which were carried by military or naval divisions of Connecticut engaged therein. There are also bronze statues of Nathan Hale and William A. Buckingham, model of the statue formerly on the Capitol dome and the figure head which once adorned the prow of the Flagship Hartford. About the first floor are also relics of the Civil War, being a portion of a tree, taken from the battlefield of Chickamauga and a wheel of a cannon used by the 1st Conn. Lt. Bt. & Vols., in various battles in the South. In the south lobby is a revolving cannon taken from the Spanish warship Viscaya, and a camp bedstead used by Marquis de Lafayette.

The crowning feature of the Capitol was the winged bronze figure representing the Genius of Connecticut, by Randolph Rogers, Rome, 1877 and cast by Ferd v Miller & Sohne, Munchen, 1878. It measured seventeen feet to the tip of its wings, weighed six thousand six hundred pounds and cost $14,000. The plaster cast in the north corridor of the Capitol is the same as the one from which the bronze was cast. In 1938 the Genius was removed and replaced by a temporary stone finial.

The twelve marble statues standing upon the twelve angles of the dome at the base of the cone represent Agriculture, Commerce, Education, Music, Science and Force. There are two of each. The models from which these statues were cut were modeled by J. Q. A. Ward of New York and are now standing on the copings of the two main stairways leading to the balcony of the House of Representatives. The statues are twice the size of the models.

On the first floor are the offices of the Comptroller, Treasurer and Bureau of School Fund, State Auditors, and the Superintendent of the Capitol.

On the second floor are the offices of the Governor, the Secretary of the State, Commissioner of the Revision of the Statutes, the Hall of the House and rooms generally used for hearings of Judiciary and Appropriations Committees.

On the third floor are the offices of the Lieutenant-Governor, Attorney-General, Commissioner of Finance, Personnel Director, Budget Director, members of the Press and the Senate Chamber.

On the fourth floor are the offices of the Purchasing Director, Pharmacy Commission and Committee rooms in addition to the room generally used by the Judicary Committee and Appropriations Committee on the second floor.

On the fifth floor are the offices of the Analytical Department (Controllers), the Capitol Restaurant, the Photostat and Stock Room (Secretary of the State).
CONNECTICUT TOWNS IN THE ORDER OF THEIR ESTABLISHMENTS; WITH THE ORIGIN OF THEIR NAMES

Until 1700 almost the only official action of the colonial government (General Court) in regard to town organization, was to authorize the town name, usually chosen by its leading man, from his home in England. In October, 1700, we find implied or quasi incorporation, such as exists to this day in the records. "This assembly doth grant to the inhabitants of the town of Lebanon all such immunities, privileges and powers, as generally other towns within this Colonie have and doe enjoy." The authoritative legal definition of a town in England, contemporary with the earliest Connecticut settlements is given in the first edition of Coke's Commentaries upon Littleton, published 1628: "It can not be a town in law, unless it hath, or in past time hath had, a church, and celebration of Divine services, sacraments and burials." The churches, which moved bodily, with their pastors, from Massachusetts to Connecticut, proceeded to exercise the secular powers which we regard as those of the town, but the English township is known by its ecclesiastical name of parish. Several of our towns were first set off as parishes from great town-tracts; yet the town in Connecticut colony essentially separated church and state in government, in that it never restricted political suffrage to church members. As to dates, the official colonial records are followed, as soon as they begin, 1636.

THE COLONY

1. Windsor, settled by a company from Plymouth Colony, arriving with the frame and materials of a trading house on their vessel Sept. 26, 1633. This house was set up, 80 to 100 rods below the mouth of the Farmington River, on a tract previously bought of the original Indian proprietors. Before the summer of 1635, the settlers had bought Great Meadow, north of the Farmington, and placed cattle and servants on their lands. TOWNS, VILLAGES AND DISTRICTS WITH NO POST-OFFICE OF SAME NAME

REVISED TO JANUARY 1, 1946

This table lists towns, boroughs, and villages in Connecticut without post-offices of the same name as the given municipality, sorted alphabetically by town name. Where no numeral is appended to such an entity's name, its post-office address is the same as the town in which it is located.

REPRESENTATIVES IN CONGRESS FROM CONNECTICUT SINCE 1789

Previous to 1837 the Representatives from this State were elected by the people at large. The number at first, under the Constitution, was five and by later apportionments was changed in 1793 to seven, in 1823 to six, and in 1843 to four. From 1837 to 1843 they were elected one from each of the six districts into which the State was divided by an Act of the General Assembly; from 1843 to 1911 they were elected, one from each of the four districts established by the General Assembly of 1842, as follows: District number one, consisting of the counties of Hartford and Tolland; district number two, the counties of New Haven and Middlesex; district number three, the counties of New London and Windham; district number four, the counties of Fairfield and Litchfield. A fifth representative, to which the State is entitled under the census of 1800, was chosen at large. At the session of 1911 the State was divided into five districts as follows: District No. 1, County of Hartford; District No. 2, Counties of Tolland, Windham, New London and Middlesex; District No. 3, Towns of Cheshire, Meriden, Wallingford, Bethany, Hamden, North Haven, North Branford, Guilford, Madison, Woodbridge, Orange, West Haven, Milford, New Haven, East Haven and Branford in County of New Haven; District No. 4, County of Fairfield; District No. 5, County of Litchfield and the Towns of Southbury, Middlebury, Waterbury, Wolcott, Oxford, Naugatuck, Prospect, Beacon Falls, Seymour, Ansonia, and Derby in the County of New Haven. At the session of 1921, a law was passed creating the office of congressman-at-large to be in effect when the federal apportionment gave Connecticut six congressmen as at present.

In instances where no districts are given the elections were at large.

The names of those who are now living are marked *.

GOVERNORS OF CONNECTICUT

The supreme executive power of the State is vested by the Constitution in the Governor. He has the power to administer oaths, sign writs, issue processes, and to see that the laws of the State are faithfully executed. In case of emergency he may convene the General Assembly in special session. He is commander-in-chief of the militia of the State, has power to grant reprieves in all cases except impeachment, and has jurisdiction in the matter of requisitions from other states for criminals. He has power to veto any bills passed by the General Assembly, but his veto may be overridden by a majority vote in both Houses upon reconsideration. Any bill which is neither signed nor vetoed by him within five days after being presented to him (Sundays and legal holidays excepted) during the session of the General Assembly, becomes a law, in like manner as if signed by him. After adjournment of the General Assembly he is allowed fifteen calendar days after bills have been presented to him in which to act. The Governor must also present a biennial budget for the State early in the session of each General Assembly and has control over the quarterly allotments granted after the budget has been acted on by the General Assembly. He must from time to time give to the General Assembly information concerning the State and recommend such measures as he deems expedient. He may adjourn the General Assembly in case of disagreement between the two Houses to such time as he thinks proper, but not beyond the day of the next stated session. He nominates to the General Assembly the judges of the Supreme, Superior, Common Pleas and Juvenile Courts and appoints, with the consent of the Senate or the General Assembly, the Commissioner of Aeronautics, the Banking Commissioner, the Commissioner of Finance and Control, Highway Commissioner, Insurance Commissioner, Commissioner of Labor and Factory Inspection, a Milk Administrator, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Public Utilities Commissioners, State Water Commissioners, Tax Commissioner, Statute Revision Commissioner, and Commissioner of Welfare. He appoints directly a Commissioner of Agriculture, Commissioner of Athletics, Dairy and Food Commissioner, Commissioner of Domestic Animals, Commissioners of Fisheries and Game, Health Commissioner, Liquor Control Commissioners, Police Commissioner, and the members of various other boards and commissions. He is ex-officio a member of the Board of Control of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, the State Board of Education, the Board of Education of the Blind, the Board of Pardons, the State Library Committee, the Board of Trustees of the Connecticut State Hospital, and the Corporation of Yale University.

The Governor presided over the General Assembly before it was divided into two Houses in 1698; from that date until the adoption of the Constitution of 1818 he presided in the council or upper house, with a casting vote, but no veto power. At the present time the Lieutenant-Governor presides over the Senate.

The title of His Excellency was given to the Governor by an act passed in May, 1777.

The Governor holds office for two years and receives an annual salary of $12,000. The Governor also is furnished a Governor's Residence located at 990 Prospect Avenue, Hartford.

The names of those who are now living are marked*.

*a Governor Pond was elected Lieutenant-Governor in April, 1853, and became Acting Governor by resignation of Governor Seymour on October 13, 1853, when the latter was appointed Minister to Russia.

*By Constitutional Amendment of 1875, the term for 1876-7 was made to expire January, 1877.

* Died in office, April 21, 1909, and Frank B. Weeks became Governor.

† Resigned January 8, 1925, to take position of United States Senator.

‡ Succeeded Hiram Bingham.
DEPUTY OR LIEUTENANT-GOVERNORS

Before the Constitution of 1818 the Deputy-Governor presided in council, or the upper house of the General Assembly, in the absence of the Governor, but when the Governor was present the Deputy-Governor had a voice in council. Until 1818 he could exercise the office of a justice of the peace throughout the State, and he could sign writs until 1879.

The Lieutenant-Governor is President of the Senate, has a casting vote therein, and the right to debate when it is in Committee of the Whole. In case of the death, resignation, refusal to serve, inability to perform the powers and duties of his office, impeachment, removal from office or absence from the State of the Governor, the Lieutenant-Governor is required by the Constitution "to perform the duties of the Governor, until another be chosen at the next periodical election for Governor and be duly qualified, or until the disability be removed, or until the Governor impeached or absent, shall be acquitted or return." He is ex-officio, a member of the Corporation of Yale University, the State Board of Education and the Board of Visitors to the Sheffield Scientific School.

The title of His Honor was conferred upon the Lieutenant-Governor at the revision of the Statutes in 1784.

He is elected for two years and receives an annual salary of $4,500.

The names of those who are now living are marked*.

Note: Governor Weeks was elected Lieutenant-Governor and became Governor on the death of Governor Lilley, taking the oath of office, April 22, 1909.

* Lieutenant-Governor Brainard was chosen president pro-tem of the Senate and succeeded to the office of Lieutenant-Governor to fill vacancy caused by the resignation of Governor Trumbull, January 8, 1925.
SECRETARIES

After the adoption of the Fundamental Orders, Edward Hopkins was chosen as the first Secretary of the State. Since that date, the duties assigned to the Secretary have grown with the growth of Connecticut and its increasing governmental activities. Today, the office has more than fifty constitutional or statutory duties to perform.

The office is charged with custody of the public documents and formal records of the State, among the more important of which are the Acts and Resolutions, and Orders of the General Assembly.

The department has been assigned the duty of administration of the laws relative to corporations created under the provisions of the General Statutes. This task includes the approval of all certificates of incorporation, organization and dissolution to mention only a few of the items in this large volume of business.

Other functions of the office are prescribed by the Election Laws which call for the office’s filing and checking of all petitions for party designation on ballots and voting machine labels and the filing of lists of candidates for office. Approval of voting machines as to accuracy and efficiency is delegated to the Secretary. Local election officials obtain instructions and samples of supplies from the Secretary for use in connection with voting machines. Various election statistics are returned to this Department, as are also, returns required under the Corrupt Practice Act.

The Secretary supervises the publication of the Connecticut State Register and Manual, the Statement of Vote, Manual and Roll of the General Assembly, and individual volumes devoted to Corporation Laws, Election Laws, Trade Mark Laws, digest of Workmen’s Compensation Decisions, Reports of the Supreme Court, and digests of the decisions of the Supreme Court.

Included in a group of miscellaneous functions are the calling of the Senate to order and administration of the official oath on the first day of each session; certification of copies of official records, the affixation of the Seal to all commissions issued in the name of and by the State, and records concerned with legislative appearances.

The Secretary is a member of the State Library Committee and the State Board of Canvassers.

Election to the office of Secretary is for a term of two years, at a salary of $6,000 per annum.

The names of those who are now living are marked*.

COMPTROLLERS

The office of Comptroller was created in 1786 by virtue of an act of the General Assembly and thereafter until 1838 appointments to this office were made by the General Assembly. The Constitutional Amendment of 1836 provided that the Comptroller be elected by the people, in a manner similar to that of other State Officers, and since the year 1838 this method has been in effect.

Previous to the establishment of this office, orders on the Treasurer might be drawn by the Governor, or assistants, or by justices of the peace for sums under forty shillings. The Committee of the Pay-Table, which this office superseded, was originally established to liquidate and adjust accounts of expenses relating to the War of the Revolution.

The Comptroller is required to adjust and settle all public accounts and demands, excepting grants and orders of the General Assembly. The prescribing of the mode of keeping and rendering all public accounts is his responsibility. Periodically, the Comptroller renders an accounting of the State's debts and credits; examines into the collection of taxes to ascertain that all officers engaged in their assessment, or collection, are faithfully performing their duties, and reports to the General Assembly those who are remiss in this regard; presents all claims in favor of the State against estates of insolvent and deceased persons, and brings suit for the recovery of the money and property of the State.

All obligations against the State, whether they be purchase order, contract or otherwise, are approved and recorded by the Comptroller. Any purchase order, or contract, is void unless it carries his approval and certificate that it is recorded and charged against the applicable specific appropriation and that there are sufficient unencumbered funds. A copy of such certified purchase order, or contract, is then transmitted by him to the respective vendor or contractor.

In addition, when the General Assembly established the Real Asset Control and Field Service Division under the Comptroller's Department, the Comptroller was made responsible for all new construction, repair and maintenance of any real asset involving an expenditure in excess of one thousand dollars; the assigning of office space and the providing of necessary accommodations for all State agencies. With the establishment of this division under his jurisdiction, he likewise was made responsible for the supervision, care and control of the building and grounds of the State Capitol, the State Office Building, the official residence of the Governor, the State Police buildings located in Hartford, and leased quarters for State agencies located in the various cities and towns throughout the State.

The compilation of semi-monthly employees' payrolls for all State departments and institutions is another of his responsibilities, as also is the providing of furniture, standard forms, and other necessary articles for all State offices and for the General Assembly.

Printing of all State forms, reports and the Connecticut State Law Journal, is under his direction.

At the opening of each regular session of the General Assembly, and more often if required, he submits to this body an abstract of the receipts and expenditures of the public funds for the two years ending the 30th of June preceding, and plans and estimates relating to the public expenditures, revenues and funds.

The Comptroller, by direction of the General Assembly, administers miscellaneous appropriations which, including the cost of the Comptroller's office, amount to over $6,000,000 a biennium.

He is a member and secretary of the Employees' Retirement Commission, records of which are kept in his office; a member of the Board of Canvassers and Banking Commission; ex-officio, one of the Auditors of the Treasurer's accounts.

Elected for a term of two years, the Comptroller receives an annual salary of $6,000.

The names of those who are now living are marked*.

† Died in office May 15, 1946.
ATTORNEYS-GENERAL

The office of Attorney-General was created by the General Assembly of 1897. The incumbent is elected by the people, in the same manner as the other State officers and must be an attorney-at-law of at least ten years active practice at the bar of this State.

His duties include a general supervision over all legal matters in which the State is an interested party, except those over which prosecuting officers have direction. He is required to appear for the State, the several elective State officers, the State boards, commissions, agents, etc., and institutions, in all suits and other civil proceedings, excepting upon criminal recognizances and bail bonds, in which the State is a party or is interested, or in which the official acts and doings of said officers are called in question in any court or other tribunal. He is called upon to give his opinion upon questions of law submitted to him by either branch of the General Assembly, to appear before legislative committees, when measures affecting the State treasury are pending, and take such action as he may deem to be for the best interests of the State, and act as general counsel for State officials in matters pertaining to their official duties.

He is chosen for a term of four years and receives an annual salary of $10,000.

The names of those who are now living are marked*.

VETERANS' INFORMATION

CONNECTICUT VETERANS' RE-EMPLOYMENT AND ADVISORY COMMISSION

This Commission is charged with coordinating the activities of all public and private facilities interested in the employment, education and rehabilitation of the veteran and to assist local communities in the setting up of local Service Centers.

VETERANS' HOME COMMISSION

The Veterans' Home Commission is responsible for the government and control of the Veterans' Home and the Home Hospital.

All qualified male veterans may be admitted to the Home or to the Home Hospital. All veterans who are in need of medical or surgical care, or who are mentally ill, and do not have adequate means of support may be admitted to any hospital and at the expense of the State. In an emergency, the Commission may care for a male or female veteran in their home or other suitable place until such a time as they may be removed to the Home Hospital.

Fees for Commitment—Probate fees and other actual costs of commitment of veterans may be paid by the Veterans' Home Commission.

Support of families of Veterans—The Commission may provide aid for certain dependents of veterans while members of the Home or in a hospital.

Aid to Civil and Spanish War Widows—Widows of these veterans, if qualified, may be aided by the Veterans' Home Commission.

Burial Expense—If a veteran's estate is insufficient to provide proper burial, then the State may pay $100 toward this expense.

Headstones—The Commission may furnish a headstone for the graves of the veterans of all wars.

Memorials for Veterans Buried Abroad or Missing—The Commission may provide a marker or soldier's headstone.

Memorials in State Parks and Reservations—The Commission may erect suitable memorials, care and maintenance to be paid by the state.

ADJUTANT GENERAL

Use of Armories—Where space is available, the Adjutant General may assign quarters to Veterans' organizations.

Firing Squads—The Adjutant General shall furnish firing squad for military funerals.

Memorials to Soldiers in State Armories—Subject to the approval of the Adjutant General, such memorials may be placed in State Armories.

(859)
SOLDIERS', SAILORS' AND MARINES' FUND

Connecticut veterans, their wives, widows and children under sixteen years of age may be entitled to aid, hospitalization and medical care through this fund.

Education Benefits for Children of Veterans—Children of Connecticut veterans killed in action, or who died as a result of their service in the U. S. Armed Forces, may receive assistance through the State Board of Education.

Credit Allowances to Veterans in Examinations—War veterans have a definite preference in the examinations for employment with the State of Connecticut.

Credit to Members of the Armed Forces Entering State Employment—Any member of the armed forces who, after discharge, becomes a member of the State Retirement System, may be given credit in the State Service for the period he was in the armed forces.

Unincorporated Business Tax—A veteran of World War II may be exempted from paying this tax for a three-year period.

Property Tax Exemption—Connecticut veterans may receive a property tax exemption in the amount of $1,000. Veterans having service connected disabilities may receive tax exemption up to $3,000.

Discharge Certificates—Town Clerks will record discharge certificates of a veteran without fee.

U. S. Maritime Service—Members of this service may receive a property tax exemption in the amount of $1,000, which shall remain in effect for two years after the end of World War II.

Buying and Selling by Veterans without a License—Connecticut veterans are not required to pay a license fee for the privilege of selling or vending goods, wares or merchandise.

Renewals of Licenses of Persons in the Armed Forces—Certain licenses and registration certificates may be issued without fee to veterans returning from service in the armed forces.

Renewal of Hairdressing and Cosmetology Licenses of Persons in Armed Forces—Any person who held a license to practice hairdressing and cosmetology in this state in October 1940, or who has attained a license since that time and who, because of service in the armed forces, has not renewed it, may, upon the payment of a fee of $2 receive a license to resume practice.

Natureopathy Certificates without Examination—Under certain conditions, a person who has been in active and continuous practice of Natureopathy for three successive years and who has served in the armed forces may receive a certificate without examination.

Renewal of Embalmer Licenses, Permits and Certificates—Any license, permit or certificate of registration issued by the Connecticut Board of Examiners of Embalmers which expire while the holder thereof is serving in the armed forces of the United States or its allies may be renewed within a year after the termination of the war.

Renewal of Professional Engineers and Land Surveyors Certificates by persons in the armed forces—Renewal of his certificate or payment of renewal fees will not be required of any registrant serving in the armed forces of the United States.

Certain persons who have graduated from a Law School since June 1, 1941 may be admitted to the bar without examination.

Old Age Assistance Tax—World War I veterans receiving disability pension or compensation are exempt from the payment of this tax.

Old Age Assistance Tax—World War II veterans are exempt from the payment of this tax.

How to use the Ready Reference Calendar—To ascertain any day of the week, first look in the table for the year required, and under the months are figures which refer to the corresponding figures at the head of the column of days below. For Example: To know on what day of the week July 4, 1918, fell, look in the table of years for 1918, and in a parallel line under July is figure 1, which directs to column 7 in which it will be seen that July 4 fell on Thursday.

In leap years the month of February has 29 days.

SUN IN 11 1/3 YEAR SUNSPOT CYCLE

The sun entered (1943) a new 11 1/3-year sunspot group of the old cycle still visible close to the cycle with the first new spot group appearing well away from the sun’s equator and the last spot.
